County Plan's Basic Goals Termed Solid

Consultants See Need For No Major Changes

By JEFF GREER

Taxpayers, developers and local government can live with the economic consequences of the Marin County General Plan, but some changes should be made, a team of financial consultants told the board of supervisors yesterday.

Angus N. McDonald of Baxter, McDonald and Smart Inc. of San Francisco presented the $82,000 "economic impact report" ordered by the supervisors a year ago.

The board and a standing-room-only audience of more than 100 officials and citizens saw a sophisticated slide and tape show that digested the firm's 52-page summary of its study and some 400 pages of technical data gathered by the economic consultants.

"Our analysis confirmed that the county plan . . . is not clearly infeasible," the consultants reported. "There are no costs . . . no social aspects so adverse that the plan's basic goals must obviously be changed."

The report echoes the interim report given earlier, continuing to call for providing a housing mix in Marin but reducing the amount of low-cost housing to be developed.

It warns that open space preservation may be more costly than originally predicted, and says the employment goals may need to be adjusted.

The report lists nine other key recommendations.

They include a call for strengthening the planning department's ability to keep track of Marin's progress toward the housing, open space and employment goals by AD 1990, and for more planner concentration on land resource analysis. This, the consultants said, is a weak spot in the department.

Responsibility for meeting the plan's goals should be assigned to "operating agencies — the open space district, the transit district and an expanded public works department" rather than left entirely to the planners, the report suggests.

Proposals to limit growth by an annual quota on new housing should be dropped, the consultants recommend. Controls should be imposed only when

Saxbe Thinks Patty Hearst Is Only A Common Criminal

SHOCKED PARENTS — Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Hearst arrived at their Hillsborough home yesterday after a flight in a leased jet from La Paz, Mexico, and Hearst paused briefly to tell reporters "We're shocked, but until we know some more we haven't anything to say." The parents couldn't believe their kidnaped daughter, Patty, was present at a $10,000 San Francisco bank robbery Monday. (UPI Telephoto)

Feels She Willingly Went Into Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst today was characterized by the U.S. Attorney General as a common criminal and a willing participant in the $10,000 robbery of a bank by her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers.

Attorney General William B. Saxbe said he has concluded that Patricia was "not a reluctant participant" in the robbery of a branch of the Hibernia bank Monday and like the other participants now is a fugitive.

Randolph A. Hearst, Patricia's father, said through a spokesman "this is all speechmaking."

"Saxbe has the right to think what he thinks, and I also have that right," Hearst said at his home. "As far as I'm concerned, it's speculation. At this point, I'm not going to comment on the matter beyond that."

"This group we're talking about are common criminals. Miss Hearst is a part of it," Saxbe said in Washington.

A guard who witnessed the robbery said Patricia left little doubt she would use her gun.

Earlier, U.S. Attorney James Browning and FBI Agent in Charge Charles Bates said in San Francisco that photographs taken by hidden bank cameras showed one of the robbers holding a gun on Patricia, who also was armed.

Patricia, who was kidnaped Feb. 4, is the daughter of Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, and granddaughter of the legendary newspaper giant William Randolph Hearst.

Saxbe repeated earlier statements that if the FBI knows where the SLA is holding Miss Hearst they should go after her. Noting Hearst had said that comment "bordered on the irresponsible," Saxbe said his first reaction had not changed.

The FBI has obtained four robbery warrants against known SLA members in the robbery but has named Patricia only as a material witness because of evidence that she may have been forced to participate.

Saxbe in Washington said he reached his conclusion from "the way she behaved, the number of people in the bank who observed her behavior, the testimony of witnesses and actions within the bank."

The bank guard, Edward Shea, 66, told UPI that Miss Hearst "was pretty wild, giving out vindictives and orders and all that, saying she would shoot the first guy that moved, calling everybody a m.f. and everything else."

"There was no doubt in my mind she would shoot," Shea said in an interview with KRON television. Asked why, he said, "It was her stance. Her position. It was so, uh, so tough. I heard her say she would shoot the first s.o.b that moved or did anything out of line."

Miss Hearst was dragged from her apartment on Feb. 4 and her captors, members of the Symbionese Liberation Army, demanded a massive food giveaway program by Miss Hearst's father, Randolph W. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner. In a later tape-recorded mes-

Panel Tells Stinson To Build Plant

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

HAYWARD — Stinson Beach property owners should be forced to build a sewage system, despite last month's rejection of a ballot measure in the community to finance one, the Regional Water Quality Control Board voted yesterday.

Unanimously, the board asked the Bay Area Sewage Services Agency (BASSA) to exercise its power to step into the community and build a sewage system without a vote of the people who then will have to pay for it.

The board's insistance on sewerage for Stinson Beach was immediately challenged, however, by four citizens who served the board with a court order to cease its efforts or defend them in court.

Another possible hitch, was cited by Daniel F. Murphy, chief planner for BASSA. State law gives the agency no power to build street sewers, only trunk lines and treatment facilities, he noted.

Stinson Beach, rare in the region since it has no sewers at all, thus lacks the "collector system" to convey sewage into the proposed trunk and treat-

Ring Mountain Tampering Hit

By ERIK M. INGRAM

Marin County supervisors yesterday, in effect, erased Ring Mountain from the proposed Strawberry Community Plan which calls for drastically slashing the number of possible homesites on the picturesque and uninhabited slopes. (Other supervisors stories, page 43.)

The board's action was spearheaded by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, who said the county should not tamper with the land pending negotiations for its purchase as open space.

In moving to delete 352 acres owned by Thomas Deffebach, Baptiste was joined by supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Robert A. Roumiguiere, who said they agreed it should be purchased as open space.

The document goes back to the planning commission now, as a matter of procedure, for its comments and will return to the board sometime next month.

Chairman Michael Wornum protested the action as unnecessary and said adoption of the plan, two years in the making by area residents, would not immediately affect the Deffebach property.

Wornum was joined by Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini in urging that rezoning of the land, called for in the plan, be delayed instead.

(County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney recommended against deleting the property or holding up rezoning. Should negotiations fall through and the county then begin rezoning, it might be construed by the courts as inverse condemnation, he said.

(In other words, it might be seen as: "You can't buy the land so now you're taking it through zoning," Maloney told the board.)

Under current zoning, about 680 homes could be built on the slopes. The Strawberry plan recommends 82 homes in tightly clustered developments, leaving most of the mountain

Kent State Suits Win Court Nod

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today families of students killed and wounded in the 1970 Kent State shootings can press federal damage suits against Ohio officials and National Guardsmen.

Two lawsuits had been dismissed in lower courts on the grounds that the state of Ohio was the real defendant and the 11th Amendment to the Constitution banned suits by individuals against a state.

But the high court, in an 8-0 decision written by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, said the amendment does not prohibit in all cases a defendant seeking damages on the grounds of being deprived of a federal right by a state official under state law.

Justice William O. Douglas did not participate in the decision.

The court did not rule on the merits of either suit. It merely reinstated them in the U.S. District Court in Cleveland.

Four students were killed and nine others were seriously wounded May 4, 1970, on the Kent State University campus when National Guardsmen opened fire on a group demonstrating against U.S. ground forces being sent into Cambodia.

Nixon Picks Simon For Treasury Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) President Nixon today nominated William E. Simon to succeed George P. Shultz as Treasury secretary.

Simon, 46, a former Wall Street investment banker who now is federal energy chief, will be succeeded as head of the Federal Energy Office by his deputy, John C. Sawhill, a White House announcement said.

In making the announcement in routine fashion, the White House said the President "intends to play an increasing, expanded role in formulation of economic policy and will assume chairmanship of the Council on Economic Policy."

A Marin Visitor Slain On Street

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A black gunman shot and killed the son of a DuPont Corp. executive last night in the latest in a series of racial killings on the streets of San Francisco.

The 12th white person to be killed since November in what police call the "Zebra" shootings was Nelson T. Shields IV, 23, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Nelson T. Shields III, of Greenville, Dela., a Wilmington suburb.

Young Shields was staying in Marin County with friends at the Kappas Yacht Harbor north of Sausalito.

As in the other slayings, police could give no motive.

Shields, who graduated from Hobart College in June and spent the winter working at a ski resort near Denver, came to the San Francisco area to visit family friends two weeks ago.

He was arranging athletic equipment in the back of a borrowed station wagon when he was shot outside a house in the Ingleside district near the Pacific Ocean.

With a friend, he had gone to the house to pick up a recently purchased rug.

NELSON T. SHIELDS

A witness told police he had been shot by a black man who was 5 feet, 11 inches tall and wore blue trousers and a jacket and a knit watch cap.

The witness said she had seen the man hurrying away, while zipping the jacket.

At the scene police found a shell casing from a .32-caliber pistol, the same type weapon used in 18 other such shootings.

Six persons have been wounded and the others slain.

Shields and his friend, Jonathan May of Mill Valley, had been practicing with the Golden Gate Lacrosse Club earlier in the evening.

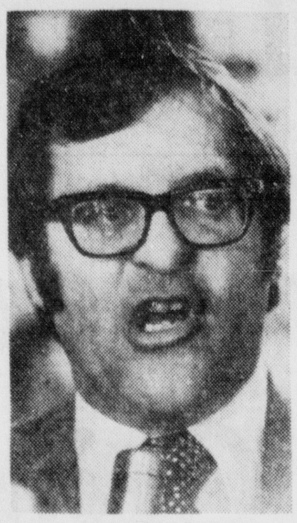
Traxler's Win In Michigan Seen As Rebuff For Nixon



J. BOB TRAXLER

JAMES M. SPARLING JR.
Nixon was of no help

SAGINAW, Mich. (UPI) — J. Bob Traxler scored the first Democratic victory in Michigan's Eighth congressional district since the depression last night in a special election that he called a referendum on Watergate.

"We're going to go to Washington with a message — throw the rascals out," Traxler told about 3,000 campaign workers who greeted him last night by chanting "Im-Peach-Ment, Im-Peach-Ment."

"If I was a Republican," Traxler said, "I would not want the Nixon Albatross around my neck in November."

Final unofficial figures in the seven-county district gave Traxler 59,918 votes to 56,898 for James M. Sparling Jr.

The election caught national attention when Nixon stepped in last week by making a whirlwind barnstorming visit to the area to boost Sparling's candidacy.

In Palm Springs, Calif., where he is vacationing, Vice President Gerald Ford commented, "We lost and we have to concede that it's not good as far as the country is concerned.

"The trend as I see it at the moment at least is for the Democrats to end up potentially with an overwhelming majority which leads to further legislative dictatorship and I don't think that's good for the country," Ford said in an interview with CBS.

Traxler, 42, a state legislator since 1962, led from the moment the vote counting began and piled up a huge margin in his home county of Bay.

Sparling, making his first political race, captured the counties he toured with Nixon but his margins of victory there were too small to offset the huge urban vote for Traxler.

The win was the fourth in five special congressional elections around the country this year and the second Democratic upset in Michigan.

Traxler hit Watergate hard as an issue, and after the President's trip to the 8th District he accused his GOP opponent of depending on Nixon.

"Make no mistake," Traxler said in an election eve speech, "this is a referendum on Richard Nixon."

The voter turnout surprised most officials and Nixon's visit was credited with shaking some of the apathy in the rural areas. Before the vote, officials predicted no more than 90,000 persons would vote.

Only once before this century has a Democrat won in the 8th District, located north of Detroit on the shores of Lake Huron.

The special election was called after Rep. James Harvey resigned earlier to take a federal judgeship.

The Democratic victory was the fourth in five special Congressional elections this year and was the last major election

Russia Said Ready To Aid Syrian Cause

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Soviet involvement in the Syrian war effort against Israel deepened today, and the Beirut newspaper Al Anwar said the Kremlin was prepared to intervene directly if necessary to halt Israeli military activity in the Golan Heights.

Western diplomats in London said the developments could threaten Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's Middle East peace efforts.

Egypt and Syria both hardened their lines against Israel as the fighting on the Golan Heights entered its 37th consecutive day. Israeli sources in Tel Aviv accused the Arabs of complicating Kissinger's efforts to end the explosive war of attrition on the Heights by rejecting Israeli proposals for a U.N. buffer zone between the two sides.

TROOP POLICY

Further complicating the issue was a joint Soviet-Syrian communique issued yesterday shortly after Syrian President Hafez Assad returned to Damascus from a five-day visit to Moscow. It said "any agreement on disengagements of troops must be part and parcel of a general settlement of the Middle East problem, a step on the road to a radical and universal general settlement."

UPI correspondent Gordon F. Joseloff reported from Moscow that the statement reflected Soviet annoyance with Kissinger's personal diplomacy in the Middle East. A Syrian delegation has been in Washington discussing with Kissinger a Syrian-Israeli troop disengagement agreement on the Golan Heights.

Damascus Radio said Assad would make an important speech tonight but gave no clue as to its contents.

NO DETAILS

The joint Soviet-Syrian statement also said the Soviets have "laid out measures for further consolidation of the defense capacity of Syria." It gave no details, but Arab newspapers said the Russians were preparing to give Syria long-range missiles and more advanced MIG23s and possibly MIG25s. Egypt used such missiles sparingly in the October War but now threatens to use them against Israeli cities if the situation worsens.

Further evidence of the deepening crisis came yesterday in a speech by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. He said Egypt has an "astounding" number of tanks ready to cross the Suez Canal immediately and is still aiming its long-range missiles at three of Israel's principal cities.

Sadat said the rockets would be fired if Israel attacked Egyptian cities on the Suez Canal's west bank. Egyptian newspapers warned of Egyptian rocket attacks if Israel continued its "aggression" in the Middle East and spoke of the possibility of opening a second front in the Sinai.

High Court Asked To Overturn Ruling On Prisoner Interviews

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California deputy attorney general yesterday urged the Supreme Court to overturn a ruling that gives prison inmates the right to demand news interviews.

He said it would result in "a hazard for the care and custody of inmates in general."

The three-judge federal court also held that newsmen do not have a similar guarantee to interviews. That portion of the decision conflicted with another from the Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C., which granted the Washington Post a right to talk with federal prisoners except in abnormal security situations.

John T. Murphy, the California official, said there was a "real and demonstrated need" to limit interviewe. Otherwise, he said, an inmate might use the press "to promote his own ambitions or leadership" and undermine discipline by becoming a "celebrity" or "big wheel" among prisoners. He said the press tends to "focus attention on the most notorious inmates."

The California penal system had a liberal interview policy from 1957 to 1971, which was changed after three guards and two inmates were killed during an escape attempt at San Quentin in August, 1971.

Prison officials argued that numerous interviews with the inmates—66 in 18 months in one instance — brought them a "negative leadership role" and a "false sense of status," which led to disciplinary problems and ultimately the deaths.

Justice Thurgood Marshall asked if the blanket ban against specific interviews could be relaxed to allow them on a limited basis. Murphy replied that by choosing selectively who could be interviewed "there would be all kinds of litigation" when some prisoners charged discrimination.

Justice Potter Stewart asked if inmates had a right to talk to reporters. Murphy replied: "An inmate has no first amendment right to demand that an interview be set up."

He said that such interviews would result in "a hazard for the care and custody of inmates in general," and added that the courts should be leery of interfering in the administration of state prisons run by experienced experts.

Stanley A. Bass of New York disagreed with Murphy and argued for prison interviews. He said that letter writing and random meetings with touring reporters did not sufficiently protect the inmates' rights of

The high court will look at another first amendment press issue tomorrow when it hears arguments about Florida's "right to reply" law.

In that case, The Miami Herald contends a 1913 law requiring it to give reply space to politicians who have been criticized in the paper violates its free press rights.

Earlier yesterday, the court ruled that the end of a strike does not necessarily make legal issues raised during the strike moot. The case involved efforts by a New Jersey tire manufacturer to have the state law g ving strikers welfare benefits made illegal. The case was returned to lower courts for trial on its merits.

Split Looms In Israel's Labor Party

TEL AVIV (UPI) — A decision by the ruling Labor party's leadership to nominate a replacement for outgoing Prime Minister Golda Meir instead of calling new elections threatened today to split party ranks.

By a 31-13 vote yesterday, Labor's top leaders skirted new elections and decided to try to form a government from the same three-party coalition led by Mrs. Meir until she resigned last week.

The climax may come Sunday when the party's 614-member central committee, the policy-making body, votes on a new prime minister despite support for elections from powerful elements within the party.

"With such powerful opposition, it seems doubtful whether the Labor party's central committee will in fact support the move to form a new government without holding new elections," the Jerusalem Post said.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan hinted at a possible split in party ranks when he said he would not automatically support the nominee the party

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Socialist Ahead

PARIS (UPI) — Prime Minister Pierre Messmer said today that France faces the choice of continuing as a democratic society or plunging into a dangerous adventure under a Communist-backed president.

An opinion poll put socialist leader Francois Mitterrand, who is supported by the Communist Party, ahead of his conservative rivals in the race for the presidency and 7 percentage points short of outright victory.

Mitterrand, 57, the sole candidate of the left, is fighting the official Gaullist nominee, ex-Prime Minister Jacques Chaban-Delmas, 59, and Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing, 48, head of a Gaullist coalition group.

Pledge Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will reaffirm his administration's policy of "mature partnership" with Western Hemisphere nations at a White House dinner tonight for Latin American and Caribbean foreign ministers, sources said.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is to open two days of closed-door meetings with the ministers today to review the economic and political issues discussed at a similar meeting in Mexico City seven weeks ago.

The meetings are part of a process initiated in Mexico City, which in turn resulted from a suggestion by Kissinger that the United States and Latin America should begin a "new dialogue."

Ex-Yippie On Fugitive List

NEW YORK (UPI) — A nationwide manhunt has begun for Abbie Hoffman, radical leader of the 1960s who is wanted as a fugitive on a narcotics charge.

Hoffman

A warrant for his arrest was issued yesterday because he failed to appear as ordered for a hearing.

Hoffman, 36, former leader of the "Yippie" movement and a leader of the demonstrations at the Democratic convention in Chicago in 1968, was charged Aug. 28 with selling 48 ounces of cocaine to undercover policemen in New York. He pleaded innocent, saying he had been framed.

The warrant allows Hoffman 30 days to appear in court before additional bail jumping charges are filed against him.

To Hike Ore

COTONOU, Dahomey (UPI) — Niger's new military regime plans a sharp rise in the cost of uranium exports to France, the West African nation's former colonial ruler, diplomatic sources said toda.

The sources said Sunday's military takeover has cast a cloud of doubt over future progress of work at the open-earth mining operation at Arlit in the heart of Niger's sun-scorched interior.

An army of African laborers, working under French engineers extract high-grade uranium ore for France's atomic energy plants and military arsenal.

Rebels Threaten

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — The Cambodian high command said today government troops enlarged their defense perimeter on the north side of the besieged provincial capital of Kampot, but field reports said rebel soldiers still threatened the city.

The command said government troops pushed out a mile north from the center of the port city "and were continuing to enlarge their defense perimeter on the southeast side."

Bruce Wants Out

HONG KONG (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador David Bruce is frustrated and unhappy in Peking and wants to leave as soon as he can, reliable diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said Bruce's desire to leave is not necessarily related to any decline in Sino-American relations, although there definitely has been a "cooling" of ties in recent months.

Bruce wants to return, one source said, because of his age — he is 76.

'A Fair Year'

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. chairman Lynn Townsend assured stockholders at the company's annual meeting yesterday 1974 will be "a pretty fair year" for the No. 3 automaker.

Townsend said despite forecasts of some security analysts, first quarter earnings would be in the black, although he did not indicate actual figures for 1974.

President John J. Riccardo said despite efforts to control rising costs, "There will be substantial price increases on our 1975 models."

KENNETH HANSON
Calley's attorney

Sentence Of Calley Is Halved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although there's "no reasonable doubt" that Lt. William L. Calley murdered at least 22 Vietnamese civilians in the massacre at My Lai, the Secretary of the Army has cut his sentence in half —from 20 to 10 years.

The case is now before President Nixon for review.

It never was determined exactly how many civilians died at My Lai. Estimates were between 300 and 400 and ranged as high as 500.

Calley was accused of either personally killing or directing the killing of 102 civilians, and a six-man court-martial board found him responsible for "at least" 22 of the deaths.

"There is no reasonable doubt in my mind that he perpetrated the act for which he stands convicted," Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway said yesterday.

But he reduced the sentence, an Army spokesman explained, on the basis of an opinion by a military clemency board that the 30-year-old officer has been a well-behaved prisoner with a reasonable prospect for rehabilitation.

The action makes Calley eligible for parole in six months.

(At Ft. Benning, Kenneth Henson, an attorney for Lt. Calley said, "I think that the sentence should have been reversed and Lt. Calley totally and completely exonerated. We are greatly disappointed that the secretary of the Army confirmed his sentence and conviction, although remitting the sentence to 10 years."

(Henson said that Calley's personal reaction to Callaway's action was that he was "disappointed and a little upset, but grateful." He said he would continue to appeal the case until Calley is fully exonerated.)

Of 13 men initially charged in the massacre, five were brought to trial, including Calley's superior, Capt. Ernest L. Medina. All but Calley were acquitted. The Army also charged 13 officers with trying to cover up the case but none was convicted.

The civilians — mostly women, children and old men — were killed as U.S. forces invaded the hamlet on March 16, 1968. Calley contended he was ordered by Capt. Medina to kill everyone in the village. Medina denied issuing such an order, and he was cleared by a court-martial board.

President Nixon said nearly three years ago he would personally review the Calley case when military reviews were finished. The Pentagon sent the case documents to the White House yesterday.

Contract For Sprinklers At Lynwood School Given

Ralph Lovelace of San Jose last night was awarded a $13,937 contract to install an irrigation system at the Lynwood School by the Novato City Council, but not without the council calling for more careful drawing of specifics in the future.

The firm, lowest of four bidders, substituted plastic sprinkler heads which have a one-year guarantee instead of the called-for brass with a five-year guarantee.

Councilmen Fred F. Ruegg and David Milano told the staff that the change failed to meet the specifications insistence that any substitution of one material for another insure equality.

Acting City Mgr. Rodney W. Brown said that the brass and plastic heads give equal performance, but Milano said the different guarantees had to be considered, just as with automobiles. These were not equal, he said.

He and Ruegg said future bids must specify exactly what a bidder may substitute.

Mayor David Price Jones wanted to hold the item over one week so the council could hear Gilbert J. Moncayo of Novato, an unsuccessful bidder, protest substituting the cheaper plastic heads for the brass heads.

The council awarded the contract, with Jones voting against it, when it learned that Lovelace would have still been low bidder using brass sprinkler heads.

The Novato City Council also:

CHAMBER — Accepted the quarterly report on the activities of the Novato Chamber of Commerce and authorized the quarterly payment of $2,900 to the chamber.

INTERNS — Favored hiring high school students during the summer vacation at $2 an hour and asked the staff to bring in a specific proposal.

CONFLICT — Continued indefinitely consideration of a proposed conflict-of-interest ordinance until the state law on it has been settled in the courts where it has been challenged.

DRAINAGE — Awarded a $38,835 contract to Everson Construction Co. of Petaluma, lowest of 10 bidders, for 18 small drainage projects in the city.

BICYCLE — Banned parking on the west side of Diablo Avenue from 8 to 9:30 a.m. and on the east side from 2:30 to 4 p.m., from Hill Road to Novato Boulevard to allow bicycle lanes on the route to and from Hill Junior High School during the hours students go to and from the school.

PARADE — Granted a permit to the Novato Kiwanis Club for a bicycle parade from 10 to 10:30 a.m., May 4, down First Street to Grant Avenue and west on Grant Avenue to Marion School, where a bicycle safety clinic will be conducted.

SPEED — Introduced an ordinance setting a 25 mile-per-hour speed limit on Santa Maria Drive between Nina Drive and Blanca Drive; Cambridge Street between Johnson Street to the south end of the street and Hill Road between Tamalpais Avenue and Indian Valley Road.

CLERKS — Introduced an ordinance defining the duties of account clerks I and II, typist clerk I, II and senior, stenographer clerk I and II and departmental secretary. It abolished the position of administrative secretary.

AGREEMENT — Accepted a $35,000 federal grant for traffic signals at Rowland and Redwood boulevards and told staff to prepare a three-year program to qualify for such money in the future.

HILLSIDES — Voted not to join Marin County on a study of ordinances on hillside development and grading.

STANDARDS — Passed an ordinance setting up the standards for rest homes, convalescent homes and mental health care facilities. The ordinance had been introduced last week.

CLOSED — Went into closed session to discuss hiring a new city manager. The council had held a 90-minute closed meeting on it prior to the open council meeting. Mayor Jones said the council may name a new manager by Friday afternoon.

Disease Checked

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UPI) — Federal authorities yesterday reported they had discovered and checked an outbreak of jungle yellow fever in an area near the Brazilian border.

The four lowest priced 5-speeds in America.

The Toyota Corolla SR-5 coupe, $3,179*

The Toyota Corolla S-5 coupe, $3,039*

The Toyota Corona SR, $3,819*

The Toyota Celica GT, $3,759*

Sporty to drive. Easy on gas.

We don't know why five-speed transmissions should come as standard equipment only on expensive cars. We small car specialists think that a lot of people will appreciate the sportiness of five speeds on inexpensive cars. And that's exactly why we put them on these four Toyotas. Along with a list of standard features that makes each Toyota an even better buy. Like radios, power front disc brakes, tachometers, radial tires, reclining bucket seats, wall-to-wall carpeting, and a long list of extras.

And there's more good news. The fifth gear makes cruising easy on gas and easy on the engine (it runs about 15% slower than in fourth gear). A good reason why we offer Toyota quality in four different five-speeds as part of our 24 different models.

Just remember. Our five-speed prices stop where others start. If you want a big car, see a big car dealer. But if you want the big buy in small cars, see the "small car specialist," your local Toyota Dealer.

GUNNED DOWN — Bystanders gathered around the body of Nelson T. Shields IV, 23, after he was shot and killed on a San Francisco street last night in the latest of a series of racial killings. Shields, son of a DuPont Corp. executive, arrived in the Bay Area from Greensville, Del., only two weeks ago. He was arranging athletic equipment in the rear of a station wagon when he was shot by a black man with a .32-caliber pistol. Shields is the 12th white person killed in San Francisco since November, 1973, in what police call the "Zebra" shootings.

sage, Miss Hearst renounced her former life and said she was joining forces with the SLA.

The robbery occurred Monday at a Hibernia Bank branch in a quiet neighborhood near Golden Gate Park. Five men and four women made up the robbery team. Two persons were shot and wounded during the getaway.

After studying the 1,200 pictures made by hidden cameras during the robbery, U.S. Attorney James L. Browning said, of Miss Hearst: "It is clear from the photographs that she may have been acting under duress." But, the prosecutor said, if it turned out Miss Hearst was a willing participant, she would be charged with robbery.

Asked whether Miss Hearst acted naturally during the robbery, Shea said, "Well, it was natural as far as a holdup is concerned, yes.

Asked whether she talked to any of the other bank robbers, Shea said, "I don't think she spoke to anybody as far as I could see."

Bank Manager James Smith said he witnessed the holdup from a tiny window in a second-floor vault in the bank.

He said he saw "these two gals with what I thought were machine guns." He said Miss Hearst "was pointing her gun in the direction of the people on the floor." Either of the women, he said, appeared to be "ready to shoot the guns."

A federal warrant was issued yesterday for Donald DeFreeze, 30, an escaped convict and the suspected leader of the SLA, on a charge of armed robbery. The FBI said DeFreeze, who calls himself "general field marshal Cinque," was also identified in the bank photographs.

The holdup warrant also named three women. They were Nancy Ling Perry, 27, Patricia Michelle Soltysik, 24, and Camilla Christine Hall, 29. Their bail was set at $500,000 each.

A warrant was also sworn out for Miss Hearst. But it only named her as a material witness. FBI agents said a study of the photographs showed one of the women may have been pointing a gun at Miss Hearst.

Police Capt. Mortimer McInerney, chief of the bureau of inspectors, said, "We are discussing the possibility very thoroughly that this was a staged job to show off Patty Hearst as a member of their (SLA's) ranks."

McInerney said he was "amazed" the robbers did not blast away with their weapons at the bank's cameras. "They had sufficient weapons there," he added. "It would have been a very easy thing to do ... Perhaps they wanted to be seen, and they wanted her to be seen."

Miss Hearst's parents returned Tuesday from a 10-day vacation in Mexico.

Asked his reaction to the holdup, Hearst said: "I feel like any father would react ... I think it's the most vicious thing I've ever seen or had happen to me.

"Up to 60 days ago, she was a lovely child, and now —60 days later —there is a picture of her in a bank with a gun in her hand. How do you think any father would feel?"

But Steven Weed, Miss Hearst's fiance, said he was certain she was "coerced" into participating in the robbery. "If ever people should sympathize with her, it is now," he told reporters outside the Hearst mansion in nearby Hillsborough.

Weed, a University of California graduate student, said his fiancee "is sick, is exhausted and humiliated by a group of people determined not to let her out of this alive."

Teachers To Give Pay Requests

Teachers are scheduled to present their pay request for the 1974-75 school year to the Shoreline Unified School District board at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Tomales High School.

The board also is to hear a recommendation from a citizens advisory committee that it sell the old Tomales High School building, west of Shoreline Highway.

OBITUARIES

Martha D. Cebalo Dies At 93

Martha D. Cebalo, a 57-year resident of San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital following a brief illness. She was 93.

She was a member and past worthy matron of San Rafael Chapter No. 215, Order of Eastern Star, and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

Mrs. Cebalo was born in Scotland, and moved to Sacramento with her parents as a girl. There she met and married her late husband, Fred Cebalo, who became the first Packard auto dealer in Northern California after they moved to Marin County in 1914. In 1917, they purchased the home at 1015 Irwin Street in which they lived the rest of their lives. Cebalo died in 1968.

San Rafael Chapter 215, Order of Eastern Star, will conduct the funeral service for Mrs. Cebalo at 11 a.m. tomorrow in the Williams and Heffernan Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

Memorial contributions to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in San Francisco are preferred.

R. K. CASTILE

Graveside funeral was today in Merced for Robert Kenneth Castile of LeGrand, Merced County, a San Rafael resident for 15 years during the 1930s and 1940s. Castile died Sunday in Merced County at the age of 71.

Castile was born in Holdredge, Neb., and moved to LeGrand in his youth. During the depression he moved to San Rafael, where he married the former Margaret Ormsby. After working in San Rafael for 15 years, he returned to LeGrand to operate an almond farm.

He was a member of the LeGrand Grange and a former member of the LeGrand Lions Club. Castile was a rock collector and maker of artistic jewelry.

He is survived by his wife, a son Richard, a sister Pearl, and a brother, Gilbert.

HOMER GATCHETT

Homer D. Gatchett of Petaluma died yesterday in a San Rafael hospital after a long illness. He was 73.

He was a native of Portland, Ore. and a longtime Southern Sonoma resident. He lived at 2604 Petaluma Boulevard North. He was a real estate broker until his retirement earlier this year.

Gatchett was a member of the Novato Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. His wife, Irene Gatchett, preceded him in death.

Surviving are a daughter, Evelyn Johnson of Novato, and a son, Ned B. Gatchett of Cottonwood, Shasta County.

Funeral will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Parent Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

JOHN AKEY

John J. Akey, longtime Petaluma resident, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness. He was 72.

Akey was a native of Massachusetts. He was a retired foreman for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and had worked 35 years for the utility company. His home was at 198 D Street.

During both world wars, Akey served in Seabee branch of the Marine Corps.

He was a member of the Petaluma Lodge of the Free and Accepted Masons and a volunteer fireman for the Petaluma Fire Department.

Akey is survived by a brother, Joe E. Jannino of Bakersfield.

GARRETT STRYKER

A memorial service for Garrett B. Stryker of Novato, a retired mechanical engineer, was today in Novato.

Stryker, 79, of 274 Sunset Parkway, died Sunday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

He has been an employee of the Hunt Food Corp. for 40 years.

Stryker had moved to Novato from Southern California a month ago. He was a native of Illinois.

Surviving is his wife, Mary S. Stryker.

PIETER KEESMAAT

PIeter L. Keesmaat of Kentfield, businessman and longtime Marin resident, died today in a Woodland, Yolo County, hospital after a brief illness. He was 62.

Keesmaat was born and reared in Holland but came to this country as a youth. He had lived in Marin more than 35 years. The family home is at 821 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Keesmaat at one time operated a bakery in Larkspur and later he owned Keesmaat's Cake and Pastry Shop in Novato. In recent years he had been manager of the Tiburon Playhouse. He retired a short time ago.

Keesmaat's wife, Marian, died in 1971.

He is survived by three daughters, Diane Reeder of Novato, Roberta Chase of Santa Rosa and Marianna Paris of Woodland; three sisters and a brother in Holland and eight grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

STINSON

ment system, Murphy said.

The agency is considering seeking an amendment to the law to give it power to build collector lines as well, he said, adding, "if all goes well, it may be this time next year before we get this authority."

Apparently the only alternative to fill the legal gap in the meantime would be for the regional board to order property owners to install collector lines, a time-consuming process since it may have to act against each property owner separately.

The board's staff recommended the unprecedented move in the wake of the community's rejection on March 5 of financing for a $2.5 million sewage system. The community has been under fire from the regional board for years because of pollution caused by failing septic tanks. The board already has banned new construction throughout the community.

The Legislature created BASSA to build facilities in communities that fail to do so themselves. It can finance construction by imposing property taxes and service charges through an assessment district, but Murphy said this would be done only as "a last resort."

Roger B. James, the board's senior engineer, said a poll of property owners in Stinson Beach showed a majority supports construction of a sewage system. The property owners and voters, however, are all not the same, he added.

John Jones, vice president of the Stinson Beach County Water District, asked unsuccessfully for delay on the action until after a study due June 30 on how to upgrade the septic tanks.

The suit against the board was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Sanford and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald A. Crandall, opponents of the $2.5 million sewage system. Signed by Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire, it set a hearing for 9 a.m. on April 30.

It also asks the court to void the board's ban on new construction.

Marin City Man Faces Drug Trial

A Marin City man was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a felony charge of possessing narcotics and a misdemeanor count of removing a serial number from a tape recorder.

Henry Garrison Jr., 25, was ordered to appear April 30 following a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Peter Allen Smith.

He was arrested Feb. 25 in Sausalito when police saw him standing on a street with tape recorders and stereo equipment stacked beside him. Serial numbers had been removed from the equipment, police said, and a small packet of suspected narcotics was found in his wallet.

At the time of his arrest, Garrison was awaiting sentencing in superior court for possessing stolen property in Mill Valley last June. He later was sentenced to one year in jail on that charge.

land on March 29 indicted eight former National Guardsmen on charges of violating the civil rights of those killed or wounded.

The guardsmen, all enlisted men, were charged with "willfully assaulting and intimidating demonstrators ... by firing in their direction and violating their constitutional rights not to be deprived of liberty without due process of law."

Families of three of the dead students filed the two suits. They told the Supreme Court that a ruling against them in the highest court in the land would remove their last opportunity for redress.

Burger said the district court acted prematurely and was thus in error in dismissing the complaints without giving the families a chance to establish their claims.

The suits invoked a law more than 100 years old —the Civil Rights Act of 1871 —that provides for legal action against anyone who by virtue of state law deprives another person of rights secured by the Constitution.

The suits claimed then Ohio Gov. James Rhodes permitted the guardsmen to carry loaded guns and toshoot at persons without justification.

'Family' Ruling Before Council

An amendemtn to the Tiburon zoning ordinances which would specify how many unrelated persons can live in one dwelling unit will be discussed by the planning commission today at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The city council recently asked the planning commission to study the issue after several residents complained that their neighborhoods were being invaded by large group households.

The commission also will discuss a new housing policy for the city's general plan.

RING

Deletion of the land from the plan was requested by Deffebach's attorney, Roderick P. Martinelli of San Rafael.

Martinelli said no consideration had been given by the Strawberry plan committee to purchasing the land, which Deffebach has offered for $2 million. (Its market value is listed by the county assessor at $1.4 million.)

He said the whole thrust of the plan was to provide the Deffebachs with a minimum number of homesites as compensation for taking the rest of the land which has been in Deffebach's family since the 1820s. (Deffebach is a descendant of John J. Reed, an early Marin pioneer.)

Furthermore, he continued, the county changed the land's zoning in 1958 from agricultural to single-family residential and his client has been paying taxes based on that zoning.

Baptiste and Roumiguiere argued that adoption of the plan was tantamount to rezoning it since state law requires land to be zoned in conformance with adopted plans.

They urged the Strawberry committee to consider forming a county service area to purchase the land.

Dennis Rice, a former Tiburon city councilman who served on the Ring Mountain Study Committee — a group with representatives from Tiburon, Strawberry and Corte Madera — said the plan's recommendations were made only after detailed study.

"The impression is being given that the Ring Mountain plan (part of the Strawberry plan) was a fast paste pot and paper job by a bunch of birdwatchers looking for some cheap open space," he said. "It's not." Topography, drainage and other factors were studied in depth, he said.

With the exception of the Deffebach property, supervisors agreed with the other parts of the plan which says the area shall reach its maximum population by 1990, among other things.

A spokesman for American Savings and Loan Association, owner of the Strawberry Spit and lands on Strawberry Point, asked for deletion, also, but to no avail.

He said the land was worth $9 million but would be reduced in value by the plan, and related rezoning, to about $2 million.

The discussion ended abruptly when a member of the audience noted that the assessor has valued the land at $350,000 — meaning it would be difficult to prove inverse condemnation.

Wornum, in urging adoption of the entire plan — including Ring Mountain — said such community plans "are the nitty-gritty of implementing the countywide general plan."

"If we don't adopt it, we might as well scrap the county plan," he said.

Reinecke Visit

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinicke, seeking the Republican Party's nomination for governor of California, has announced he will be at campaign headquarters at Third and Irwin streets in San Rafael at 5:45 p.m. tomorrow.

Coast Guard Sewage Plan Is Approved

Directors of the North Marin County Water District last night indicated general approval of the latest sewage plan for new Coast Guard housing in Point Reyes Station, and they set May 7 as a date for final vote on the project.

During a low-key public hearing on the environmental impact report, a few persons in the audience of 14 said they feared the growth inducing possibilities of the project.

Others complained because the report did not consider the needs of Point Reyes Station whose inhabitants will vote June 4 on funding an $80,000 study of sewage disposal.

Patrick H. Heffernan, the only board member to oppose the project, declared he did not believe the report adequately answered the growth inducement question. He urged that approval be delayed until after the June election and until a local plan for the area had been completed.

Board members agreed to hold the hearing record open for additional written comments on the report until 5 p.m. Monday.

If directors authorize the project at their May meeting, construction of the sewage holding ponds could be completed by the end of this summer, according to district manager John O. Nelson.

The North Marin County Water District Board also:

RATES — Adopted a resolution setting 57 cents per 1,000 gallons as the rate for treated, non-metered water sold under a water load permit. The new rate will primarily effect tank trucks in the construction industry.

CONSUMPTION — Heard that water consumption for March increased nearly eight per cent over use for the same month in 1973.

RESEARCH — Agreed to budget $3,000 as the district's share in a $39,800 investigation of the benefits of placing alum sludge from a water treatment plant into a waste water facility operated by Novato Sanitary District. The project still needs approval of the Environmental Protection Agency, which will be asked for a $33,800 grant, and of the Novato Sanitary District, which would put up $3,000.

RESOURCES — Voted 3 to 2 (directors George A. Amaroli and Frank V. Baccaglio against) to endorse the concept of a regional resources study by the state Department of Water Resources. The dissenters feared the study would lead to export of water and questioned the amount of staff time that would be devoted to it.

TOMALES — Approved hiring an engineer at a cost of not more than $2,000 to help staff complete a sewer study for Tomales. Also heard that engineering geologist had reported favorably on two possible sites for the facility.

Attack Try Is Reported

A woman was treated at Marin General Hospital early today for cuts, bruises and possible broken ribs after what sheriff's deputies believe was an attempted rape by a man who attacked her in her bed.

Deputies said that at about 3 a.m. the intruder entered her home on Central Drive in the Eagle Rock section of the Tiburon Peninsula through an unlocked door.

The man, a white male in his 30s, then assaulted her in her bedroom. After a struggle he fled.

Police have labeled their investigation into the shootings "Code Zebra" and Inspector Gus Coreris said "This was definitely a 'Zebra' shooting."

Officers say the code word has no special meaning.

While the latest shooting was in the Ingleside District, which has a large Negro population, most of the shootings have been in an area approximately 1 ¼ miles by 1 ¼ miles to the west of the city's business district.

The area with the most shootings appears on a map to roughly surround the predominantly black Fillmore District.

More than $20,000 in reward money had been posted for the capture of the killers—$10,000 of it from the Arab Grocers Association, $5,000 from the San Francisco Examiner and $5,000 from an anonymous donor.

The worst outbreak during the rash of shootings was Jan. 28 when four persons were killed and one wounded by two men who started west of the main district and shot their way towards the Ingleside district at the city's southwest edge.

Larkspur Trustees To Eye Budget

A $2,288,446 preliminary 1974-75 budget, up $119,527 from this year's spending plan, will be reviewed by Larkspur School District trustees when they meet today at 8 p.m. at the district office.

The increase is due to the annual 2.3 per cent step increase in salary for employees and because of inflationary costs of equipment and supplies, according to Gilbert L. Slusher, district business manager. All programs are maintained at current levels, he said.

He said the proposed budget may allow a 13-cent or 14-cent drop in the total tax rate of $3.57 per $100 assessed valuation despite decreasing enrollment, because of an increase in assessed valuation in the district.

The budget breakdown, with last year's amount in parentheses:

Administration, $53,523 ($52,968); certificated salaries, $1,231,194 ($1,207,270); classified salaries, $66,079 ($63,074); books, $11,238 ($10,886); other instructional expenses, $66,360 ($65,554); health services, $12,010 ($11,504); transportation, $25,627 ($23,047); food services, $750 ($600); operations, $134,393 ($124,387); maintenance, $63,074 ($61,779); fixed charges, $201,010 ($177,140); community services, $31,218 ($30,810); capital outlay, $20,710 ($20,119); repayment of state loan, $139,573 ($139,573); outgoing transfers, $19,803 ($19,803); undistributed reserve, $211,384 ($159,905), and cash revolving fund, $500 ($500).

A Mother's Day Proclamation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — May 12 has been formally proclaimed by President Nixon as Mother's Day.

In issuing the proclamation yesterday, the President used the occasion to call for continued efforts to end all forms of discrimination against women in hiring and promotion for jobs.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY Marin's Peaceful Place of final rest

Mount Tamalpais Cemetery is a true haven of beauty, a lovely site of green lawns and rolling hills guarded by handsome trees.

The beauty of this setting is guarded, too, by an ever-growing endowment fund which guarantees the care of this property in the years ahead.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you will want to consider the advantages of making final arrangements at Mount Tamalpais now. This thoughtfulness can spare loved ones difficult decisions in time of sorrow. We invite your visit, or suggest that you write for our brochure which explains our facilities.

THOMAS HART BENTON
Marks 85th birthday

Muralist Is Doing His 'Last Work'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Thomas Hart Benton is working on his last mural. Again.

Benton spent his 85th birthday Monday working on a mural depicting the origins of country music. He planned only a quiet dinner with friends to mark his birthday, then a turn in his studio to touch up a preliminary drawing for the mural commissioned by the Country Music Foundation in Nashville, Tenn.

It's the muralist's third "last" mural. His first "last" mural depicts Independence and the opening of the West in the foyer of the Harry S Truman Library. Just last year he completed another "last", a mural for the centennial of Joplin, Mo.

Benton compromised somewhat under the burden of his age. He suffered bursitis climbing scaffolds to paint the 30-by-19-foot mural in the Truman Library. The Joplin and country music paintings have been scaled down to studio sizes of 14-by-5½-and 10-by-6-foot.

For the Missourian, who is fascinated by authentic culture of any nation, country music has a special meaning.

"The theme is sympathetic to me," Benton said. "I've had a long interest in country music going back into the '20s. I don't have to do any research on this. I know the field."

Kelp Beds Are Helped By Chains

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State marine biologists said yesterday they had nearly finished placing three tons of surplus Navy anchor chain along the ocean bottom in an attempt to reestablish kelp beds in Southern California.

Department of Fish and Game biologist Kenneth Wilson said up to 500 large, mature giant kelp plants will be brought from Catalina Island and attached to the anchor chain in Christmas Tree Cove off Palos Verdes Peninsula.

After the chain is placed in position by the department vessel Kelp Bass, hundreds of short nylon cords will be attached in securing the transplanted kelp.

Biologists hope to complete transplanting the mature plants into the 200-by-300-yard experimental cove area by early summer.

Although kelp beds once flournished off the Southern California coast, increasing pollution and several years of above normal ocean temperatures in the late 1960s wiped most beds out.

An earlier experiment in Abalone Cove using transplanted Catalina Island kelp has been termed successful by biologists.

Marinite's Work In Touring Show

Three watercolor paintings by Corte Madera artist Kenneth Potter are on display in national art exhibitions across the country this month.

"Potrero Hill" was chosen to be shown in the 107th Annual of the American Watercolor Galleries, New York. "Japanese Tea Gardens" is being shown in a Springfield, Mo., exhibition, and "Loading Ramp" is on display in a national competition in Riverside.

128 Boating Deaths In 1973

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A total of 128 persons were killed in boating accidents during 1973, a 13 per cent increase over the previous year, the state Department of Navigation and Ocean Development said yesterday.

Frank Torkelson, acting director of the department, said the single greatest increase in 1973 was "the tremendous upsurge in deaths involving canoes, kayaks and inflatable rafts.

"Fatalities in this category alone have tripled in one year. If there had been no increase in this category, California would have experienced an overall reducation in fatalities over the last several years," Torkelson said.

An annual report on boating in the state showed that during 1973 a total of 963 recreational vessels were involved in 696 accidents which injured 167 persons, caused 113 drownings and 15 deaths by other causes. Property damage was set at $1.78 million.

The report also said that more than two-thirds of all boat operators involved in accidents last year had not taken any formal boating instruction.

A 'Bunny' Bill

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Calling it an "Easter bunny bill," the state senate voted unanimously Monday to outlaw the use of live rabbits in the training of racing greyhounds.

$3.50 Stolen

Misplacement of a decimal point on Monday in the report of a burglary on April 9 at the Sand Dollar Restaurant in Stinson Beach made it appear that many times the actual amount was taken. The Independent-Journal should have shown the correct amount to have been only $3.50.

Organ Festival Delegate Named

Shirley Colabella of Fairfax will be Marin's representative April 26 in the regional competition of the Yamaha National Electrone Organ Festival.

Mrs. Colabella prevailed Thursday in the Marin competition for the hobbyist class at the Miracle Music Store, San Rafael and will face rivals from all over California, and from parts of other western states.

Her teacher is Jeane Nobel of San Rafael.

WET WORK

Floodwater rushing down a residential street in Hattiesburg, Miss., swirled around the boots of TV cameraman Gene Inman yesterday as he photographed areas flooded by the Pascagoula River. About 6,000 of Hattiesburg's 35,000 residents have been flooded out of their homes and about 10,000 in the entire south central Mississippi region are homeless. (UPI Telephoto)

Behr And Theiller Clash Over Dam

State Sen. Peter H. Behr of San Rafael and Robert Theiller of Santa Rosa, seeking the Republican nomination for the Fourth District Senate seat, clashed yesterday on the proposed Warm Springs Dam.

The candidates, in what is believed to be their first joint appearance in Marin, spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Novato Republican Women's Club.

They sparred sporadically, agreed on some matters such as the need for campaign finance reform and spent some time relating background and past achievements.

Theiller, a Sonoma County supervisor supporting the proposed dam near Healdsburg, rapped Behr's opposition to it.

Theiller said he believes the people of Sonoma County support the dam project and "we felt we almost lost the dam because of his (Behr's) influence."

It took the efforts of Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, several city councils and the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors "to turn it around," Theiller said.

"I don't really have this kind of power," said Behr.

Behr, who has labeled the dam project as "oversized and underjustified" and called for the study of the potential earthquake hazards at the site, said a dam failure would "create a sort of Johnstown flood."

The candidates differed in their view of regional government with Theiller strongly opposed and Behr supporting it on a "one man, one vote" basis.

Theiller, a member of the North Central Coastal Commission and the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, said the commission has invaded the rights of people and "I think we have had a tremendous erosion into the field of people's property rights."

Behr mentioned the "proliferation of single agencies," as a reason for supporting regional government.

The candidates also clashed on the need for a dam on the Eel River.

Behr said there is no need for a dam, while Theiller said he would remove the Eel River from the protection of the Wild Rivers Act "if it were proved a dam would be effective in preventing flooding."

Theiller said he opposes collective bargaining by public employees but believes teachers should negotiate at a state level because of the disparity in school district wealth. "The cost of living in various areas could be considered."

Behr, on school financing, said "I think the income tax has to be relied on more, since it grows with inflation."

Auto Stolen

A 1964 Volkswagen sedan belonging to Pamela L. Case was stolen from the parking area at 801 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, according to the car's owner, police reported today. She told police the car bearing California license WKL 673 was stolen last night.

High Judicial Post To Woman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former federal prosecutor in Los Angeles is the new U.S. assistant attorney general for civil rights, and she is the first woman to hold such a high Justice Department Post in more than 5 years.

Carla Anderson Hills, 40, was sworn in yesterday by former Supreme Court Justice Stanley F. Reed. She is the third woman in history to be an assistant attorney general. The first two were named by President Woodrow Wilson.

Mrs. Hills was educated at Oxford and Stanford Universities and got a law degree from Yale in 1958.

An Old Answer Offered To Shortage Of Energy

PALO ALTO (UPI) — Stanford University scientists are considering as a proposed solution to the energy shortage — the flywheel, an invention thousands of years old.

The versatile flywheel design presented to the Stanford Energy Seminar was introduced by Dr. Richard F. Post a professor at the University of California-Davis, and his son Stephen.

The Posts said large flywheels similar to the one they designed could be used to store power in electrically run cars and trucks. Larger flywheels, they said, could possibly be used to store large amounts of energy produced by electric utilities, helping them to meet peak hour loads.

They explained the new flywheels work as the ancient potter's kickwheel, except that power comes from an electric motor-generator instead of an artist's foot.

The modern version of the flywheel is still in the theoretical stage, they said, but Stephen Post was optimistic: "I hope to drive home one nice day in my electric car, plug it into a windmill flywheel and then go inside of my solarheated house."

A VICTORY — Former rodeo cowboy Victor DeCosta, who lives in Rhode Island, has won a legal shoot-out with Columbia Broadcasting System over the television series, "Have Gun Will Travel." A court ruling has backed his claim as creator of the original Paladin, hero of the series.

Paladin's Creator May Realize Riches

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Victor Decosta, who created the gunfighter hero Paladin, spends his weekends teaching children the dangers of firearms.

"I look tough, and you can bet that the youngsters listen to me," he says.

Now 65, Decosta claims he originated in 1946 the idea that was later made into "Have Gun Will Travel," a successful television series starring Richard Boone. The shows were first aired on the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) in 1957.

A U.S. magistrate here ruled Monday that the network must reimburse Decosta for the idea, a decision that could make Decosta a wealthy man. Employed by the state of Rhode Island as a heavy equipment mechanic, he has five children and 14 gradchildren.

Magistrate Jacob Hagopian ruled that CBS is "required to hand over the proceeds of their wrong to the plaintiff by reason of their unjust enrichment." The show realized a profit of $4 million by 1966, and had an estimated weekly audience of 29 million.

CBS says it will appeal the judgment.

Decosta said yesterday he started legal action in 1957 "two weeks after he first saw the program."

"I just couldn't believe my eyes when I first saw it," he said. "I had a tough time convincing my friends that that guy on the screen was not me." Decosta, who bears a remarkable resemblance Boone, said he has spent $28,000 in legal fees.

He still has several black cowboy suits which he wears when making public appearances, most of them for charity causes.

A former bronco buster, Decosta started in the rodeo business in 1919 and stayed until 1953, when he was thrown from a horse.

"I had all kinds of people requesting photographs and the business cards...some from as far away as California," he said. In his rodeo acts, Decosta did trick riding and shooting, fast drawing and roping.

"There wasn't anybody who could beat me in the fast draw."

He said he has no hard feelings against CBS but feels he was "sort of taken. In fact I sure would like to meet Mr. Boone some day."

The name "Paladin" originated while exercising one of his horses in his hometown of Cranston, R.I., an old Italian gentleman yelled out "Paladino."

"It just struck me that Paladin would be a good name for a Western hero, and I used it as my name in the rodeo act," he said.

Costs May Doom Novel Transit Plan

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — The federal government is considering destroying an experimental transit system called the "People-Mover," rather than pour more money into the project. But the university professor who thought up the idea remains hopeful it will be completed.

The "People-Mover," otherwise called the Personal Rapid Transit System, would use small rubber-tired cars moving on elevated roadways to transport large numbers of persons quickly between the two West Virginia University campuses, and between the campuses and downtown Morgantown.

It is the brainchild of WVU Prof. Samy G. Elias, but its cost has soared from original estimates of under $15 million to $64 million, and could reach $125 million.

Elias complained that the major cost overruns started only after the Urban Mass Transportation Division of the U.S. Transportation Department took over the project about three years ago and began expanding it.

"You don't start building a highway, for example, then two or three years down the road decided that it's costing too much and stop it in the middle of nowhere," Elias said.

Report Supports Petaluma Buses

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A report outlining public transit needs in Petaluma has been accepted by Sonoma supervisors.

Prepared by Kaiser Engineers for the County Transportation advisory committee, Petaluma and the Golden Gate Bridge and Transit District, the report states that a local bus service is badly needed among the "relatively high percentage of elderly in the central and western areas of the city and the relatively high percentage of children in the eastern area."

Key areas for a Petaluma bus service would be the central business district and the shopping centers on the east side, the study said.

The study, which is to be presented soon to the city council, states that part of the need could be met by rerouting Golden Gate Transit routes to connect the east and west sides with an hourly service.

A local bus service is recommended as the best way to meet most of Petaluma's needs.

The study suggests a local service using two to four buses, each capable of holding 15 to 30 passengers.

Petaluma could assemble a local bus system for $66,000 to $221,000, according to the study, depending on the number of buses and routes involved.

It stated that federal and state funds are available for such a service.

The Kaiser report outlined Petaluma's needs without specifying a detailed service plan.

The study concludes that a local bus system would provide transportation to nondrivers while reducing traffic congestion in downtown Petaluma's narrow streets.

The supervisors also agreed Monday to release information showing the route of the proposed Russian River-Cotati Aquaduct, despite the protest of Sonoma Water Agency chief Gordon Miller, who claimed releasing the data would cause speculation on the land involved, which the county will eventually buy.

Out Of Hospital

PRAGUE (UPI) — Czechoslovakia's ailing President Ludvik Svoboda was discharged from a hospital but is unlikely to return to his duties soon, Czechoslovak government officials said yesterday.

WANT TO KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT GROUND BEEF?

IT'S THIS

Nobody can guarantee its exact fat content. There's been lots of talk lately about the fat-lean ratio in ground beef. So why not label each package: Contains X% of fat? Let us tell you why.

We've been making ground beef just about as long as anyone and we know there's no way to make two batches that are exactly alike. Two samples taken from the same batch (or even the same package) can differ in ratio of fat to lean. Even with meticulous care in selecting ingredients, there are variations in fat lean ratio. Even with our most modern grinding and mixing equipment. Even with use of the best available fat-measuring devices.

Yet we know our customers want and expect us to provide them with a choice of ground beef products to meet their varying preferences, tastes and budgets. After long and careful consideration, we have concluded that we can best meet our customers' need for variety by offering just two ground beef products – REGULAR and PREMIUM. We make both kinds from fresh chunks of beef. We prepare both kinds with equal care to maintain the top quality which has helped earn our fine meat reputation.

Our REGULAR is made the way we believe most families prefer their ground beef. It contains enough fat to assure full juiciness in the cooked meat. It makes marvelous hamburgers, meat loaves, meat balls, spaghetti sauce, Salisbury steak and other delicious dishes.

Our PREMIUM is made to please families that want a leaner ground beef. It shrinks less in cooking and makes wonderful ground beef dishes of all kinds – plain and fancy.

Why not try both kinds and see which is preferred by the folks at your house? (You might even want to make a mix with some of each.) The famous Safeway money-back guarantee applies, of course, to our ground beef as to all of our other products.

BAD PARKING BRAKE

Officer Jessie Wiles of the San Rafael Police Department examines the damage to a large delivery truck belonging to the Rodgers Trucking Co. of San Leandro. Driver Patrick R. Loushin of Hayward had parked the truck on a hill on Coleman Drive yesterday morning and was unloading deliveries when the emergency brake failed and it rolled backward down this embankment in front of the James J. Koch residence at 338 Coleman Drive. Loushin jumped clear, unhurt, but the truck, a picket fence and a tree were damaged, officers said. The trucking company was cited for a faulty emergency brake.

Marin Man Arrested On Drug Charge

A 21-year-old Santa Venetia man was arrested last night after suspected narcotics were found in his recently repossessed car.

Booked into Marin County jail on suspicion of possession of narcotics, narcotics for sale, marijuana, and narcotic paraphernalia was Keith James Jackson, 708 Hacienda Way. Bail was not set yet, and he was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said a repossesser for the Bank of America ordered Jackson's car towed to a San Rafael auto agency, and while removing loose items from the car, the repossesser found suspected marijuana, assorted pills, plastic bags and a quantity of white powder in the glove compartment.

Jackson was arrested when he came to the car agency to try to get back his car stereo.

More Tourists

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The city's Convention and Visitors Bureau reported yesterday that 1,759,000 tourists visited San Francisco in 1973 — 164,000 more than the year before.

Stans Tells Of Reply To Vesco On Funding

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maurice H. Stans testified today that he sent word to financier Robert L. Vesco through Edward Nixon, the President's brother, in March 1972, that it made no difference what form Vesco chose to make a $200,000 contribution to the President's campaign fund.

Recounting a meeting with the President's youngest brother on March 29, 1972, which Edward Nixon had requested, Stans said he was told that Vesco wanted to know if he could get maximum anonymity if he gave the money in cash before April 7 and Stans said he could.

Stans said he met Edward Nixon in New York and told him: "Ed, what in the world are you doing here in fund raising? You are the brother of the President and shouldn't have anything to do with fund raising."

He said Nixon replied: "Well, they asked me to talk to you about how you want this contribution. They haven't been able to get in touch with you."

Stans said Nixon had informed him that he had been asked by "Vesco and some of his people" to see Stans and ask about the cash.

"He said 'Vesco wants to know whether you want it in cash. He wants maximum anonymity before April 7.'

"I said: "Ed, I want to get this very straight. You go back and tell Vesco that I don't care what form he gives it. He can give it in cash if he wants to and get maximum anonymity.

"'We'll take it any way he wants. It doesn't make any difference to the committee'."

This testimony corroborated that of Edward Nixon, the first defense witness at the Mitchell-Stans criminal conspiracy trial in federal court here.

Stans and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell are accused of trying to impede a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of Vesco in return for the "secret" $200,000 cash gift.

Stans said he had been familiar with the investigation of Vesco and went to Mitchell for advice on the propriety of taking big money from Vesco.

Stans said that "Mitchell said and I agreed, that there was no reason why, under the circumstances that existed at that time, that we should not accept the contribution."

Viet Veteran Charged On Four Counts

A Vietnam veteran who told police he raped 17 women in Marin was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday in connection with four of the attacks.

Hansel Elwood Smith Jr., 24, of Novato, was ordered to appear April 30 in superior court following a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Gary W. Thomas.

Smith, suspected to being the "bus stop rapist" who attacked two women in Tiburon after they alighted from Golden Gate Transit buses, faces nine felony sex counts.

They are rape, sex perversion and sodomy on a Tiburon Woman Nov. 27; rape, sex perversion and sodomy on another Tiburon woman Jan. 21; rape and sex perversion on a San Rafael woman March 19, and the attempted rape of a Kentfield woman March 31.

Smith remains in Marin County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Conversion Of School Suggested

A citizens advisory committee studying possible reorganization of the Kentfield School District has recommended that Adaline E. Kent elementary and junior high schools be converted to a middle school for sixth, seventh and eighth grade students.

The recommendation followed three months of study, several meetings with parents, and a survey of parents which showed 43 per cent favoring the middle school.

Supt. Eugene C. Peters today said the middle school would allow students more time with one teacher rather than changing classrooms for a new subject and teacher each hour as is done in the junior high.

He said that while the present junior high school more closely resembles a high school in philosophy and scheduling, the middle school would more closely resemble an elementary school.

The committee recommends establishing a middle school curriculum for seventh and eighth grade students at Kent junior high next fall. The entire school year would be devoted to accustoming teachers and students to the middle school approach.

In September, 1975, the program would be expanded to include all district sixth graders. Students in kindergarten through fifth grade at Kent school would be transferred to other district schools.

Peters said most Kent students would be transferred to Anthony G. Bacich School and some Bacich students would be transferred to Greenbrae School. Extensive redrawing of school attendance areas would be required and Peters said such changes would be considered at length in coming months.

"The whole thing is being set up this way to allow one full year of planning," Peters said.

As was the case this year, three classrooms will go unused next year at both Greenbrae and Bacich schools and the junior high will be overcrowded. But with the beginning of the 6-7-8 middle school the following year, all schools will be able to operate at capacity without overcrowding, Peters said.

About twice as much student busing will be required with the middle school, Peters said. Sixth graders from Bacich and Greenbrae will be bused to the middle school and kindergarten through fifth graders from the Kent area will be bused to Bacich and Greenbrae.

While new expenses, including more busing, would total about $9,000, there would be a net saving of $32,000, he said, through some $41,000 retrieved by closing the media center at Kent, eliminating one principal, one teacher and a portable classroom, all no longer needed.

District trustees will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Bacich School to review the committee's report and to consider district reorganization for the 1974-75 school year.

Water Board Hopeful Charges 'Ward-Heel Politics' Attempt

Ben A. Farlatti, of Tiburon, candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 5 seat, has charged that a questionnaire circulated to district candidates "is a scandalous attempt at ward-heel politics in Marin County."

The questionnaire is being circulated by a new organization calling itself the Committee for a Conservationist Majority on the Marin Municipal Water District Board.

Farlatti said a "cabal committee," operating out of a post office box in Forest Knolls, "is attempting to manipulate four separate elections and to thereby control the water supply for the entire southern and central areas of Marin."

He said the "seven slanted questions" were mailed to all candidates by the committee with a letter saying responses would help the committee decide possible endorsements.

"Marin voters do not support slate politics," Farlatti declared.

The questions ask candidates' views on importing water, limiting water supply, reclamation, preserving district lands as open space, water charges and the moratorium on new connections.

Roger Panek of Mill Valley, a director of the committee, told the Independent-Journal that several of the group's directors are active in the campaigns of various candidates for the water board.

Panek said the committee was formed after nearly all known conservationists already had gone to work for the candidates for the board, thus the conflict was inevitable.

Farlatti has named Glenna C. Shelby of Tiburon as his finance chairman and Donald Jarvis of Sausalito as treasurer.

NEESE — Margaret Neese of Ross, candidate for the Marin Municipal Water District's Division 3 seat, has named Mrs. William Bergin of San Rafael as her campaign manager and Mrs. William Willis of Fairfax as her treasurer.

A coffee for Mrs. Neese will be at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the San Anselmo home of Mrs. William Carter, 107 Broadmoor Avenue.

HANSON — A coffee for Howard Hanson of Novato, candidate for Marin County clerk, will be at 7:30 p.m. on April 25 at the Novato home of George Wasson, 2 Womack Court. A wine and cheese party will be at 4 p.m. on April 27 at the San Rafael home of Mrs. George F. Phillips, 1355 Idylberry Road.

BROCKBANK — Elaine Brockbank of Kentfield, candidate for Tamalpais High School District trustee, has said that "too many decisions that affect our local schools are being made in Sacramento; our trustees need to become more knowledgeable about school legislation and involved with it."

Coffees for her campaign will be at 10 a.m. Monday at the Kentfield home of Mrs. Ben Solomon, 22 Berens Drive, and 8 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax home of Mrs. George F. Stone, Bolinas Road.

REEVES — Alan F. Reeves of San Francisco, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, has charged the brother of a fellow candidate with misuse of taxpayer's funds. Reeves said that Rep. Phillip Burton of San Francisco last week sent letters at government expense to an area of the city that is not in his district, but in the district being sought by his brother, Assemblyman John L. Burton, one of Reeves's competitors for the nomination.

CAYLOR — Thomas O. Caylor of San Francisco, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, said yesterday that Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, candidate for his party's nomination for the congressional contest, has voted in Sacramento against strengthening laws on rape and making the manufacture of Molotov cocktails a crime. Caylor, who said he has been the victim of eight crimes during the past four years, said the voters should "elect a representative who takes seriously the problem of lawlessness in our society." He also said Burton voted 56 times against legislative positions taken by the California Peace Officers Association.

BROSHEARS — Rev. Raymond Broshears, candidate for the Peace and Freedom Party nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, has endorsed Proposition 9 on the June ballot, the campaign financing reform measure.

BAPTISTE — Coffees held in Novato for Arnold M. Baptiste of Novato, candidate for reelection in the Fifth Supervisorial District, will be: 3 p.m. Sunday at the home of Elizabeth Doherty, 22 Villa Vista; 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Dr. Ernest F. Berg, 113 Adams Street; 8 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Kimberley Gund, 21 Roca Court, and 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the home of Dickson C. Buxton, 24 Prestwick Court.

Alcohol Abuse Workshop Set At College May 11

"Survival in a Cocktail Culture," a free daylong workshop on alcohol abuse sponsored by the Marin Alcohol Information Committee, will be held May 11 beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the fine arts theater of the College of Marin.

Speeches by three specialists who have studied alcohol abuse will fill the morning program. The speakers and their topics are: Dr. Charles E. Becker, head of San Francisco General Hospital detoxification unit, "Rational 'Medical' Therapy of Alcoholism;" Dr. Robert O'Briant, director of San Francisco's Garden Sullivan Alcoholism program, "Social Rehabilitation;" and Dr. Ronald L. Linder, assistant professor of health education at San Francisco State University, "Alcohol Education."

An Audit Of Amtrak Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., wants an audit of the national rail corporation in order to "take a hard look at what Amtrak is spending all the taxpayers money on."

He said yesterday the corporation is lagging in making promised service expansions.

Aspin asked the corporation for a full report on the number of new cars and engines it has ordered since its inception in 1971 and on projected orders for 1974.

Blessing Of Crafts To Be April 28

The Corinthian Yacht Club will hold its traditional "Pageantry of the blessing of the pleasure craft" in waters off Tiburon beginning at 9:30 a.m. April 28, the opening day of the 1974 yachting season.

The ceremony of the blessing will be performed on the afterdeck of the naval vessel, the Carpenter, which will be anchored in Raccoon Straits off Angel Island. Officiating clergy will include Naval Chaplain Capt. George Wright; Rabbi Leonard S. Cahan of Temple Beth Abraham, Oakland; Rev. George Johnson of St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon and Rev. Edward Wright of the Church of All Faiths of Corte Madera.

Skippers of yachts passing the Carpenter during the ceremony can send their names and addresses to the yacht club to receive honorary certificates signed by the clergymen, according to Corinthian Commodore Thomas Maxwell.

Back To Sea

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Queen Elizabeth 2 steamed across the North Atlantic for Great Britain today, carrying about 1,600 passengers on its first passenger voyage since its boilers broke down at sea April 1.

Breakwater Project Report Is Available

The Army Corps of Engineers, which is repairing the storm-damaged breakwater at Fort Baker, has prepared an environmental assessment and statement of facts and has filed them with the San Francisco Library for public inspection.

Since the proposed repairs entail minor construction with little environmental impact, the corps prepared the statements in lieu of an environmental impact statement, according to Col. J. L. Lammie of the San Francisco district.

The breakwater is located in Horseshoe Bay, 2,500 feet northeast of the north abutment of the Golden Gate Bridge and extends 870 feet westward of Cavallo Point.

The work consists of the placement of 5,000 tons of rock on the existing breakwater side slopes, replacement of approximately 20 feet of concrete cap at the outer end of the breakwater and raising and leveling the end of a timber ramp near the outer end of the breakwater. This will stabilize it to withstand storm waves up to six feet high.

The breakwater protects a marina in Horseshoe Bay and offers access to fishing. The work is being done at the request of the Presidio of San Francisco.

Dominican Sets Session For June 17

Graduate or undergraduate credit courses as well as "enrichment" classes will be available at the six-week summer session at Dominican College in San Rafael June 17-Aug. 2.

A wide variety of 80 courses, ranging from "Christ: Center of Christian Faith," through "Sex Education for the Handicapped" to "Geology of Marin," will be offered.

Sports, art, mathematics, languages, history, education, psychology, sociology and music courses will be available.

Some of the classes will meet at times other than the regular six-week session. Further information may be obtained from Dr. Steven L. Padover, director of the summer session.

Dormitories are available for out-of-town students.

BOYLAN for Water Board

"I believe we can remain within Marin County for the water we need to implement city-county planning goals. For that reason I opposed Measure E, the Russian River water bond, last November. Better alternatives than water importation are available . . . increasing our watersheds, conservation and reclamation."

SUPPORTER FOR PRESENT SPEED

Ever like to express your views about those who are creeping past the new state speed limit of 55 miles per hour and passing you on the freeway? Joe Brady of Los Angeles has decided to do something about it. He has produced a number of these reflective signs in hopes of discouraging those nonthinking motorists who are going faster and faster with the easing up of gasoline supplies.

Budget For Fairfax Schools Is Boosted

The Fairfax School District Board last night hiked a proposed budget for 1974-75 from $1,333,450 to $1,410,152 after adding $76,702 in special education funds and federal grants to the spending program.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said today he has not yet calculated how the proposed spending program will affect this fiscal year's tax rate of $4.20 per $100 assessed valuation.

The board, taking its second look at the proposed budget, added these funds to the program: early childhood education project, $48,602; special library grant, $1,100; interdistrict attendance fund, $15,000, and educationally handicapped program, $12,000.

The board next reviews the spending program, up from this year's $1,333,723 budgets at 7:45 p.m. May 7 in White Hill School, Hammond reported.

Hammond, noting the proposed budget does not include funds for employee pay hikes, said district teachers last night asked for a 12 per cent pay hike, and said classified staff asked for a 17 per cent increase.

The board told Hammond to cost out the wage demands and report back in several weeks.

Hammond said the district committee promoting the proposed multiuse facility at White Hill School meets at 7:30 p.m. today at the school.

Sewer Hookup Costs Are High

An engineer told the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board last night that 25 homeowners on Greenwood Beach Road in Tiburon who are being forced to hook up to the district will have to pay between $8,000 and $10,000 apiece to do so.

The county health department has told the property owners their septic tanks are polluting Richardson Bay, and they will have to connect with the sanitary district.

Board secretary Eber D. Russell said that engineer Edward Nute of San Rafael told district directors the entire sewerage project on Greenwood Beach Road will cost from $197,000 to $260,000, or $8,000 to $10,000 per hookup.

Sonoma Man Arrested As Suspect In Burglary

Novato police arrested a 19-year-old Sonoma man on suspicion of burglary yesterday within minutes after he reportedly fled from a home where neighbors heard a woman screaming.

Officers arrested Kenneth Richard Barling at the Novato Fair shopping center on suspicion of burglary at the home of Jean Evelyn Anderson, 660 Sunset Parkway.

According to police reports, Barling entered the Anderson home through a bathroom window at 11:15 a.m. When confronted by Mrs. Anderson, he struck her and fled, driving away in a tan car.

Police Sgt. Donald Du Par saw a car matching that description going south on South Novato Boulevard and into the Novato Fair shopping center.

The car was located and then Barling, traveling on foot at the shopping center, was arrested at 11:40 a.m. He was booked at the Marin County Jail and bail was set at $5,000.

Talk On Education

Dr. Thomas Lorch, coordinator of instruction and curriculum of Tamalpais High School District, will discuss "the effects of school organization on what students learn in school" at 7:30 p.m. April 25 in Room 1 at the College of Marin gymnasium.

Disabled Children Conference Set

Special educational programs offered by local school systems will be discussed when the state Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children meets at 8 p.m. April 24 in the Pacific Gas and Electric auditorium on Third Street in San Rafael.

A panel of San Anselmo and Ross school district officials will speak on local programs offered for disabled children.

CONTRACT — Accepted as complete the construction of district hearing handicapped facility.

ADJOURNAMENT — Adjourned to today at 8 p.m. in Bacich School to hear a citizens advisory committee report on district reorganization.

Kentfield Board Names New Salary Negotiator

Bryron W. Mauzy, deputy Marin County superintendent of schools, will take over as salary negotiator for trustees of the Kentfield School District, trustees decided last night.

He will replace Eugene C. Peters, superintendent of the Kentfield district, who has been serving as the trustees' negotiator. Peters said it is uncertain what it will cost a hire Mauzy.

Peters said the board acted after meeting in closed session with him to discuss their year's negotiations. He gave no reason for the change.

District teachers have asked for a 12 per cent cost-of-living raise and a 6 per cent upward adjustment of the district's salary schedule in addition to the 2 per cent step increases granted annually.

The Kentfield School District board also:

GIFTED — Authorized spending $3,000 to test 100 district students to help determine those who will participate in a pilot program for "mentally gifted" children next year.

BACICH — Authorizes spending $2,000 for completion of the A. G. Bacich School playground.

LEAVES — Granted leaves of absence for the 1974-75 school year to teachers Barbara Zien and Katherine Jacobs.

Phone Warning Comes Too Late To Save Life Of Bridge Leaper

A telephone warning yesterday to the Highway Patrol that a young San Anselmo woman planned to jump from the Golden Gate Bridge came too late to save her.

Adrienne L. Browne, 21, of 1441 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, leaped to her death from the span about 3:20 a.m.

Officers said a male caller phoned shortly before the jump and the call was promptly relayed to the bridge's toll plaza.

Just as the Highway Patrol officer hung up the telephone, the woman roared through the toll gate at 50 miles an hour.

Benjamin Stricker, a Sebastopol truck driver, saw her car stopped on the west side of the span south of the south tower. She was over the railing, hanging on to it, he told officers.

Stricker said he yelled, "Come back here," and hurried toward her, only to see her lean back, let go of the rail and fall.

Her body was recovered on the beach at Fort Point in the early afternoon.

The Highway Patrol said the warning telephone call had come from Miss Browne's boyfriend, who told them she had left his apartment, threatening to jump from the bridge. He reported that he and Miss Browne had been having an argument, officers said.

Miss Browne was a native of Santa Monica, but had lived most of her life in Marin.

Hotel Tenants Lose A Protest

NEW YORK (UPI) — Residents of the Croyden Hotel, who tried to prevent the hotel's owners from making improvements because they said they would not be able to afford the higher rents that would follow, have lost their fight.

Manhattan Supreme Court Justice Margaret Mangan ruled yesterday the owners were doing nothing illegal by renovating the 17-story Manhattan hotel.

The tenants had argued cutbacks in service were designed to drive them out, but the court said despite some cutbacks, services for the 110 residents were adequate.

NBC 'Today' Host Dies Of Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank W. McGee, a national broadcast newsman and host of NBC-TV's "Today Show," died this morning in a New York hospital from complications of bone cancer he had suffered for several months. He was 52.

McGee, who covered space shots, political conventions and other breaking stories before audiences in the millions, continued to broadcast until Thursday, although friends described him as having been very weak and in great pain. He died at 5 a.m. in Columbia Presbyterian Hospital, which he entered Friday.

The cause of death was attributed to pneumonia, which a network spokesman described as a direct complication of multiple myeloma, a rare form of bone cancer. McGee had been undergoing chemical and radiation therapy for the disease.

McGee, a native of Louisiana, joined the network in 1957, assigned first as a Washington correspondant specializing in space and politics. Two years later he was transferred to New York.

He conducted the "11th Hour News" for WNBC-TV in New York and "The Frank McGee Report" before succeeding Hugh Downs on "Today," an early morning program, on Oct. 11, 1971.

As a newsman, McGee broadcast some 450 instant news specials and during the 1960 presidential campaign, moderated the second "Great Debate" between President John F. Kennedy and then Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He was the recipient in 1966 of a George Foster Peabody award, one of the highest distinctions in broadcast journalism, and received several other awards and citations for his reporting.

White Collar Work Gaining

SACRAMENTO (UPI) - More jobs will be available to Californians in the field of white collar work, especially for clerks, during the next three years than any other category, according to a state report released yesterday.

A total of 550,000 new jobs are expected by 1975 because of employment expansion, while another 900,000 openings are forecast because of workers leaving their jobs.

The report was prepared by the Employment Development Department.

Toll Of Brazilian Floods Is Rising

FORTALEZA, Brazil (UPI) — At least 70,000 persons are homeless and at least seven persons dead from floods that continue to devastate the northeastern state of Ceara, Gov. Cesar Cals said yesterday.

Torrential rains have continued without letup since the weekend.

Sausalito Sets Terminal Policy

Sausalito city councilmen last night adopted an official policy statement opposing plans by the Golden Gate Bridge District for a temporary ferry terminal to handle the district's new 750-passenger boats.

In the brief statement, the city contended the bridge district's proposed new ferry, as compared to the existing 675-passenger vessel, would establish a scale of operation incompatible with the city general plan adopted in December 1970.

The statement was prepared by a seven-member committee appointed at a council session last Tuesday. Councilman Sally Stanford opposed it. Councilman Leonard Rappa, who voted in favor of the bridge district's plans last week, said he had changed his mind in the absence of assurances from the district that the new boat would be put into service only on an experimental basis.

Planning director Herb Case differed with the policy measure. He said the city should not oppose improvements or expansion of the downtown terminal, nor the larger vessels, but should work toward an agreement with the district that would guarantee that the present level of service is maintained.

Councilmen received last night from bridge district attorney Thomas Jenkins a five-page memo responding to city objections to district plans.

Asked for his interpretation of the document, City Atty. Leland H. Jordan replied that, as he understood it, the memo says the district "won't make any guarantees, but they will cooperate" with the city.

The staff of the bridge district has proposed the new ferry be limited to carrying 675 passengers pending an environmental impact report due next fall on a permanent downtown terminal. The matter is under study by a committee of district directors.

Flap Settled; Arts Festival Gets Grant

The 24th Sausalito Art Festival will be staged this year with $1,000 granted last night by the city council, which also named last year's festival director to head this year's show.

The action was over the objection of Sausalito artist Serge Trubach, who charged that with the death of artist Jean Varda the festival had steadily gone downhill in quality and had turned into "a flea market."

His offer to head the festival and stage it for a week along the waterfront at Earl F. Dunphy Park was rejected by the council. Trubach maintained that the event's director and all other organizers should not be paid.

Fairfax resident Barbara Veatch Vorhees received $1,000 for her work last year when the festival was sponsored by Sausalito artists and merchants. She was appointed to head a committee that is to present a formal proposal outlining this year's show for the council.

Councilmen also voted unanimously to hold the festival for the second consecutive year on the playground at Central School. They offered Trubach the job of artistic director, with Mrs. Vorhees acting as general manager, but the artist turned the post down because of strenuous objections to the school site, which he said resembles a cage. "Let the festival die on the pavement," he remarked.

According to Mrs. Vorhees' plan, the festival would again be held over the three-day Labor Day Weekend.

Condominium Foe Is New Planning Commissioner

J. Gordon Levinson, who spearheaded a referendum drive against a condominium development because of its harsh environmental effect, last night was named to the Sausalito Planning Commission.

Councilmen emerged from closed session to announce the selection of Levinson from among seven applicants for the post vacated when Violeta Autumn was elected to the city council.

Levinson, an attorney, was a leader of a signature campaign against the 12-unit Glen Grove condominium project approved by the council.

More than 600 signatures were obtained and councilman recently rescinded their approval of the project and are now involved in a court fight with the developer.

Levinson is a member of the Sierra Club, the San Francisco Bar Association and the Mechanics Institute. He is single and lives at 260 Spencer Avenue.

Councilmen also named Janet Tracy as new city clerk. She formerly was deputy city clerk but had functioned as city clerk since the resignation of Miriam Ansell. Councilman Robin Sweeny was appointed chairman of the city finance committee.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

TAXI — Formally granted a 10 per cent rate increase to Yellow Cab Co. Persons over 65 will be exempt from the fare hike, from 60 to 70 cents per mile, and May obtain discount script books from the Marin Senior Coordinating Council.

CASA MADRONA — Postponed a decision on condemning the Casa Madrona Hotel, weakened by mudslides, until May 7.

DEVELOPMENT — Passed on first reading an ordinance that would make all building projects requiring an enviornmental impact report subject to scrutiny by the planning commission. The measure would apply to all projects, including those pending with the city currently. Councilmen Sally Stanford and Leonard Rappa opposed.

Adjournment — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday in council chambers.

Mother Is Paid For Jailed Son

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida House voted yesterday to pay Mrs. Pearl Eisentrager $8,000 for the 14 years her son served in prison for a rape he did not commit.

On Monday, the House had voted to pay her son, Jesse D. Daniels, $75,000 for his incarceration.

Daniels was confined in the state mental hospital after being arrested for a rape which police now concede he did not commit.

Quote Credited To Wrong Man

Novato planning commissioner George E. McDaniel said "a regional center on the Pinheiro ranch is a dead issue" at a commission meeting Tuesday night.

The Independent-Journal yesterday erroneously attributed the quotation to commissioner John C. Schoonover.

County Plan's Basic Goals Called Solid

In that case, McDonald told a press conference following his report, developers should be required to come up with plans for developments — on several sites at once if necessary — to balance new housing with new jobs. This would involve pairing residential plans with new industrial or commercial developments, he explained.

One countywide water and waste agency should be created to combine the two water districts and many sanitation districts now dotting Marin, the report says.

The supervisors should encourage city annexation of rapidly growing areas that need urban services. At the same time, McDonald said, specific areas that are urban in nature but don't want to incorporate should be "recognized and stabilized." The consultants mentioned Marin City, Kentfield, Alto-Strawberry, Tamalpais and the Marinwood-Upper Lucas Valley areas as examples.

One senior county official should become responsible for coordinating all federal grant applications having any bearing on the plan's goals, from the county, cities and districts, the report suggests.

More power for the open space district, eventual unification of fire services and getting the Association of Bay Area Governments to adopt the Marin County plan "in toto as a subelement of the ABAG regional plan" conclude the list of recommendations.

The taxpayer, but not the developer, will feel little difference whether the county hews to the long-range plan or allows growth under free market conditions, McDonald reported.

The consultants compared three theoretical models for financial effect: the county plan as adopted last June, a no-growth model freezing the county population as it was in 1970, and a so-called growth-oriented model. The report calls each of the hypothetical financial pictures "scenarios."

Both the countywide plan scenario and the growth-oriented scenario would produce a total local property tax burden of about $350 per capita (using 1970 dollars) by the year 1990, the experts found. No-growth policy would trim the tax bill to about $250 — mainly by reducing school enrollments.

(County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell estimated that the county portion of the tax bill is roughly one fourth of the total property tax. Noting an $84 per capita county bill in 1970, he calculated a total 1970 per capita bill of $336 and expressed surprise at the "conservative estimate" of the consultants.)

The total cost of public services under the county plan scenario would be $907 per capita per year by 1990, compared with about $781 under the free market, growth-oriented model and less than $561 in a no-growth situation.

"The county's tax base will grow faster than the cost of public service under all three scenarios," McDonald said. But, he admitted, the firm's studies contradict the Palo Alto and Menlo Park studies that argued it was cheaper to put land into open space than to allow its development. Those studies, he explained, "were based on development of low-cost housing that required more government services than they paid for in increased tax base."

Marin will remain a high-cost, commuter-oriented county with constantly rising property values, the consultants predicted.

McDonald dismissed the argument that the employment goals might not be reached because Marin residents appear to oppose new industry and commerce, saying that it was not among the public but among the county planning staff that "we don't think the attitude is right."

As the 1990 plan now stands, the housing mix could cost $310 million in 1970 dollars from local investments, the consultants found.

This could spur "a taxpayers' revolt," McDonald told reporters, because the cost would be equivalent to a hike in the property tax rate countywide of $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation. "We can't find the money" for the subsidized housing in the county's resources, McDonald said.

By reducing the number of proposed publicly subsidized units and imposing a development tax on new private construction, the county plan's housing element costs would "hit the newcomer but wouldn't be inequitable," McDonald predicted.

He estimated the development tax might add $2,000 to the cost of each unit built to sell at normal Marin market prices. "We really prefer a value-added tax," he said.

An annual growth-control limit isn't needed to prevent governmental service costs from exceeding revenues, the consultants' statistics indicated, but "we conclude nonetheless that a growth control mechanism is essential" if the goals of providing low and moderate income housing, market priced housing and employment growth are to remain balanced. "It will be far more costly" to restore the balance later than to maintain it through the years, the economists said.

They recommended setting upper limits on each factor for five-year periods, and agreements between the county and the cities to observe the limits.

Should either of the housing goals or the job goal be found lagging, the local governments should use their regulatory powers to brake the other factors until the lagging goal is caught up, the report suggests.

McDonald delivered 200 copies of the summary to the supervisors, as provided in the consultant's contract. He also suggested the county seek a grant to finance publishing the 400-plus pages of the technical study, which cost $5 a copy.

Board Chairman Michael Wornum said the board's agenda yesterday was too heavy to permit any public comment on the report, but promised to set public hearings on the economic impact study after citizens read it.

He asked McDonald and County Administrator John F. Barrows to report to the board next week on costs of publishing more copies of the summary and the technical survey.

Wornum commented that the consultants' "excellent presentation happily treads on every political toe in the county" but said the report "should be widely decimated — er, disseminated — throughout the county."

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste urged that the slide show explaining the summary be presented to groups throughout the county. McDonald said the show cost his firm $2,000 to prepare, and wasn't in the contract to turn over to the county. But, he said, arrangements may be made to duplicate the show.

The supervisors, running far behind on a long agenda, postponed to next Tuesday their discussion of one recommendation made earlier by the economic consultants — that $1.5 million be included in the capital outlay budget to begin accomplishing the long-range plan's goals.

Also put off was discussion on the suggestion that the county public works department take over functions of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency in working toward the low and moderate-cost housing goals.

Nader To Talk On Friday At Sonoma State

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader will speak at Sonoma State College at 1 p.m. Friday in the main gymnasium at the Rohnert Park campus.

Nader is the founder of the Center for the Study of Responsive Law, where young lawyers dubbed "Nader's Raiders" research public interest issues, according to a college spokesman.

He came to prominence in 1965 when he wrote "Unsafe at Any Speed," a book critical of what Nader called the designed-in dangers of American automobiles.

Nader's Sonoma State apperance is sponsored by the sociology club and the film makers' scholarship club. Admission will be charged.

Burton Files For Mailliard's Post

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, has filed for the special election June 4 in the Sixth Congressional District to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of William S. Mailliard.

The term expires at the end of the year. Burton also is a candidate in the regular primary in the new Fifth District. Both districts include all of Marin.

Kingergarten Registration Set

Preregistration for kindergarteners who will begin school next fall in the Reed School District will be held next Tuesday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., according to Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello.

Registration will be Tuesday at Belvedere School, Wednesday at Bel Air School and Thursday at Granada School.

To be eligible, children must be 5 years of age on or before Dec. 2, 1974. Proof of age will be requested.

The district nurse will be on hand to test vision hearing. Kindergarten teachers will be present.

Preservation Ordinance Hits Snag

Petaluma's proposed historical building preservation ordinance will be reconsidered by the city council at its May 6 meeting.

The proposal ran into a snag at Monday's council session when the Petaluma Area Chamber of Commerce asked that no action be taken until local merchant organizations meet with the Mayor's Select Committee on Historical Preservation, which helped draft the ordinance, to determine whether it would adversely affect local businesses.

The ordinance calls for creation of an advisory committee which would recommend to the planning commission whether specific buildings would be protected by a special status prohibiting their destruction or modification.

City Clerk Lillian Nommsen said City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer was asked by the council to set up the meeting between merchants and the select committee so that any changes could be included in the ordinance before its reintroduction before the council.

The Petaluma City Council also:

DESIGN — Set May 6 as the date to select the winning symbol for the Petaluma bicentennial celebration from those submitted by citizens.

LIGHTS — Introduced an ordinance allowing businesses to use searchlights for promotional events.

ANNEXATION — Annexed three acres in North Petaluma in the Madison Street area.

HOSE — Approved purchase of new fire hoses for $10,700 from the B.F. Goodrich Co. and L.N. Curtis and Sons.

LIBRARY — Approved use of the old city library building as a site for a historical library and museum, as requested by the bicentennial steering committee.

TAXES — Questioned whether Sonoma County's plans for a county-wide library system would be suitable for Petaluma, which on March 5 approved a $750,000 bond issue to finance a new library in Kenilworth Park. County supervisors are considering a tax equalization scheme to finance the system.

GYM — Agreed to meet with the recreation commission to determine whether the city swimming center would be a suitable location for a gymnasium facility. City gym equipment is now in Kenilworth Park, a location the recreation commission considers inconvenient.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. May 6.

Concert Of Sacred Music Planned

Breads From Around The World

BREADS FROM around the world are being baked to stock Grandmother's Cupboard at the Marin County Antiques Show in Sausalito tomorrow through Saturday. Mrs. John Harman butters and folds Norwegian flat bread, and Mrs. Richard Jessup carries Montana rolls fresh from the oven. (Photo by Jim Kean)

Home-baked breads from around the world will be featured at Grandmother's Cupboard during the 22nd annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale at IDESST Hall in Sausalito tomorrow through Saturday.

The event is sponsored by Episcopal Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

Mrs. John Linker is Cupboard chairman and Mrs. Gerald Frank is her assistant.

Unusual is lefsa, the Norwegian flat bread, which is spread with butter, jam or cheese, and folded so that it can easily be slipped in the pocket of a goatherd or shepherd taking the flocks to high pastureland. It could be a perfect trail snack for Marin hikers. Carol Lawson of Mill Valley treasures the recipe, which was handed down from her grandmother. The original recipe measured flour by the "handful".

Other breads will represent the baking of France, Sweden, Ireland, Israel, Italy and Germany. The international theme will also be carried out in cookies and desserts. Other take-home items will be fudge, brownies, jams, jellies and chutney.

LEFSA, NORWEGIAN FLAT BREAD

4 cups riced, cooked, hot potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1½ Tbsp. sugar
¼ cup lard (butter or margarine may be substituted), melted
2 Tbsp. milk
2 cups sifted all purpose flour

Mix potatoes with milk and lard. Chill one hour. Add sugar, salt, flour. Form balls the size of golf balls from the batter. Chill one hour. Roll out to paper-thin rounds about five inches in diameter. Cook on heated griddle or skillet until light brown. Turn and cook on the other side.

Makes about two dozen.

Irish Soda Bread is a specialty of Ellen Brennan of Mill Valley.

IRISH SODA BREAD

4 cups sifted all purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
2 Tbsp. carraway seeds
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cup raisins
1⅓ cup buttermilk
1 whole egg
1 tsp. baking soda
1 egg yolk beaten

Sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder into a mixing bowl. Stir in carraway seeds. Cut in butter until mixture looks like coarse corn meal. Stir in raisins. Combine buttermilk, the whole egg and baking soda. Stir into flour mixture, just enough to moisten dry ingredients.

Turn onto floured board and knead lightly until dough is smooth. Shape in a ball and place in a greased two quart casserole. With a sharp knife, cut a four inch cross about one-half inch deep in the center of the dough. Brush with beaten egg yolk.

Bake in a 375 degree oven, about one hour, or until a cake tester comes out clean.

Cool the bread in the casserole for 10 minutes. Remove from casserole and cool on a wire rack before cutting.

To serve, cut down through the loaf to divide in quarters. Cut each quarter into thin slices.

Makes one loaf.

The Swedish Rye Bread is a favorite of Teresa Hammond and Elizabeth Brennan, teenagers, who belong to the Senior Youth Group of the Church of Our Saviour.

SWEDISH RYE BREAD

¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup light molasses
1 Tbsp. salt
2 Tbsp. shortening
1½ cups boiling water
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water (110 to 115 degrees)
2½ cups rye flour
2 to 3 Tbsp. Carraway seeds.
3½ to 4 cups sifted all purpose flour

Combine brown sugar, molasses, salt, and shortening in a large bowl. Pour boiling water into the mixture. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool to lukewarm.

Sprinkle yeast on warm water, and stir to dissolve.

Stir and measure rye flour. Add to brown sugar mixture, beating well. Stir in yeast and carraway seeds. Beat until smooth. Mix in enough all purpose flour a little at a time, first with a spoon, and then by hand, to make a smooth soft dough.

Turn out on a lightly floured board and knead until satiny and elastic (about 10 minutes.)

Place dough in lightly greased bowl. Turn dough over to grease top. Cover and let rise in a warm place until dough is doubled (about one and a half to two hours.

Punch down. Turn dough onto lightly floured board and divide in half. Round the dough to make two balls. Cover and let dough rest 10 minutes.

Shape into loaves and place in two greased 8½ inch by 4½ inch by 2½ inch loaf pans.

Cover and let rise in a warm place until almost doubled in bulk (about one and a half to two hours).

Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes, covering with a sheet of aluminum foil the last 15 minutes if loaves seem to be browning too fast.

Turn onto wire rack to cool. Brush loaves with melted butter while warm, if a soft crust is desired.

WITH SHRIMP

An Easy Curry Dish To Prepare

Curry goes well with shrimp and rice and this recipe provides both. The shrimp is broiled until golden brown and sizzling hot, then served atop hot fluffy rice. The curry sauce has onion and ginger added for an intriguing flavor, and is served hot over the shrimp. Easily and quickly prepared but delectable to eat, this shrimp entree is one you'll want to serve often while shrimp is on the best buy list.

SHRIMP WITH CURRY SAUCE

2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen breaded shrimp
Cooking oil
¼ cup finely chopped onion
⅓ cup margarine or cooking oil
¼ cup flour
2 to 3 tsp. curry powder (or as desired)
2 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. ginger
2½ cups milk
6 servings hot fluffy rice

Dip frozen shrimp in cooking oil. Arrange on shallow baking pan. Broil about three inches from heat, for eight to 10 minutes, or until browned and hot, turning once. Cook onion in margarine or cooking oil until tender, but not brown. Stir in flour, curry powder, sugar, salt, and ginger. Add milk; cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened. Serve shrimp on rice with sauce.

Makes six servings.

EASY DINNER with a host of flavor, shrimp with curry sauce tops white rice, and fresh asparagus and some fresh fruit fill out the platter.

Leftover Chicken Can Be Turned Into Tasty Treat

Here's a quick and tasty use for small amounts of leftover chicken. Combine the chopped chicken — or turkey if you wish —with pineapple tidbits in a tangy pineapple sauce; use it as a sumptuous filling for almond-rich pancake foldovers. (Made from a mix, of course, for quick and easy preparation.) Garnish with dollops of sour cream and sprinklings of more sliced almonds. Then eat hearty, friends!

CHICKEN-PINEAPPLE FOLDOVERS

Makes four servings

1 13¼-oz. can pineapple tidbits
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped cooked chicken
1 cup pancake mix
1 cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon melted or liquid shortening
¼ cup sliced almonds

For filling, drain pineapple tidbits, reserving juice. Add lemon juice and enough water to make 1 cup liquid. Combine cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Gradually add pineapple liquid. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Add pineapple tidbits and chicken. Heat thoroughly.

For pancakes, place mix, milk, egg and shortening in bowl. Stir until batter is fairly smooth. Add almonds. Using 1/4 cup batter per pancake, pour batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle to make eight pancakes. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once.

To serve, place 1 heaping tablespoonful of filling on one-half of each pancake: fold over. Top with dollops of dairy sour cream and additional sliced almonds.

Correct Times For Defrosting Chickens

Whole frozen chickens that weigh three pounds or less defrost in about 12 hours at refrigerator temperature.

To thaw at room temperature, allow two to three hour per pound for whole chicken, or one and a half to two hours per pound for smaller part.

Liver Dish Geared To Rush Meal

When the accent is on speed, good eating and nutrition need not suffer. With the right menu and astute planning, a fine meal can be on the table in a flash — especially when a speedy main dish is selected.

Super Liver Slices bake in 12 to 15 minutes after brief preliminaries. The slices are first spread with Thousand Island dressing, then coated with seasoned bread crumbs that are flecked with paprika and minced parsley. The end result is crisp and delicious.

SUPER LIVER SLICES

1½ pounds beef liver, sliced ½ to ¾ inch thick
1 cup fine bread crumbs
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 teaspoons paprika
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup Thousand Island dressing

Combine bread crumbs, minced parsley, paprika, salt and pepper. Spread liver slices on both sides with Thousand Island dressing. Dredge in seasoned crumbs to coat thoroughly. Place breaded liver on greased jelly roll pan. Bake, uncovered, in hot oven (400 F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Serves six.

A Sampling Of Special Breads, Cakes For Those Special Events

Special breads and cakes will be a luncheon treat at the Marin Designers' Showcase which will open Monday at 47 Laurel Grove Avenue, Ross, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and continue daily except Sundays through May 11.

The showcase, a benefit for the Volunteer Bureau of Marin, Inc. will feature rooms furnished by Bay Area interior designers at "Monte Alegre", the estate of the late Vernon Skewes-Cox. Luncheon will be served Mondays through Fridays by reservation.

Food chairmen Mrs. Donald Pfister and Mrs. George Bond, both of San Rafael, have chosen some of the recipes for readers. These breads and cakes can be served through the day with coffee, as well as at meals.

BROWN SUGAR BROWNIES

2 cubes margarine or butter, melted
3 cups brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
4 beaten eggs
2 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder
2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. vanilla
1½ to 1¾ cups nuts

Melt margarine, add brown and white sugars, and stir until blended. Cool. Stir in eggs. Sift together dry ingredients and stir into mixture. Stir in vanilla and nuts. Spread in a greased jelly-roll pan, 10 by 15 inches. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until done. Do not overbake.

Cut into squares while warm.

Yields 60 bars.

APPLE CINNAMON BREAD

Makes two large loaves

2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups sugar
2 cups flour
2 tsp. baking soda
2 tsp. fresh cinnamon
¾ tsp. salt
½ cup plus 2 tbsp. oil
1 cup chopped walnuts
4 cups finely chopped, peeled apples

Cream eggs, vanilla and sugar and add one-half cup plus two tablespoons oil and two tablespoons water. Beat until smooth. Sift together flour, baking soda, cinnamon and salt. Stir dry ingredients into egg mixture.

Add chopped walnuts and apples. Turn into greased and floured loaf pans 8½ x 4½ inches. Bake at 325 degrees for one hour, or until tests done.

LEMON BREAD

Serves about 15

½ cup shortening
2 eggs
1½ cup flour
½ tsp. salt
Juice of 1 lemon
1¼ cups sugar
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1 tsp. baking powder
½ cup milk

Cream shortening and one cup sugar. Add eggs, beating well. Stir in rind. Sift together dry ingredients, adding alternately with milk, mixing gently.

Pour into greased wax paper-lined 9 x 5 inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees 55-60 minutes, until done. Combine juice of one lemon and one-fourth cup sugar and spoon over the hot bread.

ORANGE POUR-OVER CAKE

1 pkg. white or yellow cake mix
⅓ cup water
1 cup raisins
1 cup nuts
2 tbsp. grated orange peel

Remove one-fourth cup of cake mix and combine with nuts and raisins. Prepare cake according to directions with two eggs, but adding only one-third cup water. Stir in orange peel and fruit mixture.

Pour into a greased and floured bundt pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 55 to 60 minutes. Let cool in pan and remove for syrup.

Type Of Milk On Mozzarella Package

Mozzarella is a semisoft cheese that may be made from whole or partly skimmed milk. When it is packaged, the kind of milk used in its making is specified on the package.

Good Combination

Both beef and fresh asparagus are plentiful — and one of the season's best combinations. Cook asparagus spears until just crisp tender. Then arrange on a pretty platter with pan broiled minute steaks or thinly sliced top round steak. A fresh mushroom sauce would be delicious topping for both.

Bill Stewart, East Wenatchee, Washington

"You can still taste October freshness in my apples."

How can April apples taste almost as crisp and juicy as the day they were fresh-picked in October? Simple. We store them in a specially controlled atmosphere, so there isn't a time, from orchard to market, when a cold, crisp Delicious won't be exactly that. Delicious.

Wm G. Stewart

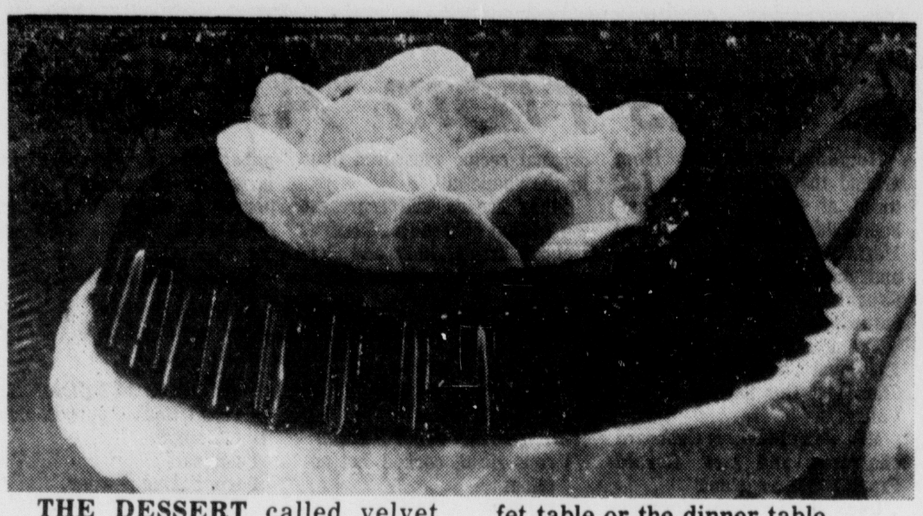
- 1 lemon
- 3 large Bananas

In a two-quart saucepan, combine concentrated grape juice and water. Sprinkle gelatin into juice and heat over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture just comes to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in concentrated lemonade and port.

If desired, strain mixture to remove lemon pulp fragments. Pour into a seven-cup ring mold. Chill several hours, until firm. Unmold onto serving plate. Thinly slice lemon; peel and slice bananas. Arrange bananas and lemon slices in center of ring. Makes six to eight servings.



THE DESSERT called velvet fruit crown will enhance the buffet table or the dinner table.

Chi Chow Offers Beef, Beer And Bamboo Shoots

East meets West in this Chi Chow dish and combines American beef and beer with bamboo shoots and water chestnuts to form the exotic entree. A beer-flavored soy sauce elegantly blends vegetables and beef, and a speck of ginger added to your rice truly enlivens this dish.

Appropriate accompaniments: Mandarin oranges, almond cookies, glasses of ice cold beer, and your meal is complete!

CHI CHOW

- 1½ pounds sirloin or round steak, 1 inch thick
- 2 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 8 oz. (approximately 2 cups) fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 (8 oz.) can bamboo shoots, drained
- 1 (8 oz.) can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
- 1 medium onion, cut in wedges
- ⅓ cup sliced scallions
- ½ cup condensed beef broth
- 1 cup beer
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 5 teaspoons cornstarch
- ½ cup soy sauce.
- Ginger Rice

Partially freeze meat, slice as thinly as possible in crosswise pieces. (If sirloin is used trim off excess fat.) Brown meat in hot oil in skillet, Dutch oven or wok. Add mushrooms, bamboo shoots, water chestnuts, onion and scallions, beef broth, beer, sugar and salt. Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Cover and simmer 5 minutes.

Blend cornstarch and soy sauce. Stir into meat mixture. Cook, stirring constantly until sauce is thickened and bubbly. Serve over Ginger Rice. Serves four to six persons.

Up To A Year

This Dish Of Grits Is Hearty

Heres a dish elegant enough for a company brunch, but hearty enough to please a ravenous family. Its flavor and nutrient-rich, thanks not only to the iron and B-vitamins of the enriched grits, but to the addition of dry milk solids, grated American cheese and eggs as well.

GRITS LE GRANDE

- 4 cups water*
- 1 cup dry milk solids
- 2 tsps. salt
- 1 cup enriched white hominy quick grits
- 1 cup grated American cheese
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 4 eggs

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Place water, dry milk solids and salt in saucepan: stir well and bring to boil. OIL. Slowly stir in grits. Reduce heat and cook two and a half to five minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Stir in half a cup of the cheese and butter. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition.

Pour mixture into greased shallow two-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining half cup of cheese. Bake in preheated oven at 350 degrees about 30 minutes.

(*To use regular grits, increase water to five cups. Cook, covered 25 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.)

Serves eight.

A Hearty Snack

Here's a meatless, hearty snack with will please all members of the family, cheesy onion broil. Saute two medium onions, thinly sliced, in one-fourth cup (one-half stick) of butter, seasoned with one-half teaspoon salt. Butter six slices of toast and place on broiler pan. Spread each slice with one tablespoon chili sauce, then divide onions over toast. Top each with a thick slice of Cheddar cheese and broil until the cheese melts.

Scandia Salad

To assemble a glamorous buffet salad platter, mound bite-size chunks of western iceberg lettuce on a large plate lined with outer lettuce leaves. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Arrange sliced pickled beets, canned green beans and onion rings around the base and spoon herring in sour cream over the center of the lettuce mound.

BETH KAY listens to a 30-minute interview that must be cut to a 30-second spot for a radio public service announcement. She and her husband, Jerry, operate Environmental Interchange from their home in the hills above the San Geronimo Valley. Its purpose is to provide high quality public service announcements at low cost for community agencies. They recently did a spot for the Marin Young Men s Christian Association.

Couple Sees A Need And Tries To Fill It

By JOAN LISETOR

When Beth and Jerry Kay met several years ago at a workshop in Southern California sponsored by the Young Men's Christian Association, he was a dramatics teacher at St. Rose Academy in San Francisco and she was a student at Chapman College in Orange, majoring in sociology.

Today the couple lives casually in a home in the hills above the San Geronimo Valley, where they operate Environmental Interchange, a nonprofit corporation producing public service announcements for service agencies.

Environmental Interchange is both a cause and a result of the change in life style the couple has made.

Out of the teaching field, Jerry Kay is now public affairs director for radio station KFRC. Beth, who left Chapman College when they were married, finished her education at Lone Mountain College in San Francisco in 1971.

"Sociology was a real zero. I wasn't career-oriented, but I went to work for the U.S. Department of Agriculture in San Francisco," she said. "I worked there for a year and decided I wanted to do something on my own."

THE COUPLE was living in Strawberry, where they felt "mashed in."

"We found this place last year. It had room for a studio, and out of that a different life style began, which led to Environment Interchange," Beth said.

"Our motivation was our belief in the importance of the media, what public affairs and public service are all about. Jerry was aware there weren't quality public service announcements available, and a lot get thrown in the trash when organizations have paid a high price to have them made. Most are overpriced. We felt we could give that service to community organizations, not charge as much and give quality service," she said.

They soon discovered their attitude was idealistic, she said.

"We thought, 'Radio needs us, they'll love it!' " she said, "but we found out our biggest problem was marketing."

They have made spots for the American Civil Liberties Union, the Environmental Protection Agency, Edgewood Home in San Francisco and just completed a spot for the Marin Young Men's Christian Association's day camp program.

Beth does the master interview, which usually takes about 30 minutes. The 30-minute tape is played over and over until Beth picks the cuts that will be used on the 30 or 60-second spot. Her husband does the narrative, and the result is a lively commercial.

"I LIKE it when it moves. A spot has a lot of interest when it has different types of voices," she said.

The technical aspects Kay has learned from being around a radio station. What he has learned about editing, splicing and operating technical equipment he has passed on to his wife. Their philosophy about broadcasting is from within.

When Kay was a student at Abraham Lincoln High School in San Francisco a friend died as a result of drugs. Out of his concern grew a radio show, "Speed Kills." He was a student at San Francisco State College in the late '60s and saw the media interpretation of the riots there. He saw then the importance of the media and the need for positive input, his wife said.

The Kays hope to finance Environment Interchange with grants during its first year. After that they hope to change its status from nonprofit to self-supporting. As it is, they are fortunate to break even after expenses, they said.

BETH EXPLAINED that the name Environmental Interchange was chosen because, "environment means the surrounding of any individual, no matter where he is, in an urban or a rural setting. Interchange is the exchange between the community and broadcasters."

Their future plans are to syndicate radio shows, hopefully for children and senior citizens, possibly to provide an alternative new service and to take their ideas for spots to more community agencies to get their messages out.

Carol Ecker Marries Robert Scott Morse

Carol Louise Ecker of Greenbrae became the bride of Robert Scott Morse of Walnut Creek in an April 6 ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

Carol s sister Beverly Ecker of Greenbrae was the honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Kristian Whitten of Los Angeles, Mrs. James Kennedy of Oakland; Susan Guletz of Borrego Springs and Lyn Morse of Novato, Robert s sister.

Rowland Reeves of Auburn performed the best man duties. The ushers were Kenneth Ecker of Seattle, Wash., brother of the bride; James Kennedy of Oakland, Kelly Moore of Berkeley and Randall Humphries of Seattle.

A reception was held at the Meadow Club. Afterward the couple left on a wedding trip south along the California coast. They will live in Walnut Creek.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ecker of Greenbrae, Carol is a graduate of Redwood High School and the University of California at Berkeley and she studied at the University of Padua, Italy, for a year. She is employed by Firemans Fund American Insurance Co. in Walnut Creek.

Carol is the granddaughter of Mrs. F. H. Irwin of San Rafael.

Robert is the son of Lt. Col. (USA-ret.) Gordon K. Morse of Novato. A graduate of Chofu High School in Tokyo, Japan, and the University of California at Berkeley, he is a teacher in the Murray School District in Dublin.

He is the brother of Nancy Morse, attending the University of California at San Diego Medical School, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Weber of Novato.

Exercise Should Accompany Diet

Diet alone, exercise alone, or a combination of the two will all bring about the same reduction in skinfold and girth measurements as well as weight loss, investigators told a meeting of the American College of Sports Medicine.

However, the results of a study comparing the three methods in 25 women between the ages of 25 and 40 showed that the regimens that included exercise produced more desirable changes in body composition. The study was conducted at Kent State University's applied physiology laboratory.

Newlyweds Will Live In Sausalito

Jean Evelyn Comerford of Sausalito became the bride of Frederick Howard Krauss of Oakland in a ceremony at Star of the Sea Church in Sausalito on April 6.

They will live in Sausalito after a trip to Cabos San Lucas in Baja California.

Jean was attended at the ceremony by her sisters Carol Wallgren of Auburn as matron of honor and Mary Marvier of Novato as bridesmaid.

The reception was given at the Caprice restaurant in Tiburon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Comerford of San Francisco. A graduate of Abraham Lincoln High School in San Francisco, she attended California State University, San Francisco and was graduated from Dominican College.

Jean is employed by Pacific Manor School in Pacifica.

Frederick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krauss of Oakland. Now employed by Western Pacific in San Francisco, he is a graduate of Castlemont High School in Oakland and Armstrong College.

Susan Pflueger Named As Advisory Chairman

Susan Pflueger of Mill Valley has been named chairman of the Marin County Child Care Planning and Advisory Committee, an advisory committee for the county.

The committee is made up of consumers, providers and agency representatives in the child care service field. It serves as an advocacy group and as a resource for the community with respect to planning, use and quality of child care services and facilities.

The committee has compiled a directory of child care and related children s services that will be published April 27 in the Marin Living Section of the Independent-Journal. On May 4 the committee will sponsor a "Marin County Workshop on Children, featuring sessions on parenting, family communication and children s services.

Mrs. Pflueger is self employed as a planning and social policy analyst and is a member of the American Institute of Planners and the Society of Planning Officials. She is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley with a degree in planning. Her husband, Dr. Otto Pflueger Jr., is a pathologist. They have two sons, Jeffrey, 4, and Justin, 2 years old.

Officers to serve with Mrs. Pflueger are Nancy Brengle of San Rafael, vice chairman Edith Willat of Mill Valley, secretary and Donna Huckins of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services, staff assistant.

Chrystal Nickolas Is Engaged

The engagement of Chrystal Marie Nickolas of Tiburon to Terence Kent Cuddyre of Oakland was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Holmes Jr., at a dinner party at their home on Paradise Cay.

Chrystal is the granddaughter of Mrs. Antigone Ladas of Athens, Greece. She was graduated from Redwood High School, attended the University of Utah in Salt Lake City for two years, and is a senior at the University of California at Santa Barara. She is president of the Pi Beta Phi chapter at the University.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cuddyre Jr. of Oakland. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cuddyre and Mrs. Nancy Grady, all of Oakland.

He was graduated from Skyline High School in Oakland, and also attends the University of California at Santa Barbara. He is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity, is UCSB coordinator of the student lobby and is a member of the chancellor s committee on financial aids for students.

The couple will be married next Feb. 15.

Health Systems To Be Topic For Workshop

"You and the Health Systems" will be the first health workshop in a series of four held at the Marin Young Women's Christian Association in San Rafael at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The program will include discussion of the role of the health consumer and how a patient or consumer uses the facilities such as the free clinic, county health department clinic or health plans.

Discussion leaders will include Dr. Marilyn Hicks, public health physician; Dr. Albert E. White of Permanente Medical Group; Judith D. Dunlop, R.N. and instructor at the College of Marin; Jackie Riss, coordinator of Medical Contact Service; and Mrs. C. M. Kelley, Blue Cross representative.

The health workshops re sponsored by the Marin Women's Health Collective, Woman's Way and the Marin Women's Center.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She'd Be Doing Her Brother A Favor By Dating This Guy

DEAR HELEN:

My brother is in the service, over in Europe, and my sister-in-law hasn't joined him yet.

I was at her apartment one day when a guy came in. She played it cool, but I think she's messing around.

This fellow asked for my phone number and I gave it to him with the intention of bawling him out. When he called, he explained my sister-in-law had told him she was separated.

I'd like to see him again as he seems a very sincere and warm person, but would I be disloyal to my brother if I did?

SLIGHTLY OLDER SISTER

DEAR SISTER:

You'd be more disloyal to your brother if you didn't see this fellow. Dating you, he may leave your sister-in-law alone. H.

DEAR HELEN:

Now that streaking has just about been filed away with live goldfish swallowing and phone booth stuffing, what do you think the college kids will come up with for next spring's rites?

And isn't it great that they've returned to idiocy instead of all that soul-searching rebellion?

QUINCY

DEAR QUIN:

Well, they might toss down live guppies while sitting nude atop college flag poles (the fad of the 30s, remember?)

Or streak clothed through nudist colonies. . .

Who's for ideas? Wildest suggestions for next year's rites of spring will be happily published in this column. H.

P.S. All that whoop-la about streaking, and now we discover it wasn't really new after all. Perhaps the oldest living streaker is Fred R. Pierce, of Sacramento, Calif., a retired district court justice.

While at Stanford University in 1918, he won a $5 bet by streaking down a ditch past several sorority and fraternity houses. At the other end of the ditch a roommate waited with a bathrobe.

Pierce's escapade got him kicked out of college for the remainder of the quarter, but the future judge demonstrated an early talent. He talked his professors into giving him credit without taking final examinations. H.

DEAR HELEN:

Is it possible to choose your future baby's sex? We have two girls. My husband says we can try again, if I can guarantee a boy. I've read something about this, but I can't remember what. ANXIOUS

DEAR ANXIOUS:

You can't guarantee producing a boy, but with a method described in the book, "Your Baby's Sex, How You Can Choose, by David M. Rorvik with Landrum B. Shettles, M.D., you can learn a method that may increase your chances from 50 per cent to 85 per cent.

It's all based on whether the fertilizing sperm carries an X chromosome (girl) or a Y chromosome (boy), and the time of month before ovulation best suited for each.

Since the explanation is long and rather complicated, I'll leave you here with advice to consult your doctor for further details. H.

Two Trade Vows In Larkspur Rite

Christine Adele Richardson and Dale Ramon Pensotte were wed April 6 in ceremonies at Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert D. Wells of Greenbrae and Dr. Donald L. Richardson of San Francisco. Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pensotte of San Rafael.

Mrs. Steven Dorenfeld of Corte Madera was matron of honor, and Mrs. Curtis A. Richardson of Novato and Robin Colthurst of Larkspur were bridesmaids.

Best man at the afternoon wedding was Steven Dorenfeld of Corte Madera, and ushers were the bride's brother, Curtis A. Richardson of Novato, and Robert Gilberti of Corte Madera.

The bride was graduated from Redwood High School and attended California State University, San Diego, and the College of Marin. She is employed at Avco Leasing in San Francisco. Christine is the granddaughter of Edith M. Richardson of San Rafael.

Dale also attended California State University, San Diego, and is now studying international business management at California State University, San Francisco. He is employed with United Parcel Service.

The newlyweds will make their home in Corte Madera after a wedding trip to Canada.

PARENT AND CHILD

Policy On Tattling Often Needed

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

Parents are faced constantly with the problem of how to handle the child who tattles, as well as what to do about finding out who did what to whom. What does Mom do when Mary whines, "Billy hit me"?

We know one family which has a firm rule against tattling of any kind. If the Mary in that family knows about some wrongdoing by Billy, she must go directly to Billy and work the problem out with him. If they cannot, then the two of them seek out an adult to arbitrate. But never does one child in the family go to a parent to "tell on" another.

In another family, tattling is encouraged. Each member is "honor bound" to report any wrongdoing by any other member of one or both parents.

MANY PARENTS, though, fall somewhere in between. They don't encourage tattling; but they don't disallow it either. For their children, the fluctuation is very difficult and often makes for endless arguments of "who did it first."

The accusation; "He hit me."

The retort; "She hit me first."

The riposte; "Oh no I didn't; he hit me yesterday when I was getting in the car and had my hands full of books."

The counterriposte; "I hit her because she . . ."

And usually what gets punished is overt behavior, even though provocation may come orally or even from a gesture unseen and undetected by parents. All they witness — or are told about — is the overt retaliation.

GENERALLY PARENTS fail miserably in sorting out these battles. If both children are punished, this means there is no standard of behavior which is pre-set. If one is punished, how does the parent know it's the right one?

Then, too, there's the tendency to listen to tattling one time but not the next three. This may be merely a parental mood, inappropriate timing, or some subtle decision that the "crime" deserves no punishment.

Again, how does this help the children in the family? What is the price of this inconsistency?

It would appear to be a heavy price to pay. The bickering and fighting among family members where there are no clear lines about tattling or not tattling appears constant.

If your household is in this position, a good discussion — tonight — might clear up past misunderstandings. Tattling is a topic that the children will have their own ideas about. Let the family work together in setting a policy — and tattling may cease to be a problem.

Outdoor Art Club Selects Mrs. Mielenz As President

MRS. C. HARVEY MIELENZ
Leads Outdoor Art Club

Mrs. C. Harvey Mielenz has been elected president of the Outdoor Art Club of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Mielenz, who has been a member of the club for 10 years, has served as chairman of cultural arts, historian-publicity chairman, chairman of the ways and means committee.

A resident of Mill Valley since childhood, Betty Mielenz and her husband, moved to Terra Linda several years ago. Mielenz is a travel consultant for the Nob Hill Travel Service in the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco. They have one daughter, Mrs. Robert Edmisten of San Rafael.

The new president is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley. She taught in the Mill Valley School District for 24 years. She is a past president of the Mill Valley Teacher Association, and was awarded honorary life membership in the district Parent-Teacher Association. She is a volunteer for the Gift Shop Branch of Marin General Hospital.

"The purpose of the Outdoor Art Club is to preserve the natural scenery of Mill Valley and the surrounding country, to beautify the grounds around public buildings, to endeavor to create public sentiment against the wanton destruction of birds and game, and to bring support in matters of conservation and civic interests," explained Mrs. Mielenz.

The year's program calls for a series of cultural and social events for members and guests, and on-going workshop programs on community service, civics and conservation, garden, literary and home arts topics. The club also sponsors classes in foreign languages and art.

Other incoming officers are Mmes. Bernard Benesh, first vice president; Dale Starkey, second vice president; William Hogan, recording secretary; Thomas Welsh, corresponding secretary; Michael Amoroso, business secretary and George Herbert, treasurer.

Committee chairmen will be Mmes. Martin Long, house; William Spencer, rentals; Robert Earl, membership; Robert Andresen, grounds; John Schmiedel, community service; Eugene Perani, ways and means; Eugene Richardson, historian-publicity; Fred Bardo, finance; Robert Mountjoy, civic and conservation; B.P. Lelich, cultural arts.

Mrs. Jack Shapiro was elected director at large; Mmes. J. Paul Hurd and Edmond Pearson, fiscal advisory committee; Mmes. Kenyon Spalding and Walter Long, grounds advisory committee.

Marti Bolton Exchanges Vows With Don A. Ross

A garden wedding in Terra Linda was the setting for the April 6 marriage of Marti Bolton and Don A. Ross, both of Greenbrae.

The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Werner F. Boehm. Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn of Larkspur.

The bride's sister Barbara Brubridge of Flagstaff, Ariz., was matron of honor, best man was William Randolph of Menlo Park, and the bridegroom's brother Michael Smith of Larkspur was usher.

Marti was graduated from Terra Linda High School and the University of Oregon. She is currently operations officer in the trust department of the Bank of America, San Francisco.

Don was graduated from Garden Grove High School in Garden Grove and attended the University of Maryland. He is employed as a court reporter in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is also the brother of Penny Matthews of Anderson, Ind., and the grandson of Helen Rue of Long Beach.

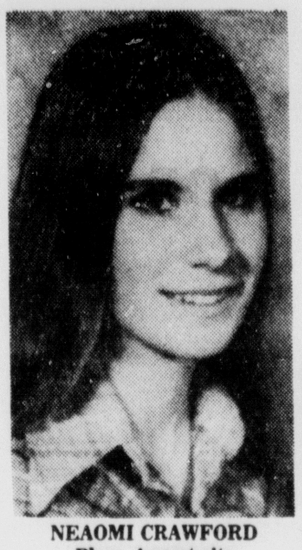
Volunteers Given Service Awards

Mrs. Samuel Farber of Mill Valley was awarded a pin for 4,000 hours of volunteer service at Marin General Hospital.

Others honored with service recognition pins were Mrs. S. Grant Lippitt of Mill Valley for 3,400 hours of service, Mrs. Spencer Smiley of Ross for 3,100 hours and Mrs. Vincent White of Mill Valley for 2,900 hours.

Also honored were Mrs. Huge Carruthers of Kentfield for 2,400 hours and Mrs. Robert Disher of San Rafael for 2,100 hours.



NEAOMI CRAWFORD
Plans August rite

Neaomi Crawford Engaged To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Crawford of San Anselmo have announced the engagement of their daughter Neaomi Karen Crawford of San Anselmo to David C. Adams of Oakland.

The future bride is the sister of Mrs. James Caili of Novato and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Davis of Alameda. She was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed by Wells Fargo Bank in Sausalito.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams of Oakland and the brother of Allen, Sam and Billy Adams of Oakland and Mrs. Les Sellers of Eugene, Ore. He was graduated from St. Joseph's High School in Alameda. The future bridegroom is employed by Nunn Bush Shoe Co. in Sausalito.

The couple plans to be married Aug. 18 at St. Anselm's Catholic Church.

Cookbook Being Prepared For Ship, Shore Gourmets

A new cookbook, "Gourmets Afloat and Ashore," is being prepared by members of the Knarr sailing fleet, to provide funds for the International Knarr Championship regatta, to be hosted by San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere Aug. 31 to Sept. 7.

Women whose husbands sail the 30-foot Knarr class sloops on San Francisco Bay will gather at San Francisco Yacht club April 24 to assemble and bind the book, which gives hints on food for racing, day sailing, cruising, regatta parties and after racing meals.

The women will work on the project through the day and will be joined by the skippers and crewmen in the early evening for a buffet supper featuring recipes included in the collection.

Mrs. A. Robert Fisher of Belvedere is editor. Mmes. Robert York and Rodney Friedman of Belvedere, Philip Salz of Sausalito, Fred Applegate of Tiburon, Ted McKown and Mrs. Robert Geering of Mill Valley are the assistants.

DRUGS AND CRIME

New Program Is Providing Hope

By GEORGE NEVIN

They're taking drug addicts to TASC in Marin County.

They're placing them in drug treatment programs throughout the Bay Area, counseling them and helping them find jobs and insights into their behavior.

And ultimately, some preliminary figures suggest they're going to save Marin citizens hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in theft losses and judicial system expenses.

"They" are the eight staff members of TASC, which stands for Treatment Alternatives to Street Crime. The program has been in business since Oct. 1, and although it's too early to say for sure, there is evidence the project is helping break the viscious spiral of drug use and crime.

Since its inception, said director Andy M. Mecca, TASC has aided 145 persons with their drug problems.

Only about 20 per cent have dropped out of the program — in effect breaking the law by violating probation. In an average group of addicts not involved in TASC, the rate would be nearly 100 per cent, said Mecca.

If the present success rate is projected over 12 months, he said, and conservative figures are used, Marin residents will have saved more than $1 million in homes not burglarized and bad checks not written.

Additionally, between $30,000 and $40,000 per year can be saved because the cost of keeping an addict at a drug center is cheaper than keeping him in jail, and an unknown sum can be realized through fewer demands on the courts and other county services.

If the TASC method is this successful, the obvious question is why isn't it found all over the country?

It is, said Mecca. Twenty-two TASC programs are operating throughout the U.S., all spawned by 1971 legislation which created the Special Action Office for Drug Abuse Prevention.

Though some hard-line law-and-order advocates may object to TASC, which often results in a burglar or check forger avoiding a jail term, the goal of the program is embraced by most segments of the political spectrum, Mecca said.

Simply stated, TASC's goal is to halt the typical cycle of addiction, crime, arrest, incarceration, release and readdiction, and thus halt drug-related crime, estimated to comprise roughly 75 per cent of all suburban crime.

Most of the program's "Clients," as they are called, have prior drug and theft records. Many have served time and returned to a life of crime upon their release from jail or prison.

Mecca explained how TASC operates:

After eliminating about 72 per cent of all arrestees — including those booked for crimes involving violence, sale of narcotics, minor traffic offenses and alcohol — a screener talks to the remaining 28 per cent.

About half of these people acknowledge they are addicted to or a user of hard drugs. If they cannot make bail, and most addicts can't, they are offered a chance to be released to TASC to begin immediate treatment.

If a judge agrees, treatment starts while the defendant awaits the outcome of his case. If he pleads guilty or is convicted but is doing well on the TASC program, the judge usually dismisses the charge or gives the defendant a suspended jail term on condition that he finish the program.

TASC has at its disposal about a dozen live-in drug programs and other agencies, private and public, to which it sends its clients.

Each of the 22 TASC programs is tailored to its own community and thus is unique, and Marin's TASC masters take pride in their version.

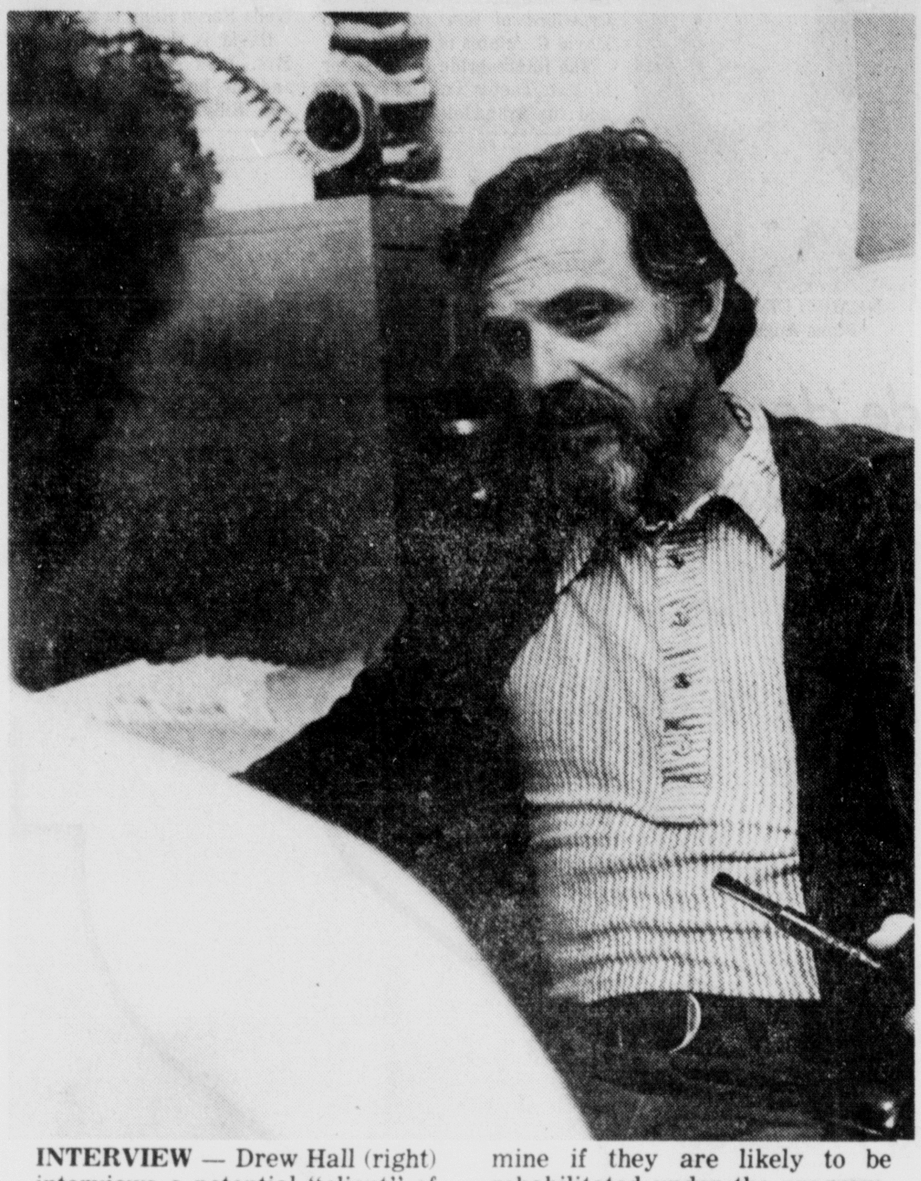
The only fully operational TASC program in California, the Marin project is being studied by San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco Counties as an example of a successful program.

With the project in business, Mecca and his staff are trying to involve the community in deciding what TASC's future direction is to be and in attacking the social forces that create drug addicts.

"Studies show that 50 per cent of the kids involved in drugs have one or more alcoholic parents," he said, so a productive community effort could be an attack on alcoholism.

To the inevitable charge that TASC is just another way to coddle criminals, Mecca replies:

"They can't just use us as an easy way out of jail if the traditional approach to crime doesn't work. TASC is not a panacea by any means, but it appears to work."



INTERVIEW — Drew Hall (right) interviews a potential "client" of the TASC program. Hall screens such persons accused of committing drug related crimes to determine if they are likely to be rehabilitated under the program, an alternative to prosecution in court with its attendant jail term and conviction record.

A Caretaker Nixon Role Is Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The president of the American Bar Association predicts President Nixon will be impeached but will remain in office even though more than half of the U.S. Senate will vote to remove him.

Chesterfield H. Smith told a news conference Monday he expects the impeachment trial in the upper chamber to begin in August or September.

"It will last four or five months," said Smith, "and a majority of the senators will vote to remove him. But there will not be the necessary two-thirds vote required by the Constitution."

Smith, whose outspoken leadership of the lawyers' group has caused controversy, said he expects the House Judiciary Committee to report out articles of impeachment in June.

"By a surprising large majority," the House will impeach Nixon, Smith predicted. He said the timetable based on only his "personal judgement,"

After such impeachment and acquittal, Nixon will only be a caretaker president, he added.

"There is no way he can regain his credibility . . . or leadership. He will be a caretaker president," Smith said.

Nixon Reveals Bench Nominee

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon yesterday nominated Dallas lawyer Robert W. Porter to be a U.S. district judge for the northern district of Texas.

Nixon at the same time nominated Max E. Wilson of Ashville, N.C., to serve a four-year term as U.S. marshall for the western district of North Carolina.

Porter, 47, is a partner in the Dallas law firm of Thompson, Coe, Cousins, Irons and Porter. He was chosen to succeed Leo Brewster, who retired from the bench last November.

Wilson, 45, is the owner and maager of an automobile repair business in Asheville and would succeed Seibert W. Lockman, who resigned as U.S. marshal last month.

Reagan Suggests Making Ransom Attempt By Kidnappers A Crime

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said yesterday law enforcement agencies should study the idea of making it a crime to attempt to ransom kidnap victims.

"Then kidnappers would see there is no advantage in kidnapping anyone," he told a news conference.

He emphasized it was "something to study" and said he had no fixed point on the idea.

Regan also said, at the Greater Los Angeles Press Club, Patricia Hearst should be prosecuted if it is proved she took part in a San Francisco bank robbery Monday.

"I don't think there is conclusive proof she is not under coercion," he added.

Miss Hearst was abducted by the Symbionese Liberation Army Feb. 4.

"This is the first time, to my knowledge, they, the SLA, have actually appeared," he said. "There has been no clue as to their whereabouts."

The governor said the San Francisco police want Miss Hearst as a material witness and they doubt she acted of her own will.

He said law enforcement agencies have had difficulty in locating the SLA "because it was a new experience for everyone."

"Normally," he said, "when ransom demands are made, you have the first connection with the kidnappers. But in this case, they said 'you go feed some other people' and there was not connection."

He said he thinks law enforcement is doing everything it can be apprehend the kidnappers. He called the SLA members "common crooks" not romantic revolutionaries, and said, "I am confident law enforcement has been operating on that basis up until now."

He considered several questions about what he would do to capture the SLA and other criminals and finally said, smiling "I am not a policeman."

Commenting on the recent gasoline shortage, Reagan said people should realize there is gasoline available, but it is still limited.

Reagan said he would immediately withdraw Los Angeles County from the odd-even gasoline sales plan as soon as he receives the request from the county.

County supervisors earlier yesterday voted to ask the governor to end the plan because gasoline is now available.

The governor said he favored keeping the 55 mile per hour speed limit, but said it might be possible to retain it only in metropolitan areas and permit higher speeds on open stretches.

The safety factor, he said, was the best reason to retain the slower speed. He said 100 persons a month are alive because of the 55 m.p.h. limit.

"It may bring back conversation in cars," he said.

Obscenity Bill

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The Connecticut House yesterday approved a bill defining obscene material as that which mainly appeals to "prurient, shameful or morbid interest in nudity, sex, sadism or masochism" and is utterly without redeeming social value.

Army Fails On Goal For March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Once again, the Army has failed to fulfill its monthly recruiting goal, the Pentagon said yesterday. But officials said the Army will end the current fiscal year only slightly behind its manpower requirements.

The officials said the gap will be narrowed by higher reenlistment rates among soldiers whose current tours of duty are ending.

The Army recruited only 91 per cent of its quota in March. It has filled the quota only twice in the 14 months since the draft ended.

Home Building During March Shows A Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New home construction fell sharply in March after a February rally.

The Commerce Department estimated yesterday that housing starts last month at an adjusted annual rate of 1.46 million, a 22 per cent dip from February and 35 per cent below March, 1973.

With the exception of February, housing construction has been going down for 15 months.

Banks and thrift institutions have been reluctant to offer long-term mortgage loans at 8 and 9 per cent while short-term prime interest rates, which have exceeded 10 per cent for the first time, continue to rise.

The Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration raised their ceilings to 8.5 per cent Friday in an attempt to attract mortgage money.

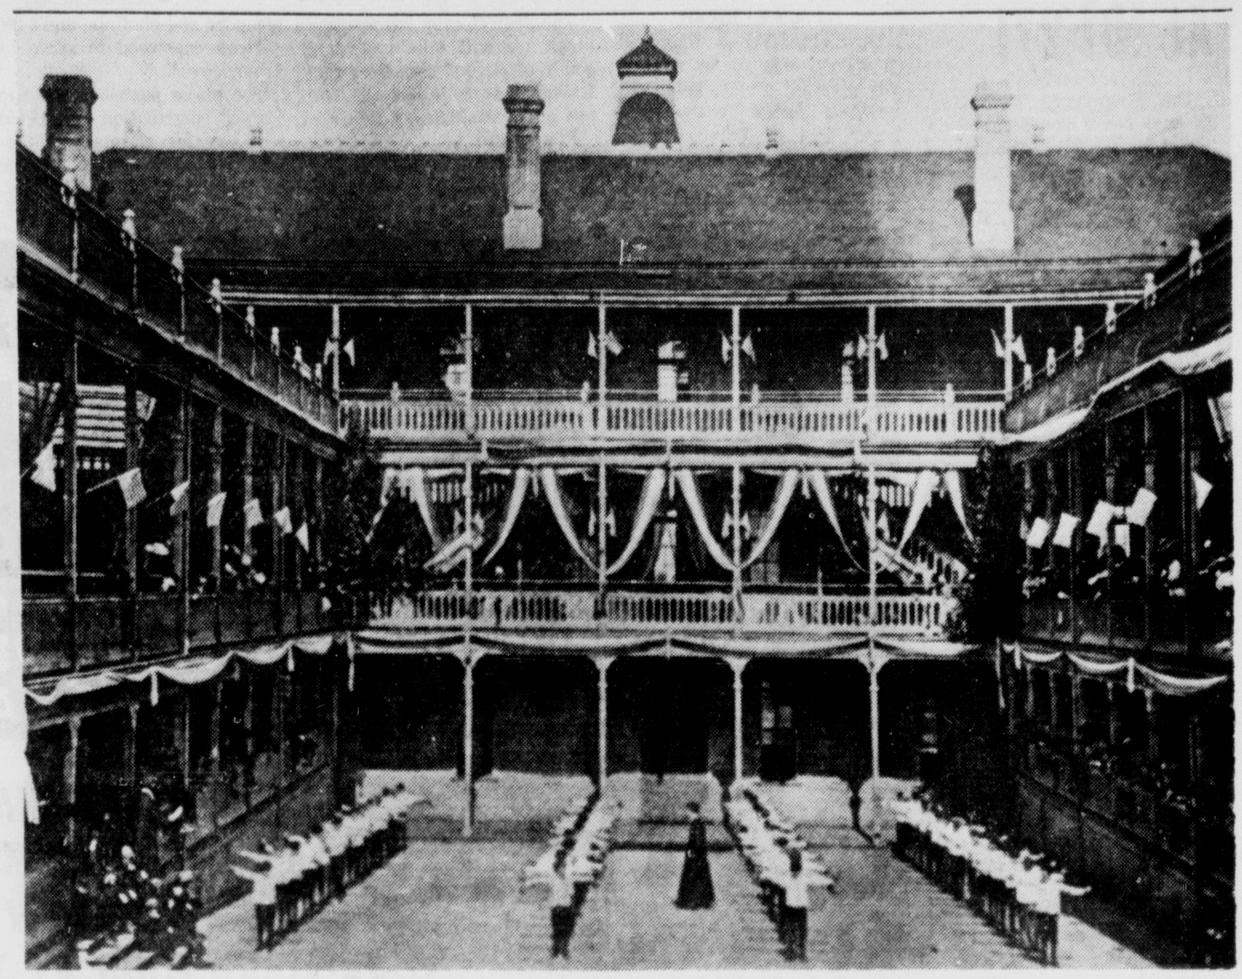
MODERN ST. VINCENTS — These massive mission and Italian Renaissance-style structures which comprise the St. Vincent's School campus today are the result of a 1920s building program initiated to replace 19th Century wood frame buildings.



OLD DAYS — A view of the inner courtyard at St. Vincent's in 1889. The first floor of the rear building housed a gymnasium, recreation room and library. The second floor, classrooms and a hall for plays and entertainments and the third floor, the dormitory.

ST. VINCENT'S SCHOOL

SISTER McENNIS
Founder of school

St. Vincent's School for Boys, Marin's oldest school, has gone through many metamorphoses since it opened its doors 119 years ago.

Founded as a Catholic girl's seminary and a day school for pioneer children in 1855, it later became a boy's orphanage and one of the first institutions in the state to care for delinquent youngsters.

Fifty years ago it was briefly a public school and part of the Dixie School District. And it finally has evolved into a child care agency, licensed by the state, for boys who temporarily must live away from home.

St. Vincent's was the deathbed wish of Don Timoteo Murphy, a 52-year-old bachelor who owned a Mexican land grant extending across modern day San Rafael to Ignacio.

Two days before Murphy's death in his San Rafael adobe in January, 1853, he deeded 317 acres to the Catholic Archbishop of San Francisco. The money was to "aid in the establishment of a seminary or institution of learning." And Murphy stipulated that the school must be operating within two years or the property would revert to his heirs.

The two years were almost over before Archbishop Joseph Alemany sent Sister Frances McEnnis, a member of the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, to build the school.

With help from James Miller (whose ranch to the west is today's Marinwood) the nun was able to erect a $5,000 school building.

Six days before the 1855 deadline set by Murphy, one Sister of Charity, two laywomen and four children crossed the Bay from San Francisco to occupy the new school.

Within weeks St. Vincent's (named for St. Vincent de Paul, founder of the Sisters of Charity) was operating as a public school for children from nearby ranches and an orphanage for 10 young girls.

But the hardships of frontier life proved too much for the women.

Isolated from San Francisco (it was a hazardous day's journey away by boat) they were forced to rely on San Rafael, a tiny settlement of Americans, Irish and Spanish five miles to the south.

The village consisted of 10 ramshackle homes and a boarding house built around the crumbling Mission San Rafael Archangel described by Archbishop Alemany in a letter written in 1855 as "... an old miserable church, a few rooms in the same condition."

After a few months the women gave up St. Vincent's. They were replaced by an English priest, Robert A. R. Maurice, and 14 boys sent by schooner from the Market Street Orphanage in San Francisco.

With enrollment approaching 150 in 1868 the Dominican Sisters of Benicia agreed to come to work at the orphanage for three months. They stayed for 26 years.

Under the sisters, St. Vincent's was a refuge for boys orphaned by the Civil War and 19th century poverty and disease.

In 1875 the school began caring for delinquent youths, a service it would continue to provide for nearly half a century.

The school became a man's institution in 1894 when Christian Brothers replaced the Dominican Sisters. Football and baseball were added to the curriculum.

Twenty-seven years later, in 1921, the Brothers withdrew from the orphanage to return to overcrowded classrooms in their own schools.

Desperately needing teachers to replace the Brothers, Archbishop Edward J. Hanna approached Marin County Schools officials. County Supt. James B. Davidson agreed to take over classrooms at the orphanage and, as a result, the school temporarily became part of the Dixie School District.

When the classrooms were returned to the church six months later, Rev. (later Msgr. Francis P. McElroy became director. Dominican Sisters from Mission San Jose arrived to take over domestic chores and teach.

Then in 1922, St. Vincent's stopped accepting delinquent boys and became a haven for boys who needed to live away from home for awhile.

A building program was launched to replace 19th century structures. With contributions from rich and poor alike, Father McElroy was able to construct imposing Mission and Italian Renaissance style buildings that stand on the campus today. Over the years the original 317-acre campus increased to 1200 acres.

During the 1920s and 30s the school grounds were transformed into farm and all beef, poultry, vegetables, fruits and milk needed to feed students and faculty were raised on the premises.

Within the last five years the one-time orphanage has evolved into a child care agency, licensed by the State Department of Welfare, explains Msgr. James P. Keane, a 15-year veteran staff member who has been director since 1967.

Today 75 high school and grammar school-aged youngsters reside at St. Vincent's.

Ninety per cent are referred by city and county social agencies, juvenile courts and public welfare departments. Ten per cent are there at the request of schools, doctors, parish priests, and parents.

Most are boys who because of family situations — death, divorce, separation or an undesirable home conditions — must live temporarily outside their family circle, explains Msgr. Keane.

A staff of more than 70 — 14 Dominican Sisters, three priests, lay teachers, a physician and psychiatric counselor, six social workers, maintenance, kitchen and farm workers — strives to make the institution as homelike as possible.

A boy usually stays about 18 months, estimates Msgr. Keane, and the staff works to get him back into his own home or a foster home as quickly as possible.

Older students attend San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools where they are encouraged to join school activities and make friends, he said.

Dances and parties are frequently given for boys to entertain their off-campus friends.

Younger boys either attend grammar school in public schools in the Dixie School District or in a special education program for emotionally or educationally handicapped youngsters on St. Vincent's campus.

Marin County's oldest school has come a long way during its first 119 years and, as Msgr. Keane says, "will continue to change to meet the changing needs of the people."

LEARNING A TRADE — Orphans at St. Vincent's in the 1880s were taught trades as well as academic subjects. Here youngsters are learning to become cobblers in the institution's shoe making shop.

Strawberry Rec Budget At 101,271

The Strawberry Recreation District board has approved a preliminary 1974-75 budget of $110,271.48, up $19,962.28 over this year's budget.

District Mgr. Gayle L. Hunter said that the board decided Monday to begin budget hearings on June 20. The budget could be extensively changed before final adoption, she said.

Miss Hunter estimated that the 1974-75 spending program will require $82,491.49 in property taxes versus $72,209.21 for this year and a property tax rate of 51 cents per $100 assessed valuation, same as this year's rate.

Miss Hunter said that increases in spending would be met by increases in revenue resulting from a rise in assessed valuation within the district.

The 1974-75 budget calls for salaries of $35,371.48, compared to $25,594.20 for this year. Most of this increase stems from expected expansion of recreation classes and programs, according to Miss Hunter. The salary category also includes a 7 per cent raise for Miss Hunter which would increase her annual wages to $12,350.

Operations expenses for 1974-75 would total $37,940, compared to $32,665 for this year.

Capital improvements would total $33,103, compared to $29,193 for last year. Suggested capital improvements include building a tot lot, furnishing an arts and crafts room in the district center, landscaping Strawberry Park and buying five rows of bleachers.

Besides property taxes, Miss Hunter expects the following fund sources: rent of district facilities, $500; swim club lease and water fees, $3,330; fees for tennis court keys, $150; recreation program fees, $18,000; garbage franchise, $5,000; Marin Car Wash, $300, and Greenwood Bay maintenance zone taxes, $500.

According to Miss Hunter, the budget will also require dipping into the reserve fund for $2,507.

Suit To Halt New Wells To Be Heard

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A suit to prevent Rohnert Park from drilling two new wells is now scheduled for hearing at 9 a.m. April 29 in Sonoma Superior Court.

Court officials said that Judge John Moskowitz on Monday postponed the hearing to allow attorneys for the plaintiffs to study briefs filed recently by city attorneys.

The suit was filed by residents of the area around Rohnert Park, who claim the city's wells will lower the water table and cause intrusion of salt water, fouling their own wells.

The well owners dispute the city's finding that the wells will have no impact on the environment.

The city claims water comes from a geological formation different from the one supplying private wells in the area. Thus, the city maintains, its own water consumption cannot affect other wells.

An 8th Century Statue Stolen

RIVOLI, Italy (UPI) — Thieves have stolen the 8th Century Byzantine statue "The Madonna of the Star" from the church where it stood for 200 years. Police say the theft occurred during the Easter weekend.

The statue, which stood 19-½ inches high and weighed 15 to 18 pounds, was popularly known as "The Black Madonna" because it was made of dark red cedar.

It was considered the patron of this northern Italian city.

The National Superintendency of Antiquities and Art said it was difficult to estimate the statue's value because it was irreplaceable and too easily identifiable to be sold easily.

Bids Will Be Opened May 15 On 101 Tree Planting Project

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bids will be opened May 15 for a highway planting project being undertaken jointly by the state Department of Transportation and the City of San Rafael along Highway 101.

The project calls for planting about one-half mile beginning south of Second Street in San Rafael to north to Mission Avenue along the highway.

Plants will include 78 trees, mostly eucaluptus; 900 shrubs, primarily India Hawthorne, oleander and photinia, and 8,000 African capeweed to serve as groundcover.

The major portion of the San Rafael contribution of $18,000 will pay for a small red-tile-roofed sign structure at the southern entrance to the city, featuring a mission bell reminiscent of the early mission trail of the padres.

A 700-foot length of sidewalk also will be installed along Heatherton Street.

Denies Stroke

BELGRADE (UPI) — President Tito today denied Western news reports that he had suffered a stroke and reaffirmed Yugoslav position on a current border dispute with Italy.

College Is Recruiting For Program

New College in Sausalito is now recruiting for the second year of its university year for action program, in which student volunteers spend a year with agencies aiding low-income persons.

The federally funded program has openings for 35 students, who will receive between 24 and 30 college credits, plus $200 a month and medical and dental coverage, according to coordinator Ruth Maguire.

This year, students served as caseworkers at the San Francisco County Jail in San Bruno, designed and built furniture for poor families and provided legal help for welfare clients.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Maguire or Suzanne MacDonald at New College.

Tam High Plans Parents' Reception

A reception for parents of eighth grade students who will enter Tamalpais High School next fall will be held today beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

Teachers will be available to meet parents and a general meeting about the schools academic program and activities will be held, according to Duane L. Smith, school counselor.

A SELF-IMPOSED DIET

JoJo Tolar, 29, who is five feet tall and hits the scales at 200 pounds, sits in her Chicago home with her teeth wired together so she can't eat. "Nobody wants me, 'cuz I'm too damn fat," she said yesterday. She hopes to make it down to 130 pounds so she can join a motorcycle club again. The club took away her colors last year when she got too fat to ride with someone.

Rohnert Park Sewage Load Forces Ban On Building

The Rohnert Park City Council has declined to impose a moratorium on new buidling projects until it can determine how many more sewer connections the city's plant can accomodate.

The moratorium was proposed by freshman councilman David L. Eck, who cited the fact that the city plant is within 200,000 to 300,000 gallons of its 1.5 million gallon capacity.

City Clerk Kathryn P. Logue said the council agreed Monday to discuss the possibility of hooking into a proposed Santa Rosa regional sewage plant at 7 p.m. April 29.

The council will then consider five plans for solving the sewage problem. Four of these call for hooking into the regional plant while the fifth involves expansion of the existing city plant.

The plans range in cost from $5.9 million to $12.8 million.

Planning Director Paul Skanchy said the city plant now serves about 4,300 residential hookups. Another 700 units are under construction and about 1,800 have been approved, while 2,500 are at the tentative map stage, he said.

Skanchy said these 4,000 units would probably double Rohnert Park's current population of 11,500.

City Atty. John Flitner told the council Monday that the city is legally obligated to provide essential services to new residences.

He said the city could not use moratoriums as growth limiting devices, although temporary ones would be permissible if the city needed time to study its ability to provide services.

Eck's plan had been to impose a moratorium on acceptance of tentative maps for new developments.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

CONTRACTS — Awarded a $168,000 contract to the Columbini Construction Co. to build a city corporation yard; $25,000 to the Rapp Construction Co. for an animal shelter, and $41,213 to the Sibbald Construction Co. for an irrigation system at Ladybug Park and La Fiesta School.

GOLF — Directed staff to produce several designs for a four-foot fence around the city golf course, and agreed to consider an advertising program to attract more users to the links.

TREE — Agreed to plant a tree near city hall in honor of former Rohnert Park Junior High School principal Ralph Azevedo, who died last week.

Oil Assets

BEIRUT (UPI) — The Mobil and Esso oil companies signed agreements yesterday with the Libyan government turning over 51 per cent of their assets and operations to the government, Tripoli radio said.

ART, MUSIC AND DRAMA

'Three Printmakers' On View

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

A link between the watercolorist and printmaker is currently being explored in an Oakland Museum exhibition, "Three Printmakers" on view through May 19 in the Oakes Gallery.

The three printmakers are Patricia Forrester, Robert Fried and Jim Torlakson, all of the Bay Area.

Their works include the mingling of recently completed watercolors and prints, traditionally considered at distant ends of the art spectrum.

MUSIC

The Sequoia Quartert, formed a year ago, will present works of Mozart, Elliott Carter and Ravel Monday night in the final concert of the 1973-74 season of the San Francisco Chamber Music Society.

The concert will be held in the Fireman's Fund Forum.

The quarter consists of Yolo Matsuda and Miwako Watanabe, violin; James Dunham, viola, and Emanuel Gruber, cello.

The fifth concert in the spring Sunday Twilight Series of faculty artists at Lone Mountain College in San Francisco will be held this Sunday afternoon. Guest artists will be Nancy Corwin, soprano; Donald Aird, pianist, and Robert Hubbard, oboist.

Also on Sunday, the Early Music Consort of London will make its West Coast debut in an evening concert in Hertz Hall on the University of California campus. The group has provided background music for such BBC-TV series as "Henry VI" and "Elizabeth R," and for such films as Ken Russell's "The Devils," and "Henry VIII and His Six Wives."

Elyane Jones, principal tympanist with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, will be presented in a recital at Contra Costa College tomorrow night in the campus gymnasium. She has presented more than 300 solo lecture-demonstrations of percussion instruments to students through college age.

Other events:

Geary Theater — "The Cherry Orchard," today, tomorrow, Friday, Saturday, next Wednesday, 8:30 p.m. and also next Wednesday, 2:30 p.m.; "Broadway," Saturday, 2:30 p.m. and Monday, 2:30 p.m.; "The Taming of the Shrew," Tuesday, 8:30 p.m.

Repertory Company Plans Auditions

The San Francisco Repertory Company will hold auditions in Marin Saturday and again April 27 for four productions which will be presented in repertoire this summer.

The plays will be directed by Michelle Truffaut and will range from serious drama through nostalgic comedy to outrageous melodrama.

Both auditions will be between 1 and 4 p.m. at the Great Store, 1122 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Biggest Lobbyists Not Registered By State

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
26 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WED. APRIL 17, 1974 EDITORIAL PAGE

After Collier's magazine in 1951 exposed Arthur H. Samish as "the secret boss of California," the state legislature, in a spasm of righteousness, passed an "anti-lobbying law."

The law requires that lobbyists register with the secretary of state and periodically report how much they spent in their efforts to influence legislation.

Ever since its adoption, incumbent legislators seeking reelection have loved to hark back to the "bad old days when the lobbyists ran Sacramento" and boast that "we ended all that."

Increasing the legislators' pay — and giving them the right to increase their own pay — have helped free them from "lobbyist control," they contend.

Putting the legislature on full-time biennial sessions has "weakened the hold of the "lobbyists," they declare.

DON'T YOU believe it!

Some 600 persons are registered with the secretary of state as lobbyists ("legislative advocates," they like to call themselves).

But those 600 by no means represent all who lobby for or against legislation.

To lobby is defined by Webster's Third International Dictionary as "to conduct activities with the objective of influencing public officials and especially members of a legislative body with regard to legislation and other policy decisions."

Every time you pick up the telephone to call your assemblyman or state senator about some issue in the legislature, you are lobbying. And you have a perfect right to do so — indeed, an obligation. That's the way to assure representative government.

BUT WHERE LOBBYING corrupts is where it involves money. And the 600 or so registered lobbyists in Sacramento spend only a small part of that money.

Much more is spent during the campaigns —to pave the way for future lobbying. When the big contributor makes that phone call, he can remind the legislator of his contribution. And he does. Naturally, his phone call is more effective than yours.

Moreover, if the issue is important enough to the corporation or organization, the "big wheels" don't stop with phone calls. Nor do they leave it up to the hired help — their registered lobbyists.

ONE SUCH CASE is now the object of a suit filed in Sacramento by the People's Lobby. It asks the court to deprive John Henning of his right to lobby, because he has not registered.

Henning is president of the California State Federation of Labor. The federation has a lobbyist. But its big boss does the heavy work. He spends a lot of time in Sacramento, with the legislators.

It is the same with many other organizations. The big bosses, who control the spending of the organizations' money, don't leave it up to the registered lobbyists. Not for a minute!

REGISTRATION of lobbyists is a good idea. It should be carried further. But it can never cover all those who seek to influence legislation — neither John Q. Citizen with his individual phone call nor Mr. Big with his check to cover a campaign deficit.

And when today's $20,000-plus per year legislators claim things are different from the "bad old days" of the late Artie Samish, they are likely to be correct in only one respect: the stakes are bigger.

"I keep getting this creepy feeling that we're an idea whose time has come."

Presidential Hopefuls Begin Their Drives Toward 1976

WASHINGTON — The presidential hopefuls are coming out of hiding.

They avow they are just feeling things out, but their tentative words hardly conceal their firmness of purpose.

All are reaching for the 1976 nomination, and it is not what they are saying, but what they are doing while not saying it, which tells the story.

One thing is clear — Watergate is not depressing the market for presidential aspirants. That's good, because we need more, not fewer, leaders willing to take the heat and scuffle of public life.

They are not in short supply.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY'S dynamic newcomer, John Connally — so new that many GOP leaders think he should start nearer the bottom and climb up — is neither shy nor aplogetic. He has no reason to be. He is a man of experience and force with no lack of self-confidence. He is injecting some new spirit into the otherwise depressed Republican audiences he has recently been addressing from Maine to Hawaii. A Wall Street Journal headline caught it well in these words: "Connally Urges GOP to Believe in Itself — and a Certain Texan."

Connally will need all the rank-and-file Republican voter support he can get — and he is getting quite a bit — because his prospects will be slim at the convention unless he enters and wins some major primaries.

WHILE CONNALLY is traveling across the face of the United States, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., is off to Europe, first to Germany and Yugoslavia, then Poland and the Soviet Union.

The trip is designed to put him at the center of the national debate on detente. On this controversial issue his supporters see him doing battle to counter what they consider the hawkishness of his Democratic rival, Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington.

Jackson, not Kennedy, was the speaker at the Gridiron dinner this year, and he did himself no harm with this politically influential audience. He seemed in no way offended when Vice President Gerald Ford conceded him the prize for "concealed charisma." Jackson thinks that political charisma is not what the voters are looking for.

The vice president himself seems to be shading somewhat his earlier statement that he "had no intention of seeking the presidential nomination in 1976." He can still say that truthfully, but that doesn't mean he wouldn't like to have it and wouldn't accept it if the convention offered it to him. If his answer today is no, his friends are pretty certain that two years hence Ford will have a better idea.

MORE THAN USUALLY the GOP nomination will be decided by the primaries, and here Ford and Connally will have to compete with Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., Gov. Ronald Reagan, and Nelson Rockefeller.

Below Jackson and Kennedy on the Democratic side, the other hopefuls at this point look like a handful of Harold Stassens.

Although the Republican Party cannot fail to lose disastrously in the congressional elections this fall, this is no certainty that the Democrats will inherit the presidency in '76.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON: The Help Line

LOS ANGELES — The pregnant runaway girl from Seattle who called in to the Mid-Wilshire Help Line knows only that the bright, kind voice that responded is attached to someone named Helen, no last name.

That is the same way the potential suicides, the men and women crashing down from a drug habit, the other Thursday callers who urgently need help and conversation know that voice: just Helen.

None of them knows that Helen is a 73-year-old widow, living in an elderly ladies' apartment house in tighter and tighter circumstances as the cost of living outruns the rise in Social Security benefits, holding herself to $15 a week for food and thus frequently making it through Friday on rice and beans, and smiling.

NONE OF THEM knows it but all of us should, for Helen is a prize example of those many Americans defying the unjust rule that older people are supposed to do nothing but sit around and feel sorry for themselves and wait to die —and the corollary rule that government is supposed to feel sorry for them, too, rather than opening doors to their skills and experience.

Helen does not wait to be asked. Right now, she not only takes her turn with the Help Line, she also is a volunteer regularly delivering books to shut-ins from the Los Angeles Public Library. She also is a regular assistant in physical therapy at a rest home in Echo Park.

That is the way it has been since 1951, when her husband, a professor, died. She might have gone into extended mourning, and she might have fallen back on her children. Instead she became a missionary teacher in Brazil, where she developed her taste for the rice and beans that have become such a frequent item in her diet in these years of inflation.

Since then she has worked as teacher or governess in South Africa and at a sheep station in the Australian outback. She talks of towns in northern Thailand and southern Manitoba as familiarly as most Angelenos talk of Glendale and Anaheim. Wearing a lavender pantsuit that sets off her brushed-up silver hair, she sweeps her arm toward her view of the mountains off to the northeast and tells you how exciting life is.

WHEN SHE IS NOT answering the Help Line, delivering books, or assisting at Echo Park, she is using her senior citizen's pass to take 10-cent bus rides all over town. With that pass, she attends Friday concerts of the Los Angeles Symphony for only $1 admission. She goes to the Sunday afternoon concerts in Barnsdall Park; she enjoys the mixture of Angelenos in MacArthur Park; she never misses the cut-rate days at the Ice Capades when they come to town; she goes to baseball games, walks to the art gallery, and has visited Disneyland 26 times — including opening day, "when Mr. Disney was there."

In between, she reads (currently Pearl Buck's "Portrait of a Marriage"), watches the Lakers on television, housesits at Laguna Beach for extra change, goes across the street to visit with newly recruited Marines on their way to boot camp, and this summer is leaving on a 60-day bus trip to see her children and grandchildren in the East, down across Texas, back across Canada. That is how she came to my attention —she wrote asking advice about bus travel.

IT IS SUPERFLUOUS, in her case, for her to add that all this "makes you feel like your time is not up — there's a reason to be here." But how does she so persistently buck the cliche about people her age?

"The thing to do is manage your memories," Helen advises. "Too many people live in the past, and complain about their relatives or about their situation." She puts aside the hard parts of her past, and hangs on to the rest. "I'm just keeping these lovely things."

Of course Helen is special. Her 73-year-old body and mind are in splendid condition. But it is reasonable to suspect that they are that way because of her attitude, which keeps them so busy. And she is living, walking, bus-riding, smiling testimony to what Congress and the state legislatures still do not understand is the main thing they can do for the elderly: just open the door.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Harassment Of Jurors: 'Law Loses Common Sense'

Recently the intimidation of prior grand jurors has come to my attention. I am aware of this as a practicing physician in this county. Two of my patients have been grand jurors. One was a juror approximately 10 years ago. Both of these people are alarmed, one is too ill to travel that far to testify. . .

I see potential dangers in this type of harassment of our jurors. Is this the type of civil state we have developed? What are the costs involved in transporting our people to San Jose? Who bears these costs? What is happening to justice in this country? How does harrassment of grand jurors help all of us?

As another patient of mine, an attorney from a northern California county, has recently expressed to me, "It seems as though the law has lost its common sense."

As one citizen of this area, I wonder if you or someone on your staff might not develop this theme. That is: information as to what is happening to our jury system, why and how we allow our jurors to be harassed, why they have to be transported to San Jose; why they cannot be questioned in their own county. Also what is this costing us in terms of manpower, dollars, energy resources, etc?

Plenty Of Reasons To Conserve Electricity

Suppose you left a 100-watt light bulb burning for one year. Because of your forgetfulness PG&E would have to consume extra fuel — either one-half ton of coal or one-quarter ton of fuel oil. Staggering amounts!

In an energy crisis such as we have just experienced, all energy shortfalls are designed, by the FEO, to show up at the gasoline pump. Under such circumstances, somebody would have to do without 65 gallons of gasoline, so that you could keep your 100-watt bulb burning for one year.

If you pay attention to your electric bill, you would find that it had increased about $2 per month. You might also come to realize that you have accentuated the problems of (1) air quality, due to PG&E power generation; (2) open space, due to strip mining of the coal, and (2) U.S. balance of trade, due to increased overseas oil purchases.

Choose your bag. They are all good reasons to conserve.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Bible Baptist Candidate 'Turns On' GOP Audience

By RUS WALTON

Grab your pencil. Here's a little test.

Glenn D. Mitchel is (check one):

(a.) a famous bandleader of the forties.

Which one? None!

GLENN MITCHEL is one of the six Republicans running this year for governor; one of 29 candidates for the state's top spot.

In those public opinion poll listings, Mitchel will be found under "others" along with about 20 of the 29.

Well, he may be an "other" — and he will probably not be our next governor — but a funny thing happened the other day in San Diego.

The Republicans there held a big do. Most of the big-name GOP candidates were at that rally: Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, State Sen. John Harmer, former state HEW Sec. Earl Brian, and many of the local office-seekers. All were fairly well received. But, Glenn Mitchel stole the show. When he finished speaking, he was given a standing, rousing ovation.

MITCHEL REALLY turned those San Diego Republicans on. He lit their fuse. After the meeting, folks went around agreeing:

"That Mitchel fella, he's my kind of guy. I'd vote for him but he doesn't have a chance of winning."

They are probably correct but it seems to me there are at least two big lessons involved: one lesson for those other candidates and one for those voters.

First, the candidates — the "biggies", the ones who "have a chance". They would do well to chew on what it was Glenn Mitchel said that grabbed that audience. And, that's not hard to figure out. Mitchel stressed the need for this nation to return to God. Not just the usual "nod to God" most politicians dispense, but call for a deep and lasting revitalization of the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule.

"We must turn once again to the teachings laid down in the Bible. . . One reason our nation was so great was because it was founded by men of prayer.

"Many of our professional politicians think that the problems of the nation can be solved at a cocktail party. What those men ought to do is attend some prayer meetings."

MITCHEL IS a lay leader, a deacon, in the Johnstown First Southern Baptist Church in Pine Valley and a leader in the Christian Business Men's Committee of San Diego. He worked his way up from the oil fields of New Mexico to become personnel counsellor for an aircraft company. In 1955, he started his own real estate company in El Cajon. Today he has three offices and a staff of 35.

His campaign for governor is mostly a tour of the state in a motor home. These are some of the points he makes, over and beyond his call for a return to religious values:

"Private enterprise — get government out of private enterprise; retain the good public servants and toss out the professional politicians.

"Taxes — Separate our schools from property taxes. Increase taxes on hard liquor and race track gambling and use that to cover the additional cost of law enforcement and the operation of hospitals for alcoholics.

"Property — Owners should have more voice on the use and zoning of vacant land. . . Exempt senior citizens from school taxes and reduce by 50 per cent their share of homestead taxes.

There is also a lesson for voters in Mitchel's campaign. The reason men such as he "don't have a chance" is that too many voters go on the basis of expediency when they should vote their convictions. There are enough God-loving voters to swing any election; but they don't. And so, as Mitchel says, too many governmental decisions are made at cocktail parties when they should be made in prayer meetings.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

School District Claims No Responsibility To Educate

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Do the public schools have any obligation to educate the children?

No, according to San Francisco Unified School District.

Over a year ago, the Youth Law Center in San Francisco sued the school district for $1 million in behalf of a minor referred to in the complaint as Peter W. Doe. Basis for the suit was that Peter had been graduated from high school although able to read at only fifth grade level.

After the delays customary in a civil lawsuit, the school district, represented by the San Francisco city attorney, finally filed a demurrer asking dismissal of the complaint. It was to be heard last month, but the hearing has been postponed indefinitely.

THE COMPLAINT alleged that the plaintiff, "through the negligence, acts and omissions of defendants, has been deprived of an education in the basic skills of our society." It further charged the school district with negligence in failing to inform Peter's parents that he was not learning to read, and with fraudulently misrepresenting his progress by promoting and finally graduating him.

In a 46-page demurrer prepared by City Atty. Thomas M. O'Connor and his deputy, Burk E. Delventhal, the school district asked that the suit be thrown out because there is no cause for action.

"No contract has been alleged in this case and in fact there are none," said the demurrer.

Further, it declared: "There is no tort duty either at common or by virtue of statutory law owed by a school teacher or an educational institution to a student to teach the subject matter given in the courses, or to inform a student of his progress or problems."

Further still: "Basic public policy favoring free public education dictates that the tort duties of the school and its teachers be limited to the care and protection of the children from physical injuries."

IN OTHER WORDS, the schools do not exist to teach; they exist to "warehouse" the pupils — and warehouse them in safety.

Sections of the Education Code which were cited in the complaint, continued the demurrer, "were designed to protect no one from any type of injury and only were intended to set forth a general obligation to the people of the state of California."

What is this general obligation? According to San Francisco Unified School District, as represented by the city attorney, it is "to provide the state with an educated literate citizenry." How this obligation can be fulfilled if a youth can be graduated from high school without learning to read is left unanswered.

As to failure to inform the parents of Peter's difficulties, and misleading them through his promotions and graduation, the demurrer cited the California Government Code as granting absolute immunity to a governmental entity from action for damages due to negligence.

THE DEMURRER ENDED with a remarkable rationalization. "The plaintiff," it said, "is complaining about his failure to obtain an expectancy. The plaintiff did not know how to read at an acceptable level and presumably never did . . . The plaintiff has not lost anything."

In other words, he has been "warehoused" for 13 years (assuming he attended kindergarten), and is no worse off as far as reading or earning a living on graduation than he was at the age of five. Presumably, he could start all over again at the age of 18 and learn the things he needs to know in order to function in society and earn a living — but not, of course, in the public schools. And nobody owes him anything for wasting 13 years of his life.

"Peter W. Doe," of course, is by no means the only student graduated from high school without learning to read (or to write, or add, or subtract, or multiply, or much of anything else) beyond lower-grade levels. The case — if it ever gets to trial — may help establish whether the publicly supported education system has any responsibility to those who send their children to its schools, beyond "warehousing" those children. San Francisco Unified School District claims it has none.

Psychiatrists' Role In Court Questioned—By A Psychiatrist

Psychiatrist Martin G. Blinder, San Anselmo's well-published mayor, has another article to his credit with the publication of a piece entitled "Understanding Psychiatric Testimony" in the February edition of Judicature, a magazine aimed at promoting "the efficient administration of justice."

Blinder, who testified as an expert witness in a dozen trials last year, argues in his article that psychiatric experts should not be forced to expound on the ultimate question of criminal responsibility.

According to the author:

"I BELIEVE that the courts would do well to halt psychiatric testimony just short of this final conclusion, instead directing the expert to simply present to the trier of fact the kind of man the defendant has been and is, his symptoms and their severity, what was going on in his mind at the moment of his offense, and how the offender probably perceived his own actions at that time.

"Most important, the expert must be prepared to demonstrate how he was able to gather such data (so the trier of fact can decide how accurate or important such data is likely to be).

"This kind of information is useful to judges and juries. They deserve to have it, and defendants have a right to have them hear it. Psychiatrists are skilled in gathering it up and presenting it, and thus may rightfully be called to the stand. It is only when they endeavor to draw ultimate legal conclusions from their psychiatric data that they may exceed their expertise.

"But the courts can do without amorphous, almost indefinable concepts such as 'chronic undifferentiated schizophrenia.' No epithets such as 'psychopath' or 'moral delinquent.' No endlessly debatable legalisms such as 'insanity' or 'the mental capacity to form intent or malice' - or whatever," Blinder writes.

SAN RAFAEL'S legal department, a one-man unit now filled by City Atty. Fred C. Robbins, was the subject of a closed session held by the city council last month.

The council was particularly concerned with a flurry of legal errors that recently rocked the city. One error involved Robbins' fumbling of a city charter amendment proposal last year, requiring voters to face a similar proposal this June.

Another error came to light when the city administration disclosed that the Courthouse Square site was sold to McKeon Construction without benefit of an ordinance required by the charter.

Robbins explained at the session that the errors resulted from a mammoth workload, and councilmen informally agreed that the city is in need of a fulltime city attorney, according to one councilman.

Robbins said he would consider working full time for San Rafael as attorney, if the post were offered to him.

A June ballot proposal would make the post of city attorney appointive rather than elective.

Major Lent Has Answer To What Americans Want

By ROB TREICHLER

One of the good neighbors, Sy Lent (major, USAF, Ret.) claims to speak with authority on what the vast majority of Americans really want.

The major was over the other day with a newspaper ad for a tax preparation service, which declared: "File late if you must. But File. Don't fail to file a return. Even if it's late. We're open all year to help."

He'd attached this ad to a long scroll. Major Lent felt the sentiments in the ad should be directed to his beloved president, Richard M. Nixon, as a kindly reminder to avoid even more future difficulties. I'd like to share with you some of the tender thoughts in the "Sy Lent Proclamation of Support For Our President.":

"TO THE HONORABLE Richard M. Nixon, President. Greetings: In view of all the scurrilous attacks on you personally and on your highly respected office, we the undersigned convey this document in the hopes that it may keep you in 1974 from further compounding and complicating your difficulties for the tax year 1973.

"We do not endorse any particular tax service, but convey the sentiments expressed by this timely ad. We are all well aware that you are bridled with incompetents who make the performance of your many duties increasingly more difficult. We realize also your every word and action is observed and misinterpreted by a thoroughly biased and oppressive press corps.

"Please do give the manner of a proper tax consultant your highest personal priority. We feel that if you choose well, your taxes will be above reproach; this will be one thing less that your many detractors will be able to use to besmirch your good name and the sanctity of your office. We are also convinced a good tax consultant could also establish beyond doubt that you are in fact a resident of at least one state in which you might be privileged to pay taxes."

MAJOR LENT explained this point to me as we went over the document. He had, for 38 years of military travel, always maintained state residency, and paid taxes, both state and federal. The major felt it criminal that President Nixon had been denied the inalienable right to pay state taxes by an unscrupulous tax adviser. I agreed.

"We're with you all the way, President Nixon. We too are fed up with Watergate, congressional hearings and indictments of all the wicked people surrounding you. We the people want nothing unreasonable; we want only what our fine president promised in 1968 and again in 1972: Peace with honor in the Far East, world peace, strategic arms limitation, prosperity, employment, stabilization of the currency, law and order and responsible government. We want it; we're still waiting, and like you, we're sick and tired of waiting. Please clear your desk of the personal problems so you can attend to the promises that you made to the people whose votes put you in office. Good luck and God bless you in your work."

I signed the Sy Lent Proclamation. I'd be happy with the president if he delivered even half of what he promised. If there's still a chance that he might, I'd let him try.

Sale Approved Of Super Glue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission has approved continued sale of a glue so strong it can temporarily bond hands and fingers together.

The glue, called cyanoacrelate and marketed in the U.S. under several brand names, was subjected to a lengthy investigation and public hearings after a consumer group asked whether it should not be declared hazardous.

Manufacturers of the glue demonstrated at hearings that fingers stuck together could be unbonded by slowly peeling them apart or by using a nail polish removal as a solvent.

YMCA Nearly At $20,000 Goal

The Young Men's Christian Association of Marin's drive to raise $20,000 had reached 90 per cent of its goal when the drive ended yesterday, according to June Weden, drive chairman.

With $18,000 received, she said, more may come in after the end of the drive.

Roaring Twenties Reunion Is Set

San Rafael High School classes of the Roaring Twenties (1920 to 1930) will hold a reunion on May 18 at the Elks Club in San Rafael.

A no-host cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by dinner and dancing. Reservations for members of the 1920s classes and their spouses will close May 14, according to Camillo Mello of San Francisco, ticket chairman.

Slayer Marries After Conviction

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — William Fogg did not let a first-degree murder conviction stand in the way of his wedding.

Fogg, 25, and Cynthia Kovatch, 19, were married in a jailhouse ceremony Sunday, only a day after a superior court jury found Fogg guilty of a Jan. 11 stabbing death.

The ceremony was held under tight security in a glass-enclosed conference room at the county-city jail. No guards were in the room, but they stood just outside the only door.

Five friends of the bride and groom attended the simple ceremony conducted by the Rev. David Hayes.

Scavengers Arrive First

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The city's newspaper recycling program has gotten off to a less than impressive beginning.

As a test of the new program, Streets Commissioner Stephen M. Harmsen asked 350 families in the Federal Heights area to separate bundles of old newspapers from their regular garbage yesterday.

"By the time our trucks got around to it, most of it was gone," Harmsen said. "The scavengers got there first."

The commissioner said he would ask the city commission to pass an ordinance declaring all garbage left at curbside to be the property of the city. Old newspapers sell for about $25 per ton, he said.

Carnation Will Change Drink Ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Carnation Co. acknowledged today that its powdered chocolate drink is not the nutritional equivalent of regular milk, and agreed to stop advertising it that way.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said Carnation already had changed the name of the product to "Instant Chocolate Flavored Drink" instead of "Instant Chocolate Flavored Nonfat Dry Milk" as it was called when the FTC accused the firm of false advertising. The agency said use of the word "milk" was misleading.

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, April 17, the 107th day of 1974 with 258 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

American financier J.P. Morgan was born April 17, 1837.

On this day in history:

In 1521, Martin Luther was excommunicated from the Roman Catholic Church after refusing to admit charges of heresy.

In 1917, New York Sen. William Calder introduced a bill establishing Daylight Saving Time. It was defeated.

In 1961, a force of anti-Castro Cuban rebels began what was to end as the ill-fated "Bay of Pigs" incident.

In 1964, Mrs. Jerrie Mock of Columbus, Ohio, became the first woman to make a solo flight around the world.

A thought for the day: American humorist Mark Twain said, "Work consists of whatever a body is obliged to do. Play consists of what a body is not obliged to do."

South Is Faced With One Of Those Things—A Yarborough

More than a hundred years ago, in English whist circles, Lord Yarborough would offer 1,000 pounds to one that a particular player would not pick up a hand without an honor card. This was not philanthropy, since the true odds were almost twice as high. Ever since, a hand with no card higher than a nine has been called a Yarborough.

Even so worthless a hand may have its value.

VERY UNHAPPY

North was very unhappy with his hand, but could do little about it. He fully expected to suffer a bad loss when he exposed his ghastly hand as the dummy. The final result was a delightful surprise.

West opened the king of hearts and continued with the queen. South ruffed, cashed the ace of clubs and continued with the jack.

West snorted at this attempt to fool him and took the trick with the king of clubs. Now he switched to a spade, and South took the ace. The switch was too late, for South cashed the queen of clubs to discard a spade from dummy and then led his last club to discard dummy's last spade. East likewise discarded a spade.

A CROSSRUFF

A crossruff was now possible, for South threatened to ruff spades in dummy and hearts in his own hand. West therefore led his eight of diamonds.

East put up the ten of diamonds, and South won with the queen. Now declarer ruffed a spade in dummy and got back by ruffing a heart in his hand. Finally, South ruffed his last spade with dummy's seven of diamonds.

East had to overruff with the jack of diamonds and lead a trump from the king-five to South's ace-nine. South thus made his doubled contract with an overtrick.

New Hardening Material Found

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A UCLA researcher announced today that he had developed the second hardest material in the world, after diamonds.

The discovery is "easily the most startling material development in recent years," a UCLA spokesman said of the work by Prof. Rointan F. Bunshah, an engineering researcher.

The material is called titanium carbide, and it can be produced at one-hundredth to one-thousandth the cost of producing commercial grades of synthetic diamonds, for such uses as power drills, turbine blades, jet engines, heavy industrial cutters and other machinery uses, the UCLA announcement said.

Terwillinger Film To Be Seen Friday

A nature film, "Grassland, Chaparral, Fresh Water Pond" by Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley will be premiered on station KQED at 1 p.m., Friday.

It is a film about a boy from San Francisco who explores the beauty of Marin County with a friend's grandfather. They go by horseback, bicycle and canoe.

The boy becomes aware of the beauty of nature in the country. He finds beauty in the city when he returns to San Francisco.

The film is suited to preschoolers and up to sixth graders. The movie was produced by Marin Audubon Society with financial help from Standard Oil Co. It may be borrowed free from Standard Oil Co. Public Relations Department in San Francisco.

Liza Minnelli Has To Cancel Show

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Nev. (UPI) — Actress Liza Minnelli collapsed offstage last night while awaiting to perform before a sellout crowd at Harrah's Club.

Stage manager Jacques Vogt said the Academy Award winning actress and singer had symptoms of the flu and an upset stomach while waiting in the wings.

'JUBILEE' CREATORS

Show's Producers Are Qualified

By PAT NIEDER
(San Rafael Centennial Committee)

PAUL McMULLEN

VALERIE McMULLEN
. . . creates Centennial musical

Their first drama credits after college were for a jingle for Friedman's Jewelry Store in Augusta, Ga. He was a private in the Army; she got a job writing ads for a radio station. They had very little money, and they realized if they performed the jingle themselves they'd earn residuals every time it was played on the air.

The enterprising pair was Paul and Valerie McMullen, now of San Rafael, creators of "Jubilee," a two-act musical based on the story of San Rafael, from mission days to the present, which will be staged in May as part of the community's Centennial celebration.

With more than a score of songs set to Broadway music and a cost of 130 singers, dancers and actors, the production is no small undertaking. Considering that nearly everyone involved with the show is a volunteer and that rehearsals are scheduled for almost every night of the week on a crash basis between now and showtime makes the entire production all the more remarkable.

But tackling mind-boggling projects is not new to the McMullens. From singing for their supper in Augusta, the two Whitman College graduates (she majored in dramatics, he in communications with a minor in dramatics) were sent by the Army to Japan. There Paul, not knowing one word of Japanese, was put in charge of writing and producing a musical variety show which the Army produced for Japanese television. Paul wrote all the scripts and produced the show, using American talent, and then it was all translated into Japanese.

Also during Paul's Army stint, the couple toured the Far East in an Army Special Services production of "Guys and Dolls," Paul as Nathan Detroit and Valerie as Sarah Brown. In addition, Paul was winner of the All Army Entertainment Contest in the Far East.

Returning to Seattle (Valerie's hometown; Paul grew up in Alaska) after Army service, Paul was employed as executive director of the World Affairs Council, and on a part-time basis appeared with his wife in productions at the Aqua Theater. Now a thing of the past, the theater featured a stage that floated on a lake with the orchestra set up on a barge and the audience seated in bleachers on the shore.

Paul has also done narration with the Seattle Symphony and written radio scripts. He was station manager of the University of Oregon's radio station when he went there for a master's degree and also attended Stanford's Radio-TV Institute.

The McMullens moved to California in 1960, and Paul went to work in the public relations department of Pacific Telephone. Later transferred to AT&T in New York, the family lived in New Jersey and both Paul and Valerie were active in little theater work there. They also performed for conventions with a two-man singing and musical comedy show.

Since returning to California, both have been involved with volunteer work with local schools and for the past two years, much of Paul's spare time has been occupied by his membership on the San Rafael Board of Education.

In addition to the many theatrical projects with Paul, Valerie has also done a good deal of work with children's theater, a specialty of hers. She did this sort of work at the University of Washington, in Seattle and in the Far East.

The McMullen children, Melinda and Michael, both San Rafael High School students, share their parents' enthusiasm for the stage. Both have appeared in numerous school productions and both are part of the "Jubilee" cast.

Although Paul and Valerie have done little theatrical work since returning to California from the East Coast, they did write and perform a minimusical before some 300 people at a dinner celebrating Hugo Rinaldi's 25th anniversary with the San Rafael School District. (Rinaldi, who is coordinator of music for the city's schools and conductor of Orchestra Piccola and the Marin Youth Symphony, is music coordinator for "Jubilee.")

"I guess that was what spurred people on to persuade us to take on this project," Paul said. "And here we are."

Performances of "Jubilee" will be May 17, 18 and 19 and May 21, 22, 23 and 24 at San Rafael High School. Tickets can be obtained through the Centennial office at San Rafael City Hall.

'CBS Radio Mystery Theater' Is Boon To More Airwaves Drama

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Thanks to a revived audience interest in more than music, news and sports, no less than four new radio drama or humor series are on the nation's airwaves these days. Now a fifth series is afoot.

It's the National Public Radio Theater, a dramatic effort that lasts an hour. Distribution of it began this month to the 163 public radio stations in the federally funded National Public Radio System.

NPR officials say a total of 11 of the weekly shows will be sent the stations this year, with a minimum of 26 new ones ordered for 1975. All will feature original or adapted material written only for radio.

What prompted it?

"One of the big things that moved us ahead was the success of the 'CBS Radio Mystery Theater," an NPR spokesman said, referring to the hour-long, weeknight series that made its debut in January.

"I think it proved the point that we've been trying to push," he said. "That there is an audience for radio drama if they, the audience, knows it's there."

Other radio series now on the air are the Mutual Broadcasting network's "Zero Hour," a suspense effort; a "National Lampoon" comedy series and "Sounds of the City," a soap opera about a black family.

The radio plays are produced by EARPLAY, a joint project of the University of Wisconsin's extension school and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, at the university's radio station in Madison.

Karl Schmidt, a professor of educational communications, supervises the project. He says the show draws its thespians from New York Chicago and the Minneapolis-St. Paul area as well as from the studentry.

"Mostly, we work through drama agents in New York," he said, "but we also solicit manuscripts through ads in the New York Times, the Saturday Review and other publications like that."

The pay for the scrivening is more inspirational than any known muse. Schmidt says an original, one-hour radio drama is worth $2,000 on acceptance, regardless of the author's fame or lack of it.

Question: Since few public radio stations can afford to advertise, how can listeners find out the call letters of the nearest NPR outlet, and when the programs air?

A spokesman said the best way is for the listener to write NPR's office in Washington, D.C., and ask which NPR station is in his or her area. Then call the station and ask when the show begins.

Court Rules Unborn Child Fully Eligible For Welfare

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An unborn child is fully eligible for welfare (Aid to Families with Dependent Children) the California Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

The high court overturned a state welfare regulation which deducted from the assistance grant to a pregnant woman an amount calculated to be the unborn child's reduced need for food, clothing and shelter.

The State Court of Appeal in March 1973 held such cuts were illegal. The state Social Welfare Department had ordered grants to pregnant women reduced in August 1972.

"We have concluded," said the court, "that the regulations at issue are invalid because they purport to consider, contrary to the probable intent of federal and state law, that the mother's body constitutes a resource of the fetus the economic value of which resource may be deducted from the assistance grant otherwise payable to the mother upon pregnancy."

The unanimous decision written by Justice Louis Burke ordered the regulation rescinded, declaring neither state nor federal law permits such a deduction from the assistance grant otherwise payable to the mother upon pregnancy."

It noted that the federal law provides states may provide aid to meet the needs of unborn children and that California elected to include such children under the AFDC as early as 1949.

The court said an unborn child must be treated in the same manner as any other aid recipient and there is no authority to reduce the size of its grant solely because it remains unborn.

The court said the grant really is made to the mother, rather than to her unborn child and that such a child is entitled to be treated as any other person for purposes of computing AFDC aid.

Nixon Pledges Disaster Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has ordered quick action on getting federal disaster aid to areas devastated by tornados and floods.

Nixon told domestic affairs adviser Kenneth Role yesterday to concentrate relief efforts in the town of Guin, Ala., where many victims of a recent tornado are still without housing because of a shortage of mobile homes.

"The President directed Cole to use all available federal resources to solve this problem," a White House statement said.

Corn Destroyed

BANGKOK (UPI) — A massive swarm of locusts has descended on central Thailand and destroyed 12,000 acres of corn, the Agricultural Department said today.

Strawberry Rec Board Sets Budget

A preliminary budget of $110,271 — up approximately 20 per cent over last year's spending program — has been approved by the Strawberry Recreation District board.

The new budget, set for public hearing and adoption on June 10, calls for estimated tax revenues of $82,491, to be generated by a tax rate of 51 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Last year, the tax rate was the same, but the budget was only approximately $90,000. According to Gayle L. Hunter, district recreation manager, the increase was caused mainly by salary increases and hikes in maintenance costs.

The district board Monday also allocated $250 to prepare fact sheets on the $500,000 open space bond issue to be voted upon June 4.

Danger Of Nuclear Reactors Said Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Dr. Dixy Lee Ray says the AEC is preparing a study on the safety nuclear reactors that will show the worst nuclear reactor accident would be of no greater magnitude than a large plane crash.

Dr. Ray said the report shows the risks of nuclear energy are "trivial compared to the benefits derived," and recommends the U.S. speed up its reactor building program.

Ross School Sets Budget Workshop

Ross School District trustees have scheduled a special workshop April 29 at 8 p.m. in the Ross School to discuss the format of the district's 1974-75 budget.

Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said trustees decided Monday to hold the special meeting. He said a preliminary budget will not be drafted until after that meeting.

49ers Won't Lack National Exposure

Five of the 49ers' games — four regular season and one exhibition — will be on national television. The team will be on Monday night TV three times, the first time Sept. 2 in an exhibition game against the Raiders at Candlestick Park.

TED KWALICK

The other Monday night TV games are Oct. 14 at Detroit and Nov. 4 at home against the Rams. The other nationally televised games are second half of doubleheaders, Oct. 20 at Los Angeles and Oct. 27 against the Raiders, again at Candlestick.

So the Raiders will be at Candlestick twice, the first time for exhibition and the second time for real. It all sounds very interesting.

But will there even be a season? The owners and players are still miles apart in their negotiations and threat of a players strike still looms. The players have handed the owners an eight-page list of demands with hopes the owners will swallow maybe half of the demands and spit back the rest. So far the owners are not swallowing enough of them.

Then if the strike is averted, will the 49ers be good enough to warrant all that national television exposure? Right now it's a team not knowing who the quarterback is, ready to start the 1974 season with two lame duck players, tight end Ted Kwalick and middle linebacker Jim Sniadecki. Those two, along with utility man John Isenbarger, will be playing out their options this year, ready to make the jump to Hawaii and the World Football League in 1975. The contracts have already been signed.

The belief among many observers is that the players will be giving their all for the dear old 49ers in their last year of employment, but it surely will be hard for them to keep their minds from wandering off to the distant islands. Call it Polynesian paralysis, if you must, but it's gonna be hard for them to keep their concentration on the present rather than the future.

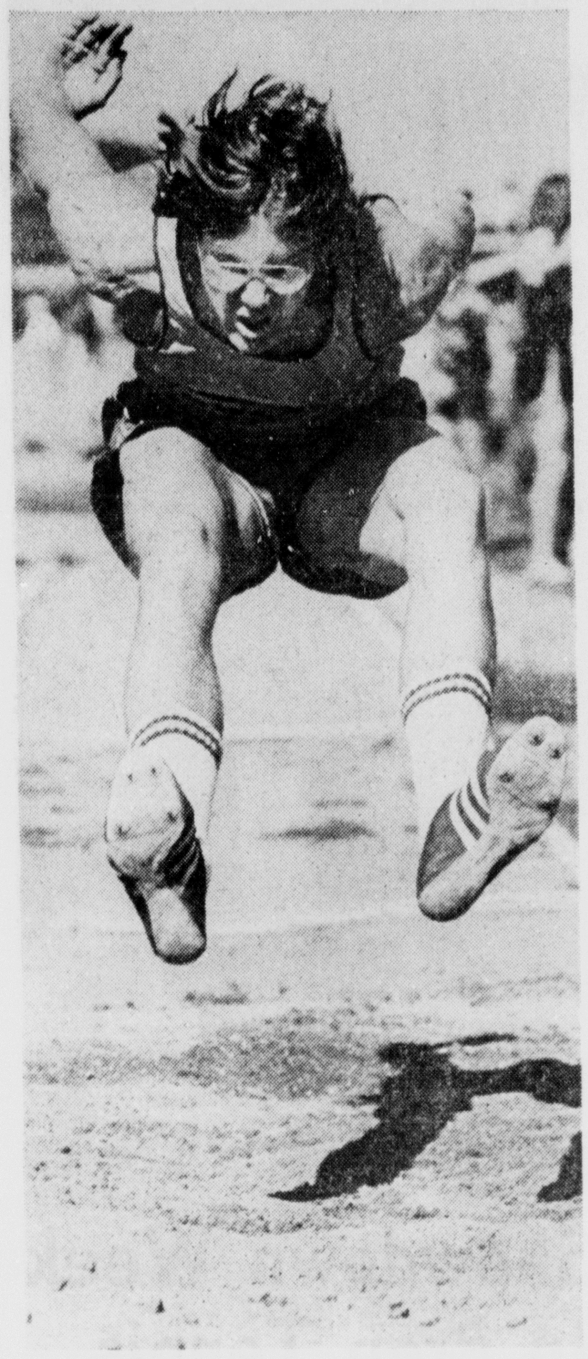
Ah, a mahi-mahi sandwich under the shade of a palm, or maybe a mai tai after a brief swim in the Pacific surf. Concentrate, you guys, concentrate.

Kwalick, as you may remember, is a director in the American Sports Club of San Francisco. He probably helped the club land the guest speaker for the April 30 meeting. The guest? None other than Gary Davidson, president of the World Football League.

Davidson is the man who also started the American Basketball Association and the World Hockey League. He is going to be joined by Mike Giddings, former 49er assistant coach and now head coach for Hawaii, and Sniadecki. And I imagine Kwalick will be on hand.

The sports club people are expecting a large turnout for the dinner at the Hyatt at Union Square. They'll probably get it.

The 49ers still have a few months to think about the loss of some of their players to the WFL. After all, they won't be reporting to training camp for another three months. My, how time flies . . . football season is almost here.



RUNNING AND JUMPING — Novato High School's George Cagle (left photo) and Terra Linda's Harry Bolton starred for their respective teams yesterday as the Trojans took an 80-56 victory in a Marin County Athletic League track and field meet at Novato. Cagle won the 440, 880 (shown) and two mile runs, while Bolton won the triple jump (shown) and low hurdles and ran on a victorious mile relay team. (Photos by Alfred M. Arn)

PREP TRACK AND FIELD

Terra Linda Wins Fourth

George Cagle and Tom Bridges did their best, but they couldn't keep Novato High School from losing to first-place Terra Linda in a Marin County Athletic League track and field meet yesterday.

Terra Linda boosted its league record to 4-0 with an 80-56 victory. In other MCAL meets, Redwood downed visiting San Rafael, 74-62, and San Marin overwhelmed host Marin Catholic, 111-53.

Bridges showed versatility in winning the 100-yard dash, 120 high hurdles and long jump and running anchor on the victorious 440 relay team. Cagle scored an unusual triple victory, adding the two-mile run to his usual 440 and 880 (the latter in 2:00.1).

Harry Bolton won for Terra Linda with good marks in the 330 low hurdles (41.9) and triple jump (41-11¾) and anchor leg on the triumphant mile relay team.

Redwood got double victories from Darrell Elder in the shot put and discus, Ed Phelps in the 220 and 440 and Mark Kilmer in the long and triple jumps. Terry Kom won two individual events for San Marin.

Bryant Might Be Ready For Some Pitching Duty

HOUSTON (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants may have lost the battle, but they hoped they won the war here yesterday.

San Francisco flopped 4-0 to Houston last night as Tom Griffin scattered three hits and drove in two runs with his fourth career homer.

Jim Willoughby and Jim Barr pitched well enough for the Giants, but Griffin was in complete control as only Chris Speier, Garry Maddox and Gary Matthews managed hits.

But all was not gloom for the Giants.

Ron Bryant, the Giants' 24-game winning southpaw of last season, took his first lengthy pitching workout since being sidelined by a freak accident at a Palm Springs swimming pool March 15.

He looked sharp and manager Charlie Fox said that "Bear (Bryant) might now go back to the mound earlier than we had hoped possible. He might come out of the bullpen tomorrow for a couple of innings if we need him."

The 27-year-old lefty might then be ready to start next week at home, Fox added.

Yesterday's workout was conducted as close to game conditions as possible as Bryant tossed 73 pitches to eight colleagues. To add a note of total authenticity, Bryant's lucky stuffed bear sat in the far corner of the empty dugout.

Dave Rader, who caught Bryant and flashed the signs, also called balls and strikes. Pitching coach Don McMahon stood back of the batting cage talking quietly to the perspiring Bryant.

Four Giants singled, Ken Rudolph doubled, eight fanned and two walked.

Raiders Quickly Sign Quarterback

OAKLAND (UPI) — First it was Ken Stabler who left the Oakland Raiders and now Daryle Lamonica has quit, both signing lucrative contracts with the new World Football League, and suddenly taxi squad member Don Milan is a big man around here.

He's so big that the Raiders quickly signed him to a three-year contract yesterday, starting with $40,000 in salary for 1974.

Stabler, who signed two weeks ago with Birmingham of the WFL, and Lamonica, who signed yesterday with the Southern California Sun of the same new league, both will play for the Raiders in 1974.

Key Game Today For Marin Tars

SANTA ROSA — College of Marin's baseball team was looking to today's key game with Contra Costa College following a 4-2 victory over Santa Rosa here yesterday in which strikeouts — or lack of them — played a key part.

Mark Ruggles was to pitch today as the Tars (7-4) bid to take over first place in the Northern division of the Camino Norte Conference from the host Comets (7-3).

By contrast, no Tar batters struck out. Santa Rosa's busy fielders made four errors to let in all four Marin runs and ruin a seven-hit pitching job by their ace, Gary Philbert.

STAN WALKER ROLLS HIS SECOND 300

Stan Walker, a wallpaper hanger from Larkspur with a 204 average, rolled a perfect game last night in the Mixed Mates II league at Greenbrae Lanes.

His evening's series was 226-300-198 for an impressive 724 total. The perfect game was his second in sanctioned competition, the other also having occurred at Greenbrae.

Sonoma State Finally Ends Nine-Game Skid

Sonoma State College broke a nine-game losing streak yesterday with an 8-5 baseball victory over visiting non-league opponent the University of San Francisco.

Wayne Bauers hit a two-run home run for the Cossacks (9-16) in the fifth inning, following Phil Wambold's triple. Kenny Williams knocked in runs with doubles in the fourth and seventh.

A's Find New Way To Win

OAKLAND (UPI) — Every day, it seems, the Oakland A's think of a new way to beat some one.

Last night, in a 4-3 decision over the slump-ridden Chicago White Sox, the A's combined the home run bats of Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando plus the seven-hit, nine-inning pitching of their relief corps of Paul Lindblad, Darold Knowles and Rollie Fingers.

Jackson hit his sixth homer of the year, which ties him for the American League lead with Graig Nettles of the New York Yankees, Bando chipped in with his second and Bert Campaneris beat out a drag bunt after a triple by Angel Mangual to account for the offense.

Lindblad was given a rare starting role —only his fifth since 1967 —because the A's have only three starters. He made the most of it by holding the White Sox to four hits and two runs in 6 1-3 innings. Knowles added on an inning of two-hit pitching and Fingers, working in his fourth game in a row and his sixth of the year, finished up by giving up only one hit, and that was that.

"I don't mind starting once in a while if it will help," said Lindblad. "If I'm going to start I would rather it be at home where the crowd is with you. It's funny, but the only time I hear the crowd is when I start. I never even know anyone is there when I pitch in relief." Last night's turnout was 3,641.

Lindblad won't have to worry about starting again until May 5-6. That's because there are enough breaks in the schedule where the three starters —Vida Blue, Jim Hunter and Ken Holtzman —can take care of things.

"I'll need Lindblad and some one else on May 5 and 6" said manager Al Dark. "I guess Lindblad will work one of those games and I'll think of someone else for the other."

Fingers said he doesn't mind the steady work this early in the season but he wouldn't want to work as often later.

"I'm strong now," said Fingers, who once pitched in nine straight games and another time in seven, "but it wouldn't be smart to work me this hard late in the year."

Fingers has pitched 14 innings this year and has an earned run average of 0.64. He also has a 2-0 record and a save.

The A's did most of their damage last night against knuckleballer Wilbur Wood, who lost to Oakland for the seventh straight time. Jackson, a statistically minded man, said his homer was his ninth off Wood over the years. Bando can't remember ever hitting one off Wood.

Wood, who has Chicago's only victory this year in nine games, suffered his third loss in four decisions.

The two clubs conclude their current series tonight with Blue pitching against Stan Bahnsen.

Did Finley Take Wrong Approach?

Maybe he should have promoted the game itself. I sat in the press box at the Oakland Colesium Monday night and couldn't help but wonder if Charles O. Finley had gone about it backwards.

All I heard before the game was one complaint after another. Finley, in what poses as an economy move, has cut back on many of the services that previously had been accorded the press. This, at the very least, is a serious social blunder. Worse than that however is the fact that an already antagonized press is further antagonized. In no way can the Oakland Athletics afford this.

AS YOU'VE HEARD, the fireworks which greeted each Oakland home run, as well as each victory, has been discontinued. Gone also are Mary Barry and Debbie Shivyer, the very attractive young ladies who served as ball girls. Both attractions have gone the way of the machanical rabbit who dispensed balls to the umpires and the colored bases.

What if the public hadn't been given the fireworks, ball girls, umpire feeding rabbits or colored bases? What if a great club was allowed to develop as an attraction of its own? Sure you have to have an occasional Bat Day or Family Night but the main draw should be the team. And what a team it is! The best in baseball; proven by consecutive world championships.

WHY THEN DO WE find the A's and most everyone connected with them leading the league in gripes? The answer, I think, lies in the lack of positive support from the owner, the press, or the public. If anyone, aside from the opposing pitchers, cared about this club, there wouldn't be the constant problems with rings, shoes, field conditions, etc.

I commented to Blue Moon Odom after Monday night's thrilling 13-inning win that it was a shame that only 5,700 fans were in attendance. He shrugged and stated that by Tuesday night only 3,700 would bother to come out. His attitude seems typical of the rest of the players.

SITTING IN manager Alvin Dark's office after the ball game brought yet another example of the way things are. A few general questions on events of the game were answered but not without Alvin volunteering superlatives on five or six of his players. He seemed almost like a talent agent who had to make people aware of each one of his properties. People like Ken Holtzman, Sal Bando and Rollie Fingers shouldn't need to have someone banging the drum for them much less the manager of the team.

THE INDIVIDUAL who received the most fan attention Monday night is the man who might have been able to promote the A's into something people would come out to see in great numbers. He is Harry Caray, currently the announcer for the White Sox. He was leading his fans in cheers between innings. After the game there were at least 10 persons waiting to say hello outside his radio booth. Caray is unfortunately another victim of the famous Finley meat cleaver.

The Oakland Colesium is a great place to watch a ballgame, regardless of any special occasion. Of course, if Hot Pants Day comes up again I'm sure we can all get a group together.

San Marin Wallops Marin 'Cats

Exploding for seven runs in the first two innings, San Marin High School opened its Marin County Athletic League baseball season with a 10-2 victory over visiting Marin Catholic yesterday.

Allan Davidson, Ken Ronshausen, Bruce Smith and Chris Purdy all stole bases and scored in the first inning. Smith and George Saunders singled in two of the runs.

John Bulleri pitched the distance for the Mustangs, giving up only two walks, three hits, and no earned runs. San Marin allowed only six Wildcats on base.

Novato In 6-0 Win Over Drake

Novato High School rode Mike Moroski's arm to a 6-0 victory over Drake yesterday and a perfect 2-0 record in Marin County Athletic League baseball action.

Moroski, a junior right-hander, allowed three hits and two walks while striking out eight in the victory at Novato.

Tamalpais Edges Past San Rafael

Late slugging by John Wynn and Alvin Hall gave Tamalpais High School an 8-7 victory over visiting San Rafael in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game yesterday.

Wynn's bases-loaded triple capped a two-out, four-run rally in the fifth inning which put Tam ahead, 7-6. Hall's solo homer in the sixth added an insurance run which proved necessary when Hall, relieving in the seventh, balked across a run.

Redwood Turns Back Terra Linda

Terra Linda High School managed to hold off Redwood's sluggers for the regulation seven innings yesterday, but the roof caved in during the eighth in a 5-1 Redwood victory.

A bases-loaded double by Jeff Vogel, followed by Rob Long's double, boosted the Giants to the Marin County Athletic League victory at Albert Field.

Redwood pitcher Ed Andersen and Terra Linda's Mike Bird dueled on even terms through seven innings. Each allowed one unearned run in the seventh. Andersen finished up to earn the victory.

Horses Preparing For Cal Derby

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — Candidates for Saturday's $100,000 added California Derby, final major prep for the Kentucky Derby, continue workouts today at Golden Gate Fields.

The derby field began arriving at the Albany course yesterday with Agigtate the latest invader now on the scene.

Showdown Week In Prep Tennis

This is showdown week on the Terra Linda High School tennis courts, and Trojan fans certainly like what their team showed yesterday.

Terra Linda annihilated previously undefeated Drake, 6-1, to take over the undisputed lead in the Marin County Athletic League, with a home confrontation looming tomorrow against defending champin Redwood.

In other MCAL matches yesterday, Redwood blanked host San Marin, 7-0; Marin Catholic whipped host Novato, 7-0, and Tamalpais upset visiting San Rafael, 5-2.

The outcomes left Terra Linda with a 4-0 record, Redwood and Tam at 4-1 and Drake at 3-1 in the closest race in years. Drake upset Redwood April 2, 4-3.

Doug Carlisle of the Trojans won the first singles match from Drake's Gene Lachelt yesterday, 6-4, 6-0, reversing a loss 10 days before in a local tournament. "He played an excellent game and Terra Linda played really well as a team," said Drake coach Will Curley.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Some Pointers On Spring Painting

Wooden boats must be painted every spring to keep them in good condition. But every year I find a lot more people painting aluminum and fiber glass boats despite the fact that they aren't supposed to need it.

I remember when I bought my first fiber glass reinforced plastic boat the salesman said: "It will never need painting."

Well, I'm painting it this year because it is faded, and the finish is rough and coarse, and pitted from age and use.

This is usually the reason for painting a fiber glass boat. Some owners, however, just want a new color (most of the earlier plastic boats were white) or the boat may have been patched.

Aluminum boats that are getting old also need painting, even if it's only to put a non-skid finish on the inside. This non-slip finish saves a lot of skinned knees and elbows, and it's an absolute must for the angler who gets a lot of water in his boat from fishing tackle.

An aluminum boat that is made from marine aluminum alloy never needs painting as a protection. The aluminum provides its own protection. Painting an aluminum boat is strictly for esthetic or cosmetic purposes.

But whatever the reasons for painting a boat it's a job full of uncertainties as the questions indicate:

Q. I took old paint off with paint remover. The new paint didn't stick. Should I have used a blow torch?

A. Some paint removers have waxes in them to retard evaporation of the solvents. After the old paint has been taken off the surface should be wiped down with thinners or mineral solvent such as varsol or naphtha (be very careful, it's inflammable) or washed with detergent and water to remove the wax.

Q. Anything I should know about painting a plywood boat?

A. This above all! Seal the wood thoroughly with the very best sealer, primer and paint. Plywood should not get wet, because it can't swell up or expand like other woods. This is because the grain of the plies lie in several directions. If they expand they tend to tear the material apart.

Q. I've got epoxy paint for my fiber glass boat, but the directions don't say how to prepare the surface.

A. A fiber glass-plastic boat should be clean (wash with detergent), and roughened with fine sandpaper to give the new paint something to grip and bond to. Sand it enough to take off all the gloss, then wipe down with lacquer thinners.

Q. I want to paint my trailer boat the same color as the car. Can I use the same paint?

A. Yes, but it will probably come off in flakes after two or three weeks. Get the proper paint for whatever kind of boat you have. It's possible to match the color. Car enamels are intended for primed metal. On boats, generally, they are not so good.

Q. Why doesn't an aluminum boat need paint?

A. It doesn't need it for protection, because the surface of the metal oxidizes to form a very thin, rough film which protects the rest of the metal beneath. But the film is a dull gray. If you see bright aluminum, it's either very new or lacquered.

Q. Should I use steel wool on metal fittings?

A. I see many people using steel wool, but I think it's poison around a boat. You can never pick up all the tiny particles of steel left after use . . . even with a tack rag. They rust and stain the surface.

Q. What's a tack rag?

A. It's the handiest gadget a fine painter can have. It picks up dust and grit that might mar the finish. It's made by wetting a big hunk of cheesecloth then sprinkling with droplets of thinned varnish. Knead the cloth a little and you'll begin to feel the tackiness.

Q. What's "spar" varnish?

A. Spar varnish is "long on oil" as the painters say. It's got more oil, and less resin in its make-up than varnishes designed for interior work. This means it dries with a more resilient surface or "skin" and withstands sun and weather better.

WHO BUILT THIS TRACK?

Jim Ryun (left) and Ben Jipcho ran eight tenths of a mile from the Portland International Airport Terminal to the Sheraton Inn yesterday, testing the inn owner's claim that the distance could be run in 68 seconds. it took them about four minutes at a leisurely pace. The two are in Portland for Saturday's professional track and field meet.

Petaluma Falls To Tennis Foe

The winless Trojans yesterday were handed their second North Bay league defeat, 4-3, by visiting Napa.

Casa Grande Trackmen Lose

Casa Grande High School hosted its first Sonoma County League track and field meet yesterday, but it wasn't a very pleasant housewarming party.

Staging a double-duel meet against Analy (Sebastopol) and El Molino (Forestville), the Gauchos came out on the short end to both visitors, falling to Analy, 110-75, and El Molino, 75-61.

Rancho Wins On Late Rally

Rancho Cotate High School put together a three-run sixth-inning rally yesterday to win ts Sonoma County League baseball opener, 5-4, from visiting El Molino (Forestville).

The winning run for the Cougars was provided by Ray Jones, whose single to left scored Bob O'Connor. O'Connor also singled to drive in a run, and Rich Woodley plated the other one on a fielder's choice to second base.

In other local high school baseball action yesterday, Petaluma dropped a 13-8 North Bay League decision to visiting Napa, St. Vincent exploded late for an 11-2 North Central League II win over host Point Arena and Tomales was drubbed, 10-0, by NCL II host Calistoga.

Petaluma (0-2) pitchers allowed just four earned runs to the Indians, but were betrayed by four errors. All four runs were tallied against starter John Alejos, who absorbed the loss in a five-inning effort.

The Trojans' offense was supplied by Mike Maselli and Gordy Ross, who had three hits each. All of Maselli's blows went for extra bases with two doubles and a triple.

St. Vincent (1-0) put together a four-run, two-out rally in the sixth inning to break the game open, and then came back with five more runs in the seventh. Tony Sagaral's blooper past the infield brought Pete Leoni across with the winning run.

Rich Thompsen gave the Mustangs a fine effort on the mound, striking out seven and allowing no walks in six innings.

Tomales (2-1) was pinned with its first defeat of the year by Calistoga's Dennis Fechter, who allowed the Braves just one hit. Sam Marsi singled in the third inning.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

A Good Year For Western Publishing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have Western Publishing stock which recently moved from over-the-counter to the New York Stock Exchange. What does this mean? — K.L.

A. New York listing carries with it a certain measure of prestige, since listing requirements are strict. In order to qualify, a corporation must meet minimum standards on earnings power, market value of its shares and number of shares and shareholders.

The company's industry ranking and growth prospects are also a factor in gaining the status of a Big Board listing. Aside from the prestige attached to NYSE listing, the company may gain such tangible advantages as greater national exposure for its securities, broader share ownership, easing the way to raising new capital and an orderly market for share transactions.

Western shares, now trading about 5x estimated 1974 earnings, appear well worth retaining for recovery. At the present time, the shares yield a generous 5.4 per cent from the recently increased cash dividend. An additional 3 per cent in stock was paid in 1973. At the year end, current assets exceeded current liabilities by 3.9x. Sales and earnings in 1973 rose 9 per cent and 17 per cent respectively and both set new records.

Because 41 per cent of sales and 22 per cent of income is derived from commercial printing — a cyclical business — first-quarter earnings comparisons may not be favorable. Full year profit should again set a new record in the absence of expenses associated with a plant closing last year and the easing of price controls.

Q. What has happened to Nicholson File? It is no longer listed. If it was merged, what were the terms and who took it over? — F.M.

A. In October 1972, Cooper Industries (NYSE) issued 453,790 shares of $2.50 convertible B preferred to acquire a like number of Nicholson shares. Prior to the merger, Cooper held a 22 per cent interest in Nicholson as the result of an earlier $6.2 million cash purchase.

The $2.50 preferred, which is convertible into 1.8 common shares, recently traded at $71, a 2.4 per cent premium over conversion value.

NEW BANK OF AMERICA

Construction will begin next month on Bank of America's new office at Ignacio Boulevard in Ignacio, opposite the Del Prado Shopping Center. The bank's present office at Hamilton Air Force Reserve Base will relocate into this new building, scheduled for completion in early summer. Architect is Milton W. Chambers of San Rafael.

Interest Rate News Cuts Into Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — After opening stronger, stock prices turned mixed on the New York Stock Exchange today as investors faced disappointing interest rate news. Trading was moderate.

Early gains in the average disappeared immediately following news Citizens and Southern National Bank of Atlanta had raised its prime lending rate to a record breaking 10.5 per cent on new loans, and to 10¼ per cent on existing loans.

The development cast new doubts on Wall Street's recent hopes that short-term interest rates had reached a plateau.

Avis stock slid 4¼ to 14⅝ after a delayed opening and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., parent firm of Avis, was the second most active stock and dropped ⅛. It was announced a merger agreement reached a month ago, under which Avis would have become part of a unit of American Express, is being terminated for the time being. The pact would have called for payment by American Express of $25 a share for every Avis common share.

Few other stocks showed large changes, but glamors lost some ground after the previous day's gains. Polaroid, reporting a decline in first quarter per-share earnings, dropped 3⅝. IBM fell 2½, Motorola 1⅝, Fairchild Camera and Bausch & Lomb 1¼.

Oils were mixed. Halliburnot added 1¼, while Natomas and Atlantic Richfield each fell 1⅛.

Silver Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman today quoted silver at $4.50 cents per fine ounce, up 10 cents. Engelhard quoted silver bullion at $4.50, up 10 cents and fabricated silver at $4.545, up 10.1 cents.

Consolidated Oil & Gas led the actives, up ¼ to 8⅛ on 27,100 shares.

Dividend Set

SAN FRANCISCO — A dividend of 50 cents per share of beneficial interest has been declared by the trustees of BankAmerica Realty Investors for the quarter ending April 30, 1974. The dividend is payable May 31 to shareowners of record May 1, 1974.

Western Tel Announces Tax Check

More than $500,000 has been paid by Western California Telephone Co. as the second installment of its 1973-74 county property taxes.

That figure, according to Gordon L. Lee, Novato Division manager for the company, is only part of the company's first $1 million ad valorem tax bill in its history. The first installment was paid last December.

Western California's 1973-74 tax dollars are divided among four northern California counties, and the April installment completed payments of $743,367 to Santa Clara County and $249,816 to Marin County.

Sonoma County collected $29,317 and $27,482 was paid to Santa Cruz County.

Board Approves Watchdog Group

Formation of an advisory commission to oversee operation of the county fairgrounds and Veterans Memorial Building was approved unanimously yesterday by Marin County Supervisors. (Another supervisors story, page 1.)

Supervisors, however, rejected on a 3-to-2 vote a proposal to hire an executive director to supervise auditorium manager Leon G. Kalimos and fair manager Marcelle B. McCoy.

The executive director's position, recommended by Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, drew strong protest from members of the audience as too costly and not needed.

Giacomini, in a joint report with Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, suggested the $23,400-per-year job to coordinate activities of the fairgrounds and the auditorium.

He drew support only from Arnold M. Baptiste, though other supervisors, while opposing it now, said the position may be created sometime in the future.

In agreeing to create an advisory commission, supervisors struggled for some time on the amount of power it should have.

Supervisors Arnold M. Baptiste and Peter R. Arrigoni said the commission should be appointed by and held answerable to the board of supervisors (like most other county commissions).

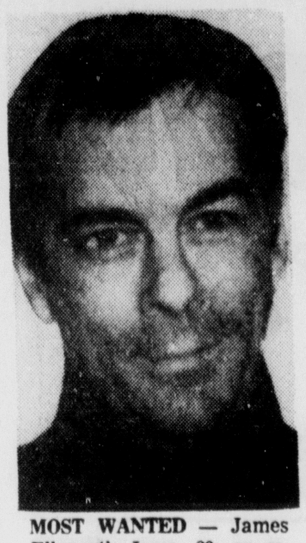
Chairman Michael Wornum, meanwhile, said the commission should have broad powers. Otherwise, he argued, the board of supervisors would continue to be confronted with controversies raised over use of the fairgrounds and auditorium.

With a majority of the board leaning toward a commission with advisory powers only, the matter was returned to Roumiguiere and Giacomini to study the composition of the new commission.

A report is expected from the two-man committee in about two weeks.

In related action, the board agreed to give school districts six free dates to use the auditorium and dropped rental rates slightly for schools.

How the six free dates will be divided among Marin's 17 school districts was left in the hands of the county schools office.



MOST WANTED — James Ellsworth Jones, 39, an escaped federal prisoner and convicted kidnaper has been added to the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" list. He escaped from the Augusta, Va., County Jail in December 1973 and has been sought since. He stands about 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighs about 160 and has brown hair and blue eyes. He has the name Carol tatooed on his upper left arm and a cherry with the inscription "Here's mine, where's yours" on his upper right arm. (UPI Telephoto)

No Stand Taken On Psychiatric Hospital

The Marin County Board of Supervisors refused yesterday to take sides on whether a convalescent hospital in Novato should be converted to care for psychiatric patients.

At issue is an application pending before the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council to license Canyon Manor Convalescent Hospital as a 76-bed, locked-door psychiatric facility.

Earlier this year, area residents won a short-lived victory when the application was rejected by the health planning council. It has been resubmitted and will be heard again in mid-May.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, later joined by colleague Robert A. Roumiguiere, unsuccessfully urged the board to oppose the application because the hospital, located at 655 Manor Road, is in a residential area.

He said neighbors are concerned that "potentially dangerous" patients will be housed at the hospital.

Both supervisors urged that the county investigate placing indigent psychiatric patients at the Keokuk Psychiatric Hospital in Petaluma, which has about 30 vacant beds. An administrator from the hospital said it would welcome the county's business.

Roumiguiere said the county should also launch a search for adequate facilities elsewhere in the county to establish small, scattered psychiatric facilities.

Worth Bishop, a spokesman for Canyon Manor, said small hospitals would not prove economically feasible to operate. While Keokuk hospital could handle 30 patients, he continued, the county has need for about 85 beds to move patients from more expensive care at Ross and Marin General Hospitals.

"We do not accept dangerous patients," Bishop said, adding those are referred to state hospitals. He said his firm has run similar hospitals in Richmond and San Jose without complaint.

Chairman Michael Wornum told Baptiste each area had to accept some mental health facilities and noted the Delancy Street drug abuse center has moved into Sausalito.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni said the neighborhood setting in Novato "sounds no different" than around the community mental health center in Greenbrae.

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, who made no comment, sided with Wornum and Arrigoni in defeating a motion by Baptiste to oppose the application.

Supervisors Postpone Many Items On Agenda

Marin County supervisors, delayed by discussion of the fairgrounds-auditorium report and a presentation on the economic effects of the county general plan, postponed much of yesterday's agenda to next Tuesday.

Major item delayed was a state report critical of county administration of mental health services. That report may prove a key to whether mental health services remain under the newly formed health and human services agency.

Also carried over was the county administrator's proposed $4 million capital improvement program and a request from the planning commission that $1.5 million be added to finance programs called for in the county general plan.

A proposed emergency communications system, backed by the comprehensive health planning council, will be discussed next week, while a hearing on Novato's newly adopted general plan was postponed to April 30.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

FIRE PROTECTION — Set a discussion for next Tuesday on a proposal from Supervisors Gary T. Giacomini and Robert A. Roumiguiere that San Rafael be asked to reinstate "first call" mutual aid fire protection to unincorporated areas.

APPOINTMENTS — Called for applicants to fill two seats on the county redevelopment agency; appointed Tommi Hudson and Elizabeth Smith of Novato and Esther Dearth of San Anselmo and Francis Compton of Kentfield to the Women's Commission; appointed Charles Spaletta to the newly created Manpower Planning Council.

BICENTENNIAL — Appointed representatives from 36 agencies and groups — including nine cities — to the bicentennial commission making local plans for the nation's 200th birthday in 1976.

ROWING — Rejected a request from the Marin Rowing Association for $300 to help finance a trip by its junior crew to a regional meet next month at Newport Beach. Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter Arrigoni supported the request, which was rejected by the others as precedent setting.

RIGHTS — Referred to the county counsel's office for comment a request from the North Central Coast Regional Commission staff that the county consider joining in litigation to establish the public right to the Seadrift beach.

PARK — Asked the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District to consider taking over maintenance of tiny Bolinas Park. The county grand jury has recommended the county abandon the park as too costly. Maintenance costs about $400 per month.

UTILITIES — Agreed to form an underground utility district in the Nicasio area to underground overhead wires in Nicasio Square. The Nicasio Property Owners Association agreed to pay the $2,500 cost.

ROAD DIVISION — Agreed to exclude 18 parcels from the Paradise Estates Permanent Road Division. The action came at the request of Kyle Forest of Inverness.

PARADISE VALLEY — Heard a progress report on the status of building and sanitation permits for the Paradise Valley commune near Bolinas. County officials reported the group has submitted plans and will appeal some county requirements.

INSURANCE — Agreed to waive insurance requirements for more than 20 private agencies and individuals providing mental health services to the county. The agencies and individuals have been providing such service without signed contracts (because of the lack of insurance) and a waiver was necessary in order to pay them. Supervisors directed that the agencies receive no more county business until they acquire malpractice insurance.

Volcano Active

MOSCOW (AP) — A 15,584-foot volcano on the Kamchatka Peninsula, at the East Asian end of the Soviet Union, has begun erupting after being quiet for seven years, Tass reported today.

School Vote Possible In Few Months

An election to settle the Cotati-Rohnert Park School District's unification question could come as soon as eight or nine months from now, district board president Susan Appleton told trustees last night.

She said district voters will not be able to decide the issue until state education officials determine the boundaries for the new district, which would include Rancho Cotate High School and Rohnert Park Junior High, as well as the Cotati-Rohnert Park district's four elementary schools.

The two secondary schools are operated by the Petaluma High School District.

Board members agreed among themselves that a recent ruling by the Sonoma County Board of Education, which determined that the unification issue was not within its jurisdiction, should give the Sonoma School District Reorganization Committee added impetus to consider the district's situation.

The reorganization committee, a state created group, has so far refused to take up the Cotati-Rohnert Park district's case, and board members last night indicated they feel this reluctance is one of their chief obstacles.

Trustees also agreed to meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday to consider interior color schemes for La Fiesta Elementary School being build in the new Holiday Park section of Cotati and Rohnert Park.

Vet Loses Bid For Hospital

Marin County supervisors, weary from a long day, were treated last night to a slide show pointing out the esthetic shortcomings of dog droppings, among other things.

The show was presented by Dr. John E. Jansheski, a Strawberry dentist, as part of his appeal of a planning commission decision to permit a veterinary hospital next to his office building.

He said the hospital would be an objectionable use of the site at 24 Knoll Road because of noise, traffic and odor.

Dr. Ronald Scheuring, who plans to operate the animal hospital, responded that present zoning permits it and that the building's design would eliminate noise and odor.

Jansheski's slide show featured selected shots of other veterinary hospitals in Southern Marin.

One neighbor, who lives near the site, protested that if approved "we'll get the noise, we'll get the traffic and we'll get the xxxx."

While Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni agreed with Jansheski's complaint, they failed to find the third vote necessary to overrule the planning commission.

Controls Placed On Acupuncture

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — The New Jersey Assembly yesterday passed a bill to regulate and license the practice of acupuncture.

About 20 doctors in New Jersey practice the ancient Chinese medical art which relieves pain and provides anasthetic relief for patients.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Probe Continuing On Nixon's Taxes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly committee investigating President Nixon's California tax situation pressed its inquiry today despite assurances he will pay more than $5,000 in back taxes and interest.

Representatives of the state Franchise Tax Board, which administers the income tax, were asked to appear and testify at a scheduled hearing of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

"The principal issue is—are other taxpayers being treated the same as the President," said Democratic Chairman Joe Gonsalves, of Cerritos.

The board last February ruled Nixon was a nonresident of California for income tax purposes but, in the wake of a congressional staff report, found him liable last week for more than $5,000 in taxes on "California source" income. Nixon's laywers said he will pay it.

In a related development, one of the President's California tax lawyers on Monday filed Nixon's first state income tax return in a decade and disclosed the President owed the state nothing on 1973 income.

"There are offsetting deductions that result in no tax being due," said attorney Dean S. Butler of Los Angeles.

Much of the California back tax assessment occurred on a capital gain the President made on the sale of some land at San Clemente where he owns a seaside villa and votes.

Gonsalves said the committee wanted to learn, among other things, whether other taxpayers "under similar circumstances were treated the same as the President."

"People who live in other states, own property here, have sold it and made a capital gain," he said. "How are they treated?"

Gonsalves said the committee also wanted to know how tax policy was set, how much authority is vested in Martin Huff, board executive officer, and how the board staff reached the decision on assessing Nixon an interest penalty for failing to file a prompt return.

TEST STAND

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill barring government agencies from requiring public employees to take lie detector tests has advanced to the Assembly floor.

The measure (AB3215) by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, was approved yesterday by the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee on a 5-2 vote.

The bill would prohibit public agencies from requiring polygraph tests when hiring and firing employees. A similar law affecting private employees was enacted last year.

PROTECTION

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has voted to prohibit the secret recording of classroom remarks of elementary and high school teachers.

The bill (AB2667) by Assemblyman Howard L. Berman, D-Beverly Hills, passed the Senate yesterday on a 25-4 vote and was returned to the Assembly for concurrence in amendments.

The measure would ban the use of electronic listening or recording devices by any person in elementary and high school classrooms without the consent of the teacher and principal.

YOUTH PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Forty "youth service bureaus" would be established statewide to combat juvenile delinquency under a $2.4 million bill proposed yesterday by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach.

Deukmejian said a two-year pilot project which helped more than 8,000 youngsters showed the effectiveness of the bureaus. Proposed bureaus would be operated under the auspices of the California Youth Authority.

EQUALITY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill which would equalize California education requirements between boys and girls has won final legislative approval from the Senate.

The Senate yesterday voted 21-9 in concurrence with minor amendments and sent the measure (SB1466) to Gov. Ronald Reagan. The action came just one day after the bill passed the Assembly.

Under the measure by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, if boys are required to take certain classes in public schools then girls also would be required to attend, and visa versa.

Mexican Folk Dances Are Set

Los Lupenos, a Mexican folk dance group, will present a program of regional dances with live mariachi music at 2 p.m. April 28 in the main gymnasium at Sonoma State College.

Sponsored by the Department of Mexican-American Studies and by Mecha, a Chicano student club, the dancers will perform a wide variety of indigenous dances in the style of El Ballet Folklorico, the Mexican national dance company based in Mexico City.

At the end of the performance the Sonoma State Library will be open to allow viewing of a new mural by faculty artist Don Lopez, done as part of the Cinco de Mayo celebration.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, light air pollution.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Petaluman New Aide To Reagan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Rodney J. Blonien of Petaluma has been appointed Gov. Ronald Reagan's assistant legal affairs secretary.

Blonien, 27, replaces James D. Garbolino, who resigned March 31 to enter private law practice.

Blonien has been a deputy California attorney general since 1971 in the criminal law section in San Francisco. In that capacity he has undertaken several special assignments in the areas of narcotics and drug abuse and search and seizure.

He is a graduate of the University of San Francisco, where he was student body president in 1967-68, and received his law degree from the University of Santa Clara.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Specialists Turning Attention To Common Disorders In Sleep

Electronic devies show that within two hours after falling asleep there is a five- to ten-minute period when sleep lightenes and reaming occurs. This is the first of a series of REM periods that occur throughout the night. Depth of sleep during non-REM periods varies from light to very deep and electronic brain tracings show that the mind turns on and off even while the person is fast asleep.

Normal sleep patterns are well established and specialists are now turning their attention to the causes of well-known sleep disorders such as nightmares, sleepwalking, bedwetting, and insomnia.

SLEEPWALKING AND sleeptalking have been investigated in research laboratories and, contrary to popular belief, the individual is not acting out his dream. If awakened, he has no recollection of talking or walking In addition, there is no apparent cause of the disturbance. The family's first concern, however, is to protect the sleepwalker from injury. Doors and windows are locked and the person should sleep on the first floor.

Nightmares actually do not occur during the REM stage of sleep when dreaming usually takes place. They are related more frequently to the reexperiencing of real life fears. Psychotropic drugs are helpful.

In night terrors, the individual suddenly sits up during a deep sleep and screams. Electronic tests show that these terrors are not dreams, yet the person is confused and incoherent and heart and breathing rates are increased. In addition, there is outward evidence of intense anxiety and a sensation of doom. All the victim remembers is a single frightening image.

CHILDREN USUALLY outgrow these sleep disorders, but a psychological disturbance is suspected when they occur in adults. Occasionally, sleep problems stem from drug withdrawal, particularly when the individual has been on sleeping pills or related drugs for some time.

Hypersomnia is just the opposite of insomnia. Total sleep time may exceed 20 hours and the person finds it extremely difficult to completely awaken if roused after eight hours (sleep drunkenness). Electronic tests show that hypersomniacs do not have REM or dream periods.

Hypersomnia may stem from a brain injury, tumor, or stroke. It also may be psychological in that the individual uses sleep as an escape from reality and daily stresses. These and other causes must be determined before treatment can be considered.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

EYE ARTERIES

W. G. writes: What does fat in the diet have to do with poor eyesight? I have distorted vision and the ophthalmologist told me to cut down on cholesterol in my meals. I'm 60 years old.

REPLY

The eye specialist may have noticed that your retinal vessels are hardened. Why not ask your physician to test your blood for cholesterol?

A HEALTHY MIND

R. P. D. writes: What do you advise to keep the mind healthy?

REPLY

Use it. The mind, like other structures, must be used to remain healthy. And don't forget — "A sound mind in a sound body."

ANNUAL PHYSICAL

A reader writes: Since an annual checkup is advised for all over 40, please describe exactly what is required in the line of tests for persons of 40, 50, and 60.

REPLY

The periodic executive examination is the same for all age groups and includes a lengthy discussion relative to the past and present medical history along with a review of symptoms that could uncover early known causes of disability and mortality among this group of people. It is also important to discuss the habits of the person, including diet, smoking, drinking, exercise, and sleep, etc. This is followed by a complete physical examination and laboratory tests. The latter vary with the physician's judgment.

ANEMIA AND BEETS

Jim writes: Are beets good for anemia?

REPLY
